END OF HOT WAVE NEAR

U. S. ACCEPTS MEXICO'S PLAN OF MEDIATION

Sends Note to Carranza Asking Other Differences Be Settled.

UP TO FIRST CHIEF.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—The United States government today accepted in full the Carranza proposal for the appointmen of a joint commission to consider the causes of difference between the two republics and make recommendations on which the governments in turn shall act. The series of conferences between Acting Secretary of State Polk and Eliseo Arredondo, Carranza's ambassador designate, have thus ended exactly as Carranza asked.

With the acceptance of the Mexican proposal the state department made public the text of the note to Mexican Secretary of Foreign Relations Aguilar, in which there is a suggestion that the joint commission may eventually continue deliberations so as to settle in advance other points of probable difference and thus effect an arrangement tending to improve mutual relations.

The note also requests notification that the Mexican government approves the arrangement, so that the United States may immediately appoint its three commissioners and aid in fixing the date and place of the conference. Presumably the conference will be held in this country.

HERE IS NOTE BY POLK.

The note Arredondo is requested to deliver to Secretary Aguilar and which went forward tonight by telegraph follows:

"Mr. Secretary, I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your excellency's note transmitted under date of July 12 by Lic Eliseo Arredondo, your government's confidential agent in Washington, informing me that your excellency has received instructions from the ciuzen first chief of the Constitutionalist army charged with the executive power of the union to propose that each of our governments name three commissioners, who shall hold conferences at some place to be mutually agreed upon and decide forthwith the question relating to the evacuation of the American forces now in Mexico, and to draw up and conclude a protocol or agreement regarding the reciprocal crossing of the frontier by the forces of both countries, also to determine the origin of the incursions to date, in order to fix the responsibility therefor and definitely to settle the difficulties now pending or those which may arise between the two countries on account of the same or a similar reason; all of which shall be subject to the approval of both governments.

ACCEPTS THE PROPOSAL.

"In reply I have the honor to state that I have laid your excellency's note before the president, and have received his instructions to inform your excellency that the government of the United States is disposed to accept the proposal of the Mexican government in the same spirit of frank cordiality in which it is made.

"This government believes, and suggests, however, that the powers of the proposed commission should be enlarged so that, if happily a solution satisfactory to both governments of the question set forth in your excellency's communication may be reached, the commission may also consider such other matters the friendly arrangement of which would tend to improve the relations of the two countries; it being understood that such recommendations as the commission may make shall not be binding upon the respective governments until formally accepted by them.

"Should this proposal be accepted by your excellency's government, I have the honor to state that this government will proceed immediately to appoint its commissioners and fix, after consultation with your excellency's government, the time and place and other details of the proposed conferences. Accept, Mr. Secretary, the assurances of my highest consideration.

FRANK L. POLK,
"Acting Secretary of State."

FAVORABLE TO PROPOSAL.

It is believed by diplomats and others here that Carranza will accept the counter proposition of the Washington government and enlarge the powers of the proposed commission if he has his own

Russians Capture Brody; Smash Whole Teuton Line

BULLETIN.

LONDON, July 29, 2:39 a. m.—A Turkish army, estimated at 70,000 strong, now is concentrated in the Hungarian plains for the defense of Hungary, says a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Lausanne, Switzerland.

The dispatch adds that the Austrian emperor has gone to Budapest, where intense excitement prevails.

LONDON, July 28.—The Russians delivered three great blows against the Teutonic forces on the east front today. The czar's troops captured the important railroad town of Brody on the northern Galician border, the chief obstacle to their advance on Lemberg, capital of Galicia; smashed the entire Teuton first line west of Lutsk, and swept the forces of Gen. von Linsingen from the line of the Rivers Slonevka and Buldurovka, in southern Volhynia.

Brody is situated on the Rovno-Lemberg railroad, fifty-eight miles northeast of Lemberg. As the key to the Teuton defenses along the Stripa and the northern frontier, its capture places the Austrians in a dangerous position. The troops of Gen. Brussiloff now have a clear path to their objective and in addition seriously menace the flank of the Austro-German lines on the south as far as the Dniester.

Slavs Imperil Teuton Lines.

With the advance of the Russians along the road to Lemberg these lines will be compelled to withdraw from the whole of eastern Galicia or face envelopment. Superior in numbers and in artillery and ammunition, the Russians are not expected to meet with opposition in their drive on Lemberg which they cannot break down.

Tonight's communiqué from Berlin admits the success of Russian attacks northeast of Sviniusky. This is taken to mean that Gen. Sakharoff is waging a new fight for the possession of Vladimir Volynski and its northern neighbor, Kovel.

Around Baranovichi fierce fighting continues, with neither side able to win any important success. It is evident that the Russians are throwing all their strength into an effort to gain command of the roads which radiate from this region.

Russian Official Statement.

PETROGRAD, July 28.—The Russian war office tonight issued the following official statement:

At 6:30 o'clock Friday morning Brody was captured by our troops. The number of prisoners and the amount of booty captured is not yet known.

West of Lutsk, in Volhynia, we took the offensive and broke through the whole first line of the enemy, inflicting severe losses. Our troops now are advancing and the cavalry is pursuing the fleeing enemy.

In this district we captured forty-six guns, fifty officers, including two generals and two commanders of regiments, and more than 9,000 men.

In the valley of the rivers Slonevka and Boludrovka the enemy has been defeated along the whole line, and now is being pursued.

In the districts northeast and southeast of Baranovichi there were artillery duels and encounters between advance guards. We made small advances at some points.

German Official Statement.

BERLIN, July 28.—The Russians have resumed their attack southeast of Vladimir Volynski in southern Volhynia and succeeded in penetrating Gen. von Linsingen's lines, but are being vigorously counter attacked by the Germans, the war office announced today.

Attacks on German positions in the Baranovichi region failed to gain ground. The battle is still in progress. The statement follows:

Army group of Prince Leopold of Bavaria—The Russians have renewed their attacks in this region. Since yesterday they have attacked six times in vain with two army corps on the front of Skrobova and Vygoda to the east of Gorodische. Further attacks are in progress. The attacking waves of two divisions ebbed back and forth several times before our Shara positions to the northwest of Llacbovichy. The losses of the enemy were of the heaviest.

Army group of Gen. von Linsingen—Russian attacks northeast of Sviniuchy at first gained ground. Counter attacks are in progress. Austro-Hungarian troops near Postomyty repulsed the Russians from their advanced positions.

EUROPEAN WAR SUMMARY

British win all of Delville wood and Longueval and now control Somme key to German base at Bapaume. French repel Germans in Vosges.

Russians capture Brody, important Galician rail center, in advance on Lemberg; Slavs break through whole Teuton first line on Kovel-Brody front.

Execution by Germans of Capt. Fryatt, accused of attempting to ram submarine, embitters England and reprisals may result.

GERMAN AIRSHIPS RAID EAST COAST OF ENGLAND.

London Reports Dropping of Bombs, but Says Number of Craft and Details Are Lacking.

LONDON, July 29, 3:06 a. m.—German airships raided the east coast of England early this morning, according to an official statement just issued.

"The number of raiders," says the statement, "has not yet been established. The reports as to the raiders crossing the coast come from Yorkshire and Lincolnshire. Bombs were dropped, but details are lacking."

TITANIC CLAIMS SETTLED FOR $665,000 BY OWNERS.

White Star Line Makes Payment Outside Court and Is Absolved from All Liability for Disaster.

New York, July 28.—With a payment of $665,000 outside of court, the White Star line stands absolved of all liability for the sinking of the steamship Titanic with a loss of 1,600 lives and the four years of litigation of claimants is brought to an end in a final decree handed down today by Federal Judge Mayer.

Claims totaling $18,000,000 had been recorded in the Federal court by hundreds of claimants, alleging that the ship was lost through the negligence of its navigators with the privity of the owners.

Evidence at the trial indicating that the disaster was accidental, the claimants, under the terms of a compromise made outside court, agreed upon the payment to them of $665,000 to withdraw their claims and consent to the decree filed today, which holds that the White Star line is "not liable to any extent for any loss, damage, injury, destruction, or for any claim whatsoever."

MRS. EMMONS BLAINE ILL? BROTHER DENIES REPORT.

Cyrus H. McCormick Says She Is Coming to Chicago and Was Well on Thursday.

A report that Mrs. Emmons Blaine is seriously ill, en route to Chicago, was received by THE TRIBUNE last night from an Francisco.

The statement went on to say that her condition is critical and that she is under charge of a San Francisco specialist, coming in a private car by way of that city from Santa Barbara, where she has been staying.

Mrs. Blaine's brother, Cyrus H. McCormick, was asked at his Lake Forest residence what he had heard of the matter. He said he heard from Mrs. Blaine within the last twenty-four hours, that she was coming to Chicago from Santa Barbara with a party of friends, but he was confident the report of her illness was untrue. He said his advices indicated that she was in good health.

ASKS TROUSERS FOR WOMEN

U. of C. Professor Suggests His Feminine Summer Students Leave Off Skirts on Trip.

Being mostly teachers, women summer students at the University of Chicago are, as a class, quite conservative and sedate. Imagine, then, the shock experienced by several of their number, when they were urgently bid by their instructor to replace their skirts with trousers—and khaki trousers at that.

It all came about this way: Associate Prof. Henry C. Cowles, of the Botany department, decided to take his research class to the Lake Superior region for a field trip.

He distributed to his class, a majority of whose students are women, a directions sheet, and one of the items read to the effect that the instructor earnestly urged the women members of the class to leave their skirts at home—khaki trousers are easily and cheaply purchased.

ENGLAND CALLS EXECUTION OF FRYATT CRIME

German Act Placed in Cavell Class and Explanation Is Demanded.

PRESS IS INDIGNANT.

(By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.)

LONDON, July 29, 3 a. m.—Indignation is widespread in Great Britain at the execution of Capt. Fryatt by the Germans. In official circles feeling is so strong that it would not be surprising if reprisals should be resorted to.

The press also is bitter in its comments, but so far none of the papers have suggested reprisals.

Capt. Fryatt commanded the British steamer Brussels and he was executed because his vessel attempted to ram a German submarine.

According to dispatches from Berlin, the Brussels was captured last month and taken into Zeebrugge, where Capt. Fryatt was tried before a German naval court-martial, convicted of the charges against him, and then executed by a shooting squad.

CALL IT INTIMIDATION.

"This murder has been perpetrated," says the Daily Telegraph, "in order to terrorize British merchant sailors, just as one of the anticipated results of the German submarine piracy was that allied sailors would become afraid to put to sea. But British sailors refuse to be terrorized."

"The whole of the civilized world," says the Daily Express, "will regard the killing of Capt. Fryatt as murder, foul and abominable, but it will be followed by no reprisals. We leave such cowardice to the Teutons. But the death of this brave sailor will add to the determination to accept no peace that does not give the allies the power to punish the Hohenzollern crimes."

LEARN OF FRYATT TRIAL.

The first intimation of the difficulties in which Capt. Fryatt found himself was called to the attention of the foreign office by press reports on July 18 to the effect that he was to be tried as the result of finding on him a watch containing an inscription reciting his efforts to ram a German submarine.

Immediately on receipt of news of the execution, under instructions of Viscount Grey, the foreign secretary, a note was dispatched to the American embassy requesting that James W. Gerard, the American ambassador at Berlin, procure complete details of the affair.

DEMANDS WOMEN'S RELEASE.

The British foreign office also has been informed that five stewardesses of the Brussels have been taken to a German detention camp and has sent a vigorous protest through the United States embassy demanding their immediate release on the ground that their internment is illegal.

From inquiries made of the owners of the steamship Wrexham, which Capt. Fryatt commanded when the alleged attempt to ram the submarine took place, the foreign office learned the captain had with him neither a watch nor a letter to the effect that he had attempted to ram a submarine when he was captured. Therefore, officials here state, the charge must have been based on press reports.

ASKS FOR PROPER DEFENSE.

When the news that Capt. Fryatt was to be tried was received the foreign office immediately sent a note to the American ambassador, Walter H. Page, requesting that American diplomatic representatives take all necessary steps to provide for his defense, calling attention to the fact that the Wrexham's act in steering toward the submarine and forcing it to dive was essentially defensive and precisely the same as if it had used the defensive arm which the United States and Great Britain hold to be an undoubted right.

No reply was received from Ambassador Gerard, but the foreign office is convinced he acted with his usual promptitude. Therefore it is their theory that the trial and execution of Capt. Fryatt was hurried even more than in the case of Miss Edith Cavell.

Besides the original inquiry, the foreign office sent two other notes on the subject to Ambassador Gerard.

The foreign office last night issued the text of the correspondence between For-

TIME FOR THE HERO TO COME TO THE RESCUE

[Copyright: 1916: By John T. McCutcheon.]

Senator Harding and Motor Boat Party Are Missing

Is State Senator George F. Harding, millionaire power boat enthusiast, becalmed in the middle of Lake Michigan, or has his power boat Mauster II. met with an accident?

Friends of the state senator at the Sportsman's club became alarmed last night about the safety of the senator and a party of friends who had started out earlier in the day to cross the lake to St. Joseph and had not been heard from at midnight.

Order Chauffeur to Wait.

The senator and two men friends, whose names could not be learned last night, set out in the boat at about 2 p. m. yesterday. They left word with Will Stuver, the senator's chauffeur, to wait for their return to the club in the evening.

Early this morning Stuver began to get worried and made inquiries.

"It's the senator's custom," he told friends, "to wire me immediately on his arrival in St. Joseph. He has made the trip lots of times, and this message should have reached me not later than 7 o'clock. I haven't heard a word and now it's after midnight."

Always Reported Arrival.

Senator Harding was on friendly terms with the captain of the coast guard station at St. Joseph and it was his habit to report his arrival and departure there. The captain said last night that no such boat as the forty-five foot speeder had arrived in port or departed. He said he would start a search in the morning. None of the arriving steamers had at that hour sighted the boat.

Stuver called up the coast guard in Chicago, but Capt. Carland could only report that the boat was not at its moorings and that nothing had been heard from it. Search from this station will be made this morning if the boat does not put in an appearance.

The usual time taken for a trip across the lake by the Mousier II. is less than two hours. The boat is a costly one, with high power and fully equipped with life preservers and signal guns.

KING OF DENMARK NEAR DEATH WHEN BOAT UPSETS.

Puff of Wind Capsizes Sailing Craft and Ruler Sits Astride Keel Until Help Arrives.

LONDON, July 28.—King Christian of Denmark had a narrow escape from drowning this afternoon through the capsizing of a boat which he was sailing near Aarnus, says a Reuter dispatch from Copenhagen.

The king went out alone in a small sail boat, and a sudden puff of wind capsized the craft, throwing the king into the water.

The king immediately swam to the overturned craft, and, pulling himself upon it, sat astride the keel, where his plight was observed from the shore. Boats immediately hastened to the king's assistance and rescued him.

MORGAN ESTATE IS $78,149,024

$69,499,732 Net Value Carries $3,000,000 Inheritance Tax—$8,639 in Cigars.

New York, July 28.—[Special.]—Official figures show a gross total of $78,149,024 as the value of the estate of J. P. Morgan. Deductions for debts, administration, commissions, and other adjustments reduce that sum to $69,499,732. Under the law in force March 31, 1913, when Mr. Morgan died, which was graduated for various forms of legacies, approximately $3,000,000 will be the state inheritance tax on the net estate.

Soon after Mr. Morgan's death and before any of the legacies had accrued or were transferred the executors made a payment of $2,500,000 on tax account, thus earning a rebate of 5 per cent. The state will now receive about $500,000 additional.

John J. Lyons Is Appraiser.

John J. Lyons was the appraiser who handled the Morgan estate. He employed experts in various lines to assist him. Schedules covering fourteen kinds of property and filling thousands of typewritten pages were turned in to Mr. Lyons in the state controller's office. They required minute inspection. The last of them was revised and signed today.

The complete set will be filed tomorrow in the surrogate's office. It is expected to be approved without substantial change, as no one concerned has intimated any objection to the official findings.

Property Left by Morgan.

Footings of some of the schedules of Mr. Morgan's holdings, in the appraiser's report are:

Collection in the Metropolitan Museum of Art	$16,329,575
Stocks and bonds	18,933,951
Mortgages	181,726
Loans not secured by mortgages	556,973
Realty	2,970,946
Household contents	744,092
Private art collections	406,774
Books	4,096,936
Drawings and sketches	302,970
Land and buildings on resident plot (subject to mortgage, leaving equity of $425,000)	1,978,000
Marble library building (subject to mortgage, leaving equity of $787,890)	885,000
Country place, Cragston, at Highland Falls	100,000
Yacht Corsair	136,000

$75,000,000 Spent on Art?

Common report had credited Mr. Morgan with having spent $75,000,000 on the art objects he placed with the Metropolitan museum. Appraised values reduced that sum to the comparatively commonplace total of less than $17,000,000. The Chinese porcelains, for which his son was said to have received $4,000,000, are checked off in the official list at $2,178,320 on the judgment of Thomas E. Kirby, the expert employed to report on them.

Roland F. Knoedler values the Fragonard panels at $750,000. Mr. Morgan the younger having sold them for $1,000,000 or more. The present J. P. Morgan made two sales of tapestries and furniture, getting about $3,000,000 for them. They are appraised at $2,822,000.

Raphael's "Virgin and Child Enthroned," which the present J. P. Morgan presented to the museum last spring is appraised at the highest sum of anything in the schedule of paintings except the Fragonard panels. Mr. Knoedler values this painting at $300,000.

Had $8,639 in Cigars.

Items of intimate interest show that Mr. Morgan carried in the First National bank at the time of his death a personal deposit of $52,267, in the Ottoman bank of Cairo $484, and he had cash on hand of $173 when he died.

His famous black cigars got the attention of the appraiser, who found that the financier had in storage in a Wall street shop cigars valued at $8,639. Wines in his cellar were appraised at $44,743.

Mr. Morgan's interest in the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. of New York and of Drexel & Co. of Philadelphia is appraised at $29,875,847; his interest in J. S. Morgan & Co. of London at $2,417,491, and in Drexel, Morgan & Co., in liquidation, at $15,580.

COOL BREEZES DEVELOPING IN FAR NORTHWEST

Weather Man Says They May Come This Way and Smash Suffering.

72 DEAD IN CHICAGO.

BY CHARLES N. WHEELER.

A disturbance in the far northwest that may or may not develop sufficient strength to blow the heat out of the furnace pot formed by the section between the Rocky and Allegheny mountains was charted last night by Charles L. Mitchell, local government forecaster.

He holds out the hope,e rather more than a faint one, that Chicago may see a break in the torrid wave late tomorrow night or early Monday morning.

The definite information will be available tonight, Mr. Mitchell said.

The mercury was down to 86 at 2 o'clock this morning.

IN CANADIAN ROCKIES.

Throughout the afternoon and late into the night the weather expert kept his calculations centered on the one small spot up in the Canadian Rockies and the fringe of a disturbance that extended over the border into the northwest corner of the United States.

"No definite forecast as to what this disturbance will do can be made tonight," said Mr. Mitchell, as he closed his desk for the night, after promising nothing better than fair and continued warm for today.

"It is possible, however, that the disturbance may gain sufficient force to come across the plains' states and drive the torrid wave away from this section late Sunday night. If the disturbance we now note should fail us, there is nothing in sight to indicate a break in the wave of heat for several days.

HOPES FOR HIGH PRESSURE.

"We are hoping that the comparatively small disturbance we now have our eye fixed on will develop into a strong area of high pressure and that it will begin an irresistible sweep Chicagoward. If it does, we should get relief in this vicinity by next Monday.

"The heat wave is now pretty uniform in the pocket between the Allegheny and Rocky mountains, and today it extended to the northern districts in this section. Green Bay, Wis., registered 102 degrees, a record for that section, and Marquette, far up the lakes, also established a record. This means that the heat is increasing in the districts from which we might hope for aid, if the northwest disturbance got started this way.

MUST BE POWERFUL.

"To get across this large area of heat, the disturbance must be of considerable force, and by tomorrow night we will be able to say with some definiteness whether that it is to be.

"The Atlantic states got relief today, but that came from the Hudson bay country and a strong northeast breeze from the ocean.

"I don't look for as severe heat in Chicago tonight as last night. A slight breeze is stirring, which may be due in part to the lake, while last night there was no breeze at all. The wind is registering about seven miles an hour, and this ought to help us considerably."

HEAVY DEATH LIST HERE.

Seventy-two deaths and 125 prostrations was the day's toll taken by the torrid wave in Chicago. Thursday's record was eighteen deaths, bringing the total for the two days to 90. The maximum temperature yesterday was 97 at 2 o'clock, three degrees cooler than on Thursday.

But Chicago, even with the maximum of 97 degrees, was several degrees cooler than many spots in Illinois. Some of the Illinois official records hung up follow:

Ottawa	107	Belvidere	104
Danville	106	La Salle	106
Rockford	104	Decatur	104
Pontiac	105	Peoria	102

Street level readings exceeded these figures by several degrees in most of the towns. Government tested thermometers in Peoria registered 111 degrees on the street.

The large increase of prostrations for Chicago was attributed to the strain due to the continued heat wave. A still greater number may be expected today and each succeeding day of the hot spell, according to the physicians and experts who are watching closely the developments. There are nine unidentified heat victims in the county hospital.

City and county facilities for caring for the stricken ones were taxed to the limit. The calls for police assistance early in the day to care for prostrations brought every available patrol wagon, and some calls could not be attended to promptly. Capt. Collins impressed taxicabs from the Shaw company.

As on the day before, the withering heat and attendant humidity dealt mercilessly with the children in the poor districts, taking one of the heaviest tolls of the little ones in recent years.

Many horses, overloaded and forced on by ignorant or heartless drivers, dropped dead all over the city where heavy teaming was done.

Two Sisters Stricken; One Dead.

Among the day's heat victims was Mrs. Josephine Brophy, 2829 Farrell street. She was 84 years old. Her sister, Miss Rose Cullen, 75 years old, is said to be dying from heat prostration at the county hospital.

The sisters had lived for many years in St. Bridget's parish and seldom missed 6 o'clock mass on week days as well as Sundays. The elder sister died soon after midnight Thursday. Miss Cullen was too weak to call assistance. In the morning a neighbor called to see how the aged women were and found Mrs. Brophy dead. It had long been their wish that they would die together.

Mobilize Relief Forces.

A general mobilizing of relief forces, both official and civil, aided wherever they could in modifying the distress. The exceptions happen to be the public park boards, which are still under the control of the state government, such as Lincoln and West park.

With thousands of men, women, and children rushing from their homes for a breath of fresh air, unable to sleep, the two big park boards decided that it would not be a wise move to throw their parks open all night, so the suffering poor might stretch out and sleep on the greensward.

Although the park commissioners decided to drive the poor people out of their parks at 11 o'clock at night, scores still lay stretched out along the beaches and under the trees at midnight.

Leniency in Lincoln Park.

Leniency, however, is being practiced in the Lincoln park system. President Timothy J. O'Byrne said he did not believe anybody would be molested for sleeping in the north side parks .despite the 11 o'clock closing rule.

"Personally, I am for letting the people stay in the parks all night, if they want to, he said. "We've got a lot of kind hearted officers, and I don't think they have put anybody out."

The closing hour is strictly enforced in the west parks, even those bordering on the city's most congested district. It was explained by the west park police that the men were arrested in Jefferson park because they had been making it a "lodging house" for several nights.

Nance Stops Dogs at Beach.

A protest was received by THE TRIBUNE because Ald. W. O. Nance instructed a policeman to keep boys from bringing their dogs to the Fifth-fourth street beach and taking them into the water. The writer said it was good for the dogs to take a swim and helped prevent rabies.

"Little David Henderson," the protest continues, "was broken hearted when he and his dog were ordered away. Every afternoon they had gone to the beach. The fact that the dog was not in a heated condition and was on a leash meant nothing in Ald. Nance's life."

"I am very positive that it is a bad thing to have dogs on the beaches," Dr. Nance said. "It is a menace to health, and where there are children it is distinctly dangerous. It has never been the practice to allow dogs at private or public beaches."

City Opens Wide.

The city officials, however, put all other considerations aside but that of relieving the suffering, and Grant park was thrown open to the public for the duration of the wave. The entire lawn in the city's part of the lake front was used by thousands as a bed at night.

The psychopathic hospital was turned into an emergency aid for those suffering from heat prostrations. All eight tubs were converted to this purpose, with the result that many lives were saved. At 8 o'clock last night Warden Clayton F. Smith sent an emergency order to the Consumers company for three additional tons of ice, and the fifteen day internes and fifty day nurses, whose day's work was legally at an end at 7 o'clock, volunteered their services and remained on duty nearly all night.

The heat victims are put into these special tubs and then rubbed with blocks of ice. As they show signs of regaining consciousness they are packed away in bed with ice at their heads and feet.

Relief for "Back of Yards."

Special relief for the "back of the yards" district in the packingtown section, where the reports showed the heaviest baby mortality, was organized by Health Commissioner Robertson, aided by Mrs. William Hale Thompson, Mrs. Nathan T. Brenner, Mrs. Eugene R. Pike, and Louis F. Swift. A call for $700 to secure extra nurses to go into this district and care for the sick babies was answered by these women and Mr. Swift.

Mayor Thompson also got busy during the day with the request that the school board officials throw open the swimming tanks in the public schools for the summer months. This will be done, the school officials agreeing that it is a good move.

Bathing beaches for horses have not been provided by city welfare workers, but the firemen of engine company No. 13, Lake and Dearborn, set up an improvised shower bath and treated Dobbin to a cool bath. The firemen stood outside their quarters with small hoses, and whenever a driver would stop his horses were drenched. Many horses were saved from exhaustion.

Shirt Sleeve Hotels.

Coroner Hoffman also broke into the "relief" news with a request that the large hotels permit men to eat in their dining rooms in shirt sleeves.

The replies came back from the managers of the La Salle, Sherman, Auditorium, Congress, Blackstone, and Morrison hotels that while they had certain dining rooms in which men could remove their coats, most of their dining rooms were cooled with washed ice air that brought the temperature down to a point where it would be uncomfortable to remove coats.

"An American" sent the following "suggestion" to THE TRIBUNE at night:

"Why not have the merchants or the humane society put tubs at all corners in the downtown district where there are city hydrants so the teamsters may water their horses. Are we civilized?"

Damage in State.

The first reports of serious damage from the torrid wave throughout the crop section of Illinois came pouring in at night. Galesburg, for instance, has been without rain for forty-one consecutive days. Springfield hasn't had any considerable rain for weeks. Reports of "corn firing" came in from the corn belt early in the day, and similar information indicated that the Iowa corn fields have begun to wilt under the sizzling sun and drought.

FOUR DEAD NEAR AURORA.

Aurora, Ill., July 28.—Two persons died in Aurora from the heat and two more xpired in the neighboring towns of Batavia and St. Charles. The deaths were the first since the beginning of the heated period. It was 100 degrees at noon. Those who died were:

MILLER, JOHN, aged 83, Aurora.
WILTGEN, PETER, 82, Aurora.
WOLCOTT, MRS. HENRY, 80, Batavia.
BERGGREN, GUSTAF, 48, St. Charles.

28 BABIES DEAD IN GARY.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 28.—The second day of temperatures of higher than 100 degrees throughout Indiana brought reports today of several deaths and many prostrations. The greatest death toll was at Gary, where twenty-eight babies are said to have died of diseases due to the heat since the beginning of the hot spell.

TRIO IN LAUNCH RESCUED

Engine Dies and Boat's Occupants Fly Distress Signal That Brings Help.

Three men, one of whom was Frank Keough, were stranded in a gasoline launch in Lake Michigan last night when their engine "died" on them. They narrowly escaped being run down by the steamship Christopher Columbus. The lookout at the Harrison crib noticed their distress signal and Captain Edward Warner went to their rescue in a rowboat. Two of the men refused to give their names.

BANK ROBBERS CAPTURED AFTER KILLING TWO MEN.

Lock Up Cashier at Sunol, Neb., Run Off with $1,200, but Are Caught by Sheriff.

Sydney, Neb., July 28.—The Nebraska State bank at Sunol, near here, was robbed today of $1,200 by two robbers who locked Cashier W. C. Smith in the vault and in making their escape killed Ira Paup and Paul Vacik, who tried to capture them.

Later the robbers were captured by a posse led by Sheriff McDaniels of Sydney. They gave the names of J. W. S. Cornell and I. G. Lukens.

According to the story told by Cashier Smith, the men entered the bank during the noon hour. One presented a draft on an Ohio bank and covered Smith with guns while he scanned the paper. After taking the currency in sight the robbers ordered Smith into the vault and closed the door, but failed to turn the bolt.

As they left the bank and entered their automobile Smith emerged from the vault and gave the alarm. An attempt to stop them caused a fusillade of shots in which Paup and Vacik were killed.

In response to a telephone message, Sheriff McDaniels led a pursuit which surrounded and captured the robbers about two miles from Sunol. Approximately $1,200 found in their possession was recovered.

TAKE CARE OF THE TREES.

This Is the Kind of Weather in Which Parasites Flourish.

City Forester J. H. Prost issued a request yesterday to citizens that they take advantage of the torrid spell to get rid of the tussock moth, the elm scale, the scurvy scale, and the cottony maple scale. The forester explained that it is in this weather that they flourish.

"Now is the time to kill these destroyers of trees," he said. "People can get rid of the tussock moth by scraping the cocoons and eggs from the trees, burning them and later spraying the trees with arsenate of lead.

"The elm and cottony maple scales can best be got rid of by spraying the trees with a strong solution in the winter time."

THEY PROTECT EMPLOYES

Business Firms Cut Hours to Prevent Help Being Victims of the Heat.

On account of the extreme heat provisions have been made by many concerns for the comfort of their employes. Among them are these:

BELL TELEPHONE CO.—Office closed at noon and office and executive forces dismissed. All employés not absolutely necessary off at noon.

BOSTON STORE—Many employés sent home early.

CARSON, PIRIE CO.—Let go before 4 o'clock all who could be spared. The firm has been doing this throughout the hot spell in both wholesale and retail departments.

CITY HALL—All whose work is in good shape can leave early.

CONTINENTAL AND COMMERCIAL NATIONAL BANK—All let off as early as possible. Nearly all go before 4.

CRANE CO.—All foundries closed at noon.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK—Permits all employés to go as soon as their work is done. Nearly all get away between 3:30 and 4 o'clock.

THE FAIR—Closes at 5 o'clock during hot weather.

HARRIS TRUST AND SAVINGS—Less work given employés, who are allowed to go as soon as their work is done; most left before 4:30.

HART, SCHAFFNER & MARX—All departments closed from one to two hours earlier.

HILLMAN'S—About 175 let go between 3 and 5 o'clock. Only those necessary kept beyond that time.

THE HUB—Just as many of the employés as can be spared are allowed to leave early.

KIMBALL PIANO CO.—Nearly all allowed to go between 3 and 4 o'clock.

LYON & HEALY—Closed early.

MANDEL BROS.—Sixty per cent of the employés dismissed before 4 o'clock. Just enough kept to look after store.

MARSHALL FIELD & CO.—In both wholesale and retail departments all troubled by heat allowed to leave. Only enough kept on hand to take care of business after 4 p. m.

McCORMICK HARVESTER CO.—Blacksmiths and forgemen allowed to leave early.

ROTHSCHILD'S—Between 40 and 50 per cent of the employés allowed to leave between 2 and 3 o'clock. Only enough kept to run the store.

SIEGEL, COOPER & CO.—Closed at 5 o'clock on hottest days.

C. A. STEVENS & BRO.—All employés who could be spared sent home early.

ONE ARMED MAN SAVES GIRL WHEN CANOE TIPS.

"Charlie" Zeller, Former C. A. A. Swimming Expert, Rescues Miss Mary E. Patton.

"Charlie" Zeller made his one arm do the work of five or six last evening when a canoe in which he was riding with Miss Mary E. Patton, 833 East Forty-seventh street, capsized off Farwell avenue.

Mr. Zeller, who lost his left arm some years ago as the result of an athletic accident, formerly was one of the swimming experts of the C. A. A. and the I. A. C. When the canoe tipped over Zeller told Miss Patton to hold to his shoulders. Then he treaded water and swam with his one arm until help arrived.

Two rescues were made at the Wilson avenue bathing beach by life savers last night, W. Lewand of 1641 North Paulina street and Miss Irene Rotz of 905 Wilson avenue.

Lawrence De Priest, 3815 Vernon avenue, 16 year old son of Ald. Oscar De Priest, Negro member of the council from the Second ward, was drowned in the lake at Thirty-fourth street yesterday while swimming with a cousin.

Frank Wodalak of 5113 Lincoln avenue was drowned in the drainage canal at Carmen avenue yesterday.

SERVE WRIT ON ACTRESS.

Hotel Sherman Claims Irene Davies Lederer Owes Bill of $175.

Irene Davies Lederer, wife of George Lederer, now a vaudeville actress playing under the name of "Reine Davies," was served yesterday while in the office of the manager of the Majestic theater with an attachment for $175.

Attorneys for the Hotel Sherman filed the writ in the Municipal court. The money, it is alleged, is owed by the actress for board and lodging, and a judgment has already been entered against her in favor of the hotel.

The writ means that she cannot leave the state nor move any of her personal property from the state without filing a bond and that she will not receive any of her salary from the theater where she now is playing unless by court order.

COOLING SYSTEM FAILS?

Judge Olson Tries Out Mental Refrigeration Method and Perspires Freely.

Judge Harry Olson's psychopathic method of treating the heat may enhance his comfort, but it doesn't make him appear any cooler.

Yesterday he turned the calendar back to January, turned off the electric fan, put on his coat and vest, and, by mental effort, avoided much of the disagreeableness of the torrid wave.

While discussing the results of the judges' meeting with reporters yesterday afternoon, however, large and shiny beads of dew, which had the appearance of perspiration, appeared on his ample brow.

LYON & HEALY

$309 DONATED TO 'TRIBUNE' ICE FUND IN A DAY

Hot Wave Opens Purses of Chicago to the Suffering Poor.

"Here's a small check for the babies' ice fund. Put it to work quickly."

That was a note accompanying a contribution to THE TRIBUNE'S fund to relieve the suffering of mothers and babies in the crowded tenement districts and other sections where the intense heat of the last few days has added to the misery of the poor. There were dozens of similar notes yesterday with fifty donations that totaled $308.98.

All Walks in Life Donate.

The terrific heat wave aroused the sympathies of persons in all stations of life for those they felt less fortunate than themselves. The donations ranged from $1 to $100. The latter was sent by Mrs. J. Ogden Armour.

Children are resorting to various schemes to raise money for the ice fund. From Teddy and Virginia Decker came $1.36. They obtained this amount by conducting a ginger ale stand in the street.

Hospital Fund Donations.

Donations for THE TRIBUNE'S hospital for mothers and babies at Algonquin continued to roll in also, but the thought of the great majority of donors yesterday was that ice was the most pressing need.

TRAINS TO NORTHERN WOODS INCREASED FOR HEAT HEGIRA

Extra Sections and Cars Carrying Large Numbers of Passengers Beyond Chicago Belt.

The weather man is shaking the tree for the railroad and steamship companies with transportation facilities to the northern woods and the summer resorts not so near the fire as Chicago.

"I have just finished ordering up seven extra Pullmans for the Sportsman's special for tonight and Saturday night. This is in addition to the extra train we made by splitting up into two sections the regular train we have been running for the last fourteen years. Now the business demands one division to Woodruff fishing grounds and another to the Eagle Pass country. We are adding from five to six extra coaches to every train going up to that country now, and also to the trains going to Colorado and California. We have never had such a week."

"We ordered on one extra train tonight," C. L. Keith, city ticket agent of the St. Paul, explained, without losing his temper. "There will be ten cars to it. That is to take care of the Minocqua business. Then we are adding on from three to five cars on all trains into the Superior district."

The Goodrich Transit company boats are going out loaded to capacity every night.

Protect Lives at Pier.

Additional protection against death by drowning at the Municipal pier is to be given today and tomorrow because of the huge crowds which are expected to flock there. The city launch Illinois with a lungmotor and a physician on board will patrol the waters about the pier.

MRS. HINDERLITER VISITS SON IN OLNEY JAIL CELL

Bent, Thin Little Widow Kisses and Bestows Home Delicacies on Accused Youth.

BY WALTER E. RODERICK.

Olney, Ill., July 28.—[Special.]—A bent, thin, little widow, wrinkled and gray from the cares of raising a large family and the toils of the farm, came to Olney today to press a mother's kiss upon the lips of her youngest boy between prison bars.

She was Mrs. Emma Hinderliter, and the boy she came to see and bring some homemade delicacies fresh from the farm was her son, Roy, who stands accused of Richland county's strange air bubble murder.

There were no tears in her gray eyes. They had been wept dry through the long sleepless nights of the past week. Relatives say she has not slept and has scarcely touched food since news of the death of 17 year old Elizabeth Radcliffe was brought to her. She, her son, Bert, and daughter, Myra, were driven into town by her son-in-law, Steve Cunningham, who also brought along his wife with baby in arms.

Hoped for His Freedom.

Mrs. Hinderliter had come with the faint hope that tonight might see her boy again at home with her. She thought a preliminary hearing might be held today at which he would be released on bonds.

Judge R. B. Witcher, the boy's attorney, had held out little hope of this, however, and so she had brought some things along to make her son's stay in the county jail as comfortable as possible.

The formal charge of attempting to perform an illegal operation preferred against young Hinterliter merely in order to hold him pending the coroner's inquest was automatically dropped by Justice W. C. Cope when Judge Witcher appeared here at 1 o'clock, the time which had been set for a preliminary hearing.

Evidence in Safe.

The boy would have been still more discouraged if he had known of the new evidence in the safe in the office of State's Attorney H. G. Morris and of the plan of the prosecution to include the element of premeditation in the murder charge. The state's attorney, as he laid the articles found near the old water oak on the rock road late last evening on his desk, said it is his firm belief that Roy Hinderliter had violence in his mind when he left his mother's farm last Friday to take Elizabeth Radcliffe on her last buggy ride.

"Why," he asked, "would a boy who was going to take his sweetheart on a ride take along a revolver and a blackjack? Why should he have not just as well brought along a bag of candy, as the ordinary sweetheart would do? What did he want with the weapons?"

Has Another Girl?

Over near Berryville, Roy has another sweetheart. The state refuses to reveal her name. One of the girls he courted at one time was Fannie Unyert, but Mr. Morris shook his head when this name was mentioned. The father of this girl has told the state's attorney he expected Roy to marry his daughter. The father is a well to do farmer.

As gathered from the state's attorney's revelation, the prosecution will outline its case to prove a motive for premeditated murder as follows:

Roy was engaged to marry another girl. He either had to get Elizabeth Radcliffe out of the way or remove any grounds for his relations with her becoming public. He decided on the method of which he had boasted to Glenn S. Jones, his friend, and other "Hell Texas" boys. The girl wrote him a letter on Wednesday. He says he burned this letter. He answered the same evening, arranging for the buggy ride. The state's attorney has this letter. The girl wrote him a letter which he received Thursday evening. This message is in the possession of his attorney, who refuses to disclose its contents and intimates it will not be introduced as evidence.

Roy answered this letter with the final message she received Friday morning and destroyed when her sister-in-law, Mrs. Bert Fancher, attempted to read it. It was then the girl confessed her condition. Then came the buggy ride. Possibly the girl refused to submit. She was given the choice of the revolver or the air bubble operation. Her death was the answer.

"MUNICIPAL EMPLOYES SOCIETY" UNDER FIRE.

Civil Service Commission Begins Investigation of City Hall Organization.

The city civil service commission yesterday began an investigation of the Municipal Employés society, which Mayor Thompson has been informed is trading on its name to make collections and assessments. At the conclusion of the hearing President Percy B. Coffin said it was clear a curb will have to be put on some of the activities of the society.

Last year a book was published that netted the society $1,200. J. E. Gannon, the society's advertising solicitor, admitted he went to business houses in the role of an emissary from the city hall.

Gannon has collected $972 this year, but most of this amount represents "contributions" from firms who did not desire to contract for advertising.

CARRANZA TROOPS KILL 150 VILLISTAS OF 2 BANDS.

Gen. Trevino Reports That Prisoners Taken in Chihuahua Fight Were Executed Immediately.

Mexico City, July 28.—Gen. Jacinto Trevino reported today that forces under Gen. Matias Ramos, chief of the forces at Cerrogordo, Chihuahua, encountered the forces of Francisco Villa today and in the fighting which ensued killed 120 of the Villa bandits, including Gen. Pablo Seiinas. In addition many men were captured. They were executed immediately.

The war department also reported today that Gen. Plank, commanding in Zacatecas, engaged in a fight with Villa's men in Teyehua, killing thirty of them and taking prisoners, horses and ammunition. A skirmish at Chinacales, Durango, was followed by a request by the Villa troops for amnesty.

PREDICT END OF IRISH PROBLEM

Lloyd-George Says Solution Will Come Despite Home Rule Plan Failure.

LONDON, July 28.—"I don't despair about an eventual solution of the Irish problem, in spite of the recent failure to reach an agreement between the Nationalists and the Unionists," David Lloyd-George said today.

He was replying to a request from the Associated Press for his views on the breakdown of the negotiations for putting the Irish home rule act into effect immediately.

"We achieved at least one thing that had never hitherto been accomplished," the British war secretary continued. "We brought the representatives of the Irish Nationalists and the Ulster Unionists to the point of shaking hands instead of shaking fists at each other."

Sees Fate's Intervention.

Lloyd-George, acting as the chosen arbitrator in the century old Irish controversy, has succeeded so far in mollifying the opposing factions that he brought them within measurable distance of reaching an agreement. Then he said in a tone of regret today fate, intervened, as it had so often done before in Irish affairs, and at the last moment a breach occurred.

In reply to a question whether the Nationalists were justified in refusing the proposed settlement, Mr. Lloyd-George said:

"Never has a better offer been made by all the British parties together. The only new stipulation inserted was one concerning the British, and not the Irish parliament. The moment the demand was put forward by the Unionists that Ireland should be represented at Westminster only in proportion to her population, except when the question of the Irish settlement was under consideration, it had to be conceded."

Home Rule Act on Statutes.

"It is true," Lloyd George continued, "that the home rule act is on the statute book, but only with the pledge that it becomes operative when an amending bill is passed dealing with the exclusion of Ulster."

The secretary said the main principles of the settlement remain, namely, the immediate creation of an Irish parliament, exclusion for the present for the part of Ireland which is unwilling to participate in the home rule measure, and consideration of the whole question of the future of the Irish government by an imperial conference at the close of the war.

Kelly Blocks Consul's Effort.

Effort to secure some mitigation of the circumstances surrounding the detention of Thomas Hughes Kelly of New York, treasurer of the Irish relief fund, and Joseph Smith, his assistant, has met with unexpected opposition on the part of the detained men.

Horace Washington, the American consul at Liverpool, finally procured consent for the temporary landing of Kelly and Smith if they would consent to stay in Washington's house with the consul acting as their security, but they declined the proffered hospitality.

MUSIC WINS BRICKLAYER.

Victor Keslar Married at Crown Point to Miss Gertrude Ingalls, Piano Teacher.

"Hello! Miss Gertrude Ingalls?"

"Once. But not now. Victor and I were married today at Crown Point! Yes, I'm a teacher of piano, and Mr. Keslar is a bricklayer. No, his occupation is not unpoetic. I met Victor through an old, old friend. Then he came to call regularly, partly to hear me play. But I guess he loves me and my music equally well."

"But, please——"

"Where is Mr. Keslar? Why, he's not here now. But, of course, we're going to live together. He's 31 years old and so am I. Is that all? All right. Good-night!"

Mrs. Keslar lives at 1755 Park avenue.

VIENNA READY TO HELP POLES

Willing to Permit Shipment of Supplies on Wilson's Plea.

Washington, D. C., July 28.—Austria-Hungary is disposed to respond favorably to President Wilson's personal appeal for permission for shipment of American relief supplies to Poles in territory held by Austrian forces.

Informal assurances to this effect have been given personally by Foreign Minister Burian to Ambassador Penfield at Vienna, according to reports received today.

The state department also received from Ambassador Page the British foreign office statement of Great Britain's willingness to permit importations of foodstuffs into Poland to be administered by a commission appointed by President Wilson, provided the German and Austrian occupying armies would not seize or remove products of the occupied territory.

Sees Granting of Request.

Ambassador Penfield reported today that he delivered to Count von Burian on July 26 President Wilson's plea in behalf of the famine stricken Poles, and that the foreign minister promised to deliver the president's message immediately to Emperor Francis Joseph.

The minister's unofficial opinion was that the request of the president would be met by Austria and Germany. Ambassador Penfield was told by the foreign minister that Austria was administering affairs in one-third of Russian Poland and that famine conditions there have been greatly ameliorated in recent months by good crops and good management.

Will Permit U. S. Relief.

State department officials regard the reception of the president's letter at the Austrian foreign office as a hopeful sign of concessions which will eventually permit American relief measures for the starving Poles.

Ambassador Page has sent copies of the British proposal to Ambassadors Gerard and Penfield at Berlin and Vienna, American Minister Brand Whitlock in Belgium, and Chairman Hoover of the American relief commission.

The British proposal will be referred at once to Germany and Austria-Hungary to learn whether it is acceptable.

'KILLED' IN 1890; LEAVES $500,000 TO CHICAGOANS

George McQueen, Driven from Home, Dead in Nebraska; Heirs Are Sought.

Here is one of the dramas of the great west, for which, in the nature of dramas, may be awaiting a third act with a punch finish. Perhaps it will reveal a blushing debutante or a worthy young suitor to whom $500,000 will be happiness ever after.

The following want ad appears in today's TRIBUNE:

PERSONAL—WANTED, ADDRESSES OF relatives of George McQueen, age 56, who left brother and sister in Chicago about 26 years ago. Son of Robert McQueen in Scotland. Died here July 26, leaving estate. A. D. Fetterman, county attorney, Hyannis, Neb.

Here is the place to begin the story.

George McQueen was long a resident of Hyannis, Neb. He was a taciturn man and entertained few intimates. To these he told that he was born in Scotland fifty-eight years ago. His father, Robert McQueen, was extremely punctilious in his care of his son and gave him an abundant education.

Driven from Home.

Then, when he had come into a man's estate, he angered his elder by refusing to marry the girl the father had chosen for him. He was disowned and driven from his home in Scotland.

The young man came to Chicago, where he had a brother and married sister. He remained with them for a time until his health failed. He was ordered by a physician to leave for another climate.

McQueen took leave of his relatives, saying he was going east. Instead, he boarded a train for the west. The train he was expected to take for his trip east was wrecked and one of the victims, mangled in the disaster, was identified as McQueen. This body was buried.

Keeps His Silence.

McQueen, then located in Nebraska, read of the funeral, but he never took the trouble to notify either his relatives in Chicago or his father that he was alive.

He settled in Lakeside county, Nebraska, twenty-two years ago and set up in the cattle business. He was a wise manager and soon amassed 1,000 acres of ranch land and many herds of cattle and horses. On July 25 he dropped dead on his ranch. Friends conducted his funeral, and now the county attorney of Hyannis county is endeavoring to find the heirs to a $500,000 ranch.

THIRD AND FOURTH ILLINOIS EAGER TO SHOW UP BRIGADE.

Officers Are Driving Men in Preparing for Saturday's March—Eighth Stays at Camp.

San Antonio, Tex., July 28.—[Special.]—During the last few days officers of the Third and Fourth Illinois regiments, profiting by the First brigade's mistakes, have been working tirelessly to put the second command in shape for the march to Landa's park, at New Braunfels. Maj. Gen. Henry R. Hill has insisted that the regiments be driven to the limit to steel them for the test.

The men are leaning against the bit, keen to get away and "show up" the First brigade. They will start for Landa's park early Saturday morning, and will be closely watched by regular army observers, who had their eyes opened to spotty militia performance several days ago. The length of the first day's march is five miles greater than that of the First brigade.

Later other regiments of the First Illinois brigade and of the Wisconsin brigade will take turns at the park. The eighth regiment will remain at Camp Wilson as camp guards for the deserted tent town.

GUARDS, RETURNING HOME, WILL RECEIVE TRAVEL PAY.

Three and a Half Cents a Mile to Be Given Discharged Men with Dependent Relatives.

New York, July 28.—Contrary to the report that the guardsmen now at the border, released under the order permitting men with dependent relatives to be discharged on application, must pay their own transportation home, it was learned today that an order which went into effect July 1 provides that they receive travel pay at the rate of 3½ cents a mile.

STEAM FAILS TO OUST WOMAN

Mrs. P. H. Kelly, Resisting Eviction, Says Bathroom Would Cook an Owl.

OTHER SCHEMES FAIL.

For those of you who in the whirr of an electric fan, over a tinkling glass of iced tea and in a shady nook are prone to complain of weather, there is here set down the diary of one day, it being 98 in the shade, of Mrs. P. H. Kelly, 944 State street, as set down by a reporter:

7 a. m.—The landlord, D. Lucchesi, demands his rent. Mrs. Kelly bids him behave and wait until he repapers the walls.

8 a. m.—Landlord Lucchesi presents a formal order of eviction. Mrs. Kelly declines to be worried by orders of eviction.

9 a. m.—Lucchesi turns off the water supply. Mrs. Kelly tries the faucets to her complete dissatisfaction.

10 a. m.—Mrs. Kelly complains to the police of the Chicago avenue station and also to the health department.

2 p. m.—Police direct Lucchesi to renew the water supply in the Kelly apartment.

3 p. m.—The water is turned on, and to her further dissatisfaction Mrs. Kelly finds that it is hotter than the mill tails of sheol. No cold water.

5 p. m.—Every time Mrs. Kelly tries the faucet the water is hotter than before. Flat full of steam.

10 p. m.—(Mrs. Kelly on the phone) "The steam heat has been turned on and this place is like a brick kiln. The bathroom would cook an owl. And it's 90 in the moonlight."

Midnight—Mrs. Kelly is holding the fort.

NEW GASOLINE LOCOMOTIVE PULLS CARS FOR ERIE ROAD.

Crackerbox Shaped Engine Expected to Shorten Switching Time in Chicago.

A strange crackerbox shaped bulk of steel with the pull of a Mikado and four drivewheels and a cab only like an ordinary locomotive started its work for the Erie railroad yesterday at the freight station, Erie and Kingsbury streets.

The rail heads assert that this new "Erie Gasoline Locomotive No. 10" is the first and only gasoline locomotive of its kind, and they are depending upon it to span over the distance between the end of the rails at Fourteenth and Clark streets and Erie and Webster avenue, with a net time saving for shippers of from twenty-four to forty-eight hours. In the past there has been a delayed switching movement through clearing yards and by way of other railroads.

Now the Erie will hook the cars on to No. 10, pull them on the floats in the river, and unload and "spot" the cars at the other end in the same way. It will jerk two loaded forty ton freight cars up a 3 per cent grade without a puff, it is said, at a speed of six miles an hour and pull 500 tons on a straightaway. It is a self-starter and equipped with all the safety devices required by the interstate commerce commission.

PROTEST AGAINST GERMANS FORCING FRENCH TO WORK.

Twenty-five Thousand Civilians of Northern France, Including Young Girls, Exiled to Farms.

PARIS, July 28.—The French government today formally appealed to the sentiments of justice and humanity of the neutral countries and public opinion in all nations in behalf of the inhabitants of the invaded cities of northern France, who, the appeal says, have been taken from their homes and transported to other regions, where they are compelled to work in the fields.

"At the end of April, 1916," says the appeal, "by order of the German military authorities about 25,000 French girls, from 16 to 20 and young women, and men to the age of 55, had been taken from their homes at Roubaix, Turcoing, and Lille, separated from their families, and transported to the departments of Aisne and Ardennes and compelled to work, principally at farming."

BOY ELOPER BRINGS SUIT TO ANNUL HIS MARRIAGE.

Edmund Town Refuses to Go Back to Girl Who Threatened Suicide and Starts Court Fight.

The first step toward wiping out the romance of Edmund M. Town Jr. and Caroline Town, who eloped to Crown Point about a month ago and were married, was taken yesterday when a bill was filed by the young bridegroom to annul the marriage on the grounds that both parties were under age. Town's attorney said last night the marriage was illegal because Edmund was but 19 years old and Caroline Long 16, and that both misrepresented their ages. The bride lives with Mrs. J. A. Dorenz, an aunt, at 521 South California avenue. The aunt asserts the marriage was legal and that the case will be fought to the finish. About a week ago the girl threatened to commit suicide because Town hinted his father wanted him to annul the marriage, but she changed her mind and decided to fight for her husband.

WRECK 30 CARS IN BRONX STRIKE

Mahon Says Manhattan and Brooklyn Men Will Join Walkout Soon.

3,000 POLICE CALLED.

New York, July 28.—At the end of a day of almost continuous rioting in the Bronx leaders of the strike of trolleymen predicted the disturbance would extend to Manhattan and Brooklyn within the next forty-eight hours. W. D. Mahon, president of the National Union of Street Railway Employés, was authority for the statemept that plans for a general strike would be discussed at massmeetings by delegates from all the trolley lines in the city.

The police declared the situation was becoming so serious they had ordered more than 3,000 men to remain on reserve duty.

Thirty Cars Damaged.

Despite the disorder, there were few arrests and no casualties. Strikers and their sympathizers, according to the police, derailed thirty cars and badly damaged as many more. In most cases by the time the police arrived the rioters had dispersed.

Both sides reported to the police that gunmen are being employed. The police have recognized several notorious gangsters among the strikebreakers.

BATHERS GO HOME IN PATROL.

Some One Walks Off with Clothes of Quartet and Police Come to Their Assistance.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris Currey of 8 East Twenty-eighth street and Mr. and Mrs. R. Chambles, 3612 South State street, went bathing in the lake at the foot of Twenty-sixth street last night. They wore their street clothing over their bathing suits, and undressed near the lake front and hid their clothes in some shrubbery. Some one stole the clothes. A patrol wagon took them home. A short time later a policeman found their clothing.

Waco Kid's Bond Cut.

The bonds of Willard Powell, the Waco kid, indicted on four charges of operating a confidence game and obtaining money by false pretenses, were reduced by Judge Barrett yesterday from $50,000 to $45,000 on motion of Attorney Charles E. Erbstein.

WILSON WANTS ALL INDUSTRIES TO AID DEFENSE

Holds Co-ordination Is Necessary—National Council to Lead the Movement.

Washington, D. C., July 28.—In making public today a letter from President Wilson acknowledging receipt of a preliminary report of the new National Research council, the White House issued a statement calling attention to the fact that the president has given his support unreservedly to measures looking to the coördination of production, transportation and industry. The statement says:

"Preparedness does not consist merely in the enlargement of the army and navy, but necessitates coördination in production, transportation and industry. A provision of the army appropriation bill for a council of national defense is designed to meet this requirement.

"This body will be capable of very great and material service to the government in the vital matter of the nation's security. Needless to say, men of the highest quality of patriotism and ability will be asked to serve upon it. Preparedness, to be sound and complete, must be solidly based on science. In realization of this fact, the president some time ago requested the National Academy of Sciences to form the National Research council. That body has been formed and has made a preliminary report."

WILSON TO HELP GAIN TRADE BY CAREFUL STUDY

Scientific Investigation Contemplated to Establish Permanent Relations.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—Partly through the initiative of the Illinois Manufacturers' association in urging a national commission to study foreign conditions, the United States is about ready to embark on a scientific investigation of foreign trade prospects with a view to averting hard times after the war and establishing permanent trade relations with many foreign buyers.

This was announced today at the White House, where there was made public President Wilson's response to Samuel M. Hastings, president of the Illinois manufacturers' body. Mr. Hastings had urged the sending of a commission of twelve to twenty men to Mexico and the orient immediately and eventually to other nations to promote better feeling.

Work for Tariff Board.

It appears, however, that instead of creating another such commission the United States is likely to turn over this work to the new tariff commission to be named, giving the members an opportunity to make their tariff study and at the same time perform the missionary work proposed by the Illinois manufacturers.

President Wilson's letter follows:

"It was with real interest and appreciation that I received your suggestion for the appointment of a commission to visit the belligerent nations for the purpose of studying the means whereby closer economic relations might be brought about between the United States and Europe.

Provision in Rainey Bill.

"Let me say that, when the circumstances justify it, I shall take advantage of that provision of the Rainey bill under which the president is authorized to direct an examination or investigation by the tariff commission of trade relations between the United States and foreign countries, including the conditions, causes, and effects of the competition of foreign industries with those of the United States.

"After all, what we are interested in is to ascertain all the facts surrounding our economic life and to disconnect a fundamental thing like the fiscal policy of the government with regard to duties on imports from party politics. We shall strive to do this through the instrumentality of a permanent, nonpartisan commission composed of able and experienced men, so that when the facts are once obtained the handling of our tariff question may no longer be made the football of politics.

Plans System for Future.

"In addition to the information gathered and systematized by the federal trade commission bearing upon foreign and domestic commerce our consular representatives and commercial attachés abroad have kept us well supplied with information relative to the changing business conditions and the new financial processes which are proceeding with unusual rapidity; but it will be the privilege and function of the tariff commission to obtain and collate in an even more systematic way the information which is desired as a basis for our future action.

"May I not add an expression of my sincere appreciation of the evidence you and your colleagues have given of a willingness to coöperate in all such enterprises? WOODROW WILSON."

BOY HELD FOR KILLING.

Michael Laflee, 16 years old, of 721 Boston avenue, who "got even" with Dominick Tornido, a street sweeper, by dropping a brick on his head, with fatal results, was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter by a coroner's jury yesterday. Laflee said he and his brother had been fighting and Tornido interfered. The boy vowed vengeance.

FRYATT KILLING CALLED CRIME

eign Secretary Grey and Ambassador Page.

On June 28 the foreign secretary requested that Mr. Page ascertain the names of the British subjects on board the Brussels. Mr. Page replied July 1 that he had learned from James W. Gerard, the American ambassador in Berlin, that the officers and crew of the Brussels were safe and well and interned at Ruhleben; that the five stewardesses had been separated from the crew at Cologne, and that Mr. Gerard was inquiring as to their whereabouts and urging their prompt repatriation.

On July 18 Secretary Grey requested Mr. Page to inquire into the truth of a report that Capt. Fryatt of the Brussels was to be court martialed, and on the 20th asked Mr. Page to telegraph Berlin and secure a proper defense for Fryatt, and to inform Mr. Gerard confidentially that the British government was "satisfied that in committing the act impugned, Capt. Fryatt acted legitimately in self-defense for the purpose of evading capture or destruction."

On the 25th Secretary Grey again asked Ambassador Page to inform Ambassador Gerard that "should the allegations on which the charge against Capt. Fryatt is understood to be based be established by evidence, his majesty's government are of opinion that his action was perfectly legitimate."

This communication continued: "His majesty's government consider that the act of a merchant ship in steering for an enemy submarine and forcing it to dive is essentially defensive, and precisely on the same footing as the use by a defensively armed vessel of its defensive armament in order to resist capture, which both the United States government and his majesty's government hold to be the exercise of an undoubted right."

Should Not Be Executed.

The Fryatt case calls attention to the German prize regulations, which provide that under circumstances similar to the capture of the Brussels, merchantmen are to be treated as prisoners of war. An appendix to those regulations issued June 22, 1914, reads:

"If an armed enemy merchant vessel offers armed resistance to the right of visit and search and capture, this is to be broken down by all possible means. The enemy government is responsible for any damage thereby caused to the ship, its cargo and passengers.

"The members of the crew are to be treated as prisoners of war. Passengers are to be liberated unless it is proved they have taken part in the resistance. In the latter case, they are to be proceeded against in accordance with the extraordinary martial law procedure."

Worse than Cavell Case?

Discussing the Fryatt case, Baron Newton, undersecretary for foreign affairs, who, during the conversation, was summoned to Foreign Secretary Grey's office for a conference on the subject, said:

"On the face of the details of the report as received by us, the execution of Capt. Fryatt seems to be worse than the Edith Cavell case.

"It is an extremely grave incident, the importance of which it would be difficult to exaggerate.

"It must be borne in mind that when the alleged ramming took place German submarines were attacking merchant ships without any warning whatsoever."

No "Franc-tireur" of Sea.

According to wireless messages from Germany, Capt. Fryatt was executed "for a franc-tireur crime against armed German sea forces."

Officers of the admiralty were aroused to intense indignation when they learned of the affair. A naval officer said:

"There is no such thing known as a franc-tireur at sea. We have captured officers of German submarines, who rammed merchant ships without warning and fired upon merchant ships without warning, but they are treated as prisoners of war. We also have naval officers who dropped bombs from Zeppelins on harmless and undefended towns and killed civilian inhabitants."

In the cross channel service Capt. Fryatt was known as a "pirate dodger" because on several occasions he had succeeded in eluding German submarines by skillful navigation.

When the capture of the Brussels was reported, the Daily Chronicle said in reference to Capt. Fryatt:

"For a particularly brilliant exploit in March, 1915, he was presented with a gold watch, suitably inscribed, by the lord commissioner of the admiralty, together with their thanks, on vellum."

On another occasion, some twelve months before he surrendered the Brussels, according to the Chronicle, his vessel was chased for more than an hour by a submarine while he was outward bound from Harwich to Rotterdam, but he succeeded in getting safely away.

A few days later, when near the North Hinder lightship, a torpedo was fired at his vessel, missing it by only a few feet.

REPORT ON EXECUTION.

BERLIN, July 28, by wireless to Sayville.—Capt. Charles Fryatt of the Great Eastern Railway steamship Brussels, which vessel was captured by German destroyers last month and taken into Zeebrugge, has been executed by shooting after trial before a German naval court-martial.

The death sentence was passed upon Capt. Fryatt because of his alleged action in attempting previously to ram a German submarine.

Testimony was presented at the court-martial to show that while Capt. Fryatt did not belong to the armed forces, he had attempted on March 28, 1915, while near the Maas lightship, to ram the German submarine U-33.

Capt. Fryatt and the first officer and the first engineer of the Brussels received from the British admiralty gold watches for "brave conduct" and were mentioned in the house of commons.

The submarine U-33, according to the official account of the trial, had signaled to the British steamer to show its flag and to stop, but Capt. Fryatt did not heed and, it is alleged, turned at high speed toward the submarine, which escaped only by diving immediately several yards below the surface.

Shot After Court-Martial.

Capt. Fryatt, the official statement says, admitted that he had followed the instructions of the British admiralty. Sentence was confirmed and the captain was executed and shot for a "franc tireur crime against armed German sea forces."

The trial was held at Bruges, Belgium, yesterday.

U. S. ACCEPTS MEXICO'S PLANS

way. It is known that the first chief is afraid to move too far away from his original suggestion because of the attitude of some of his military lieutenants who are not wholly loyal to him.

Take Up Other Matters.

The United States would go into the question of better protection to Americans in Mexico and along the border, the settlement of claims against Mexico, and other matters that were promised before Carranza was formally recognized by the United States. The Parral incident would be investigated.

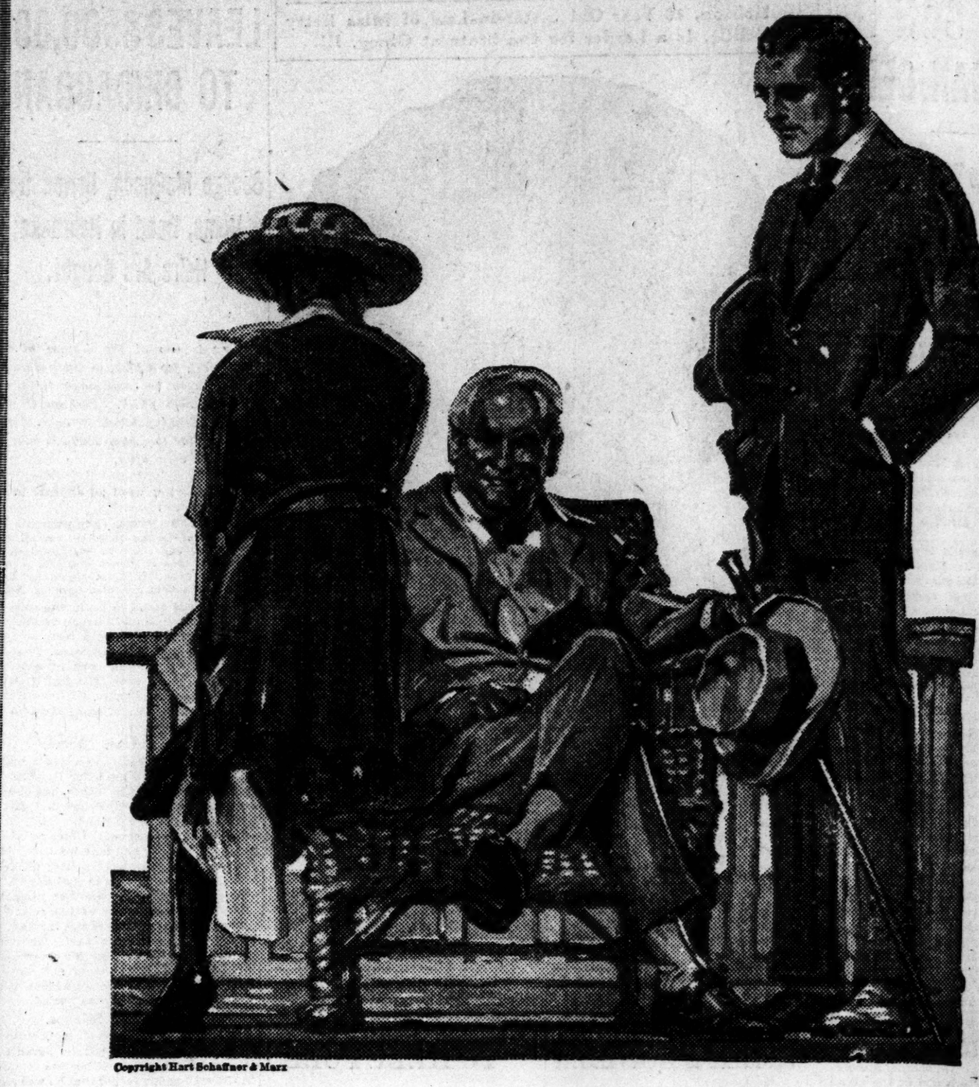

President Wilson is understood to have at least a score of men under consideration for appointment as commissioners. Among them are Chief Justice White, Maj. Gen. Goethals, former governor of the canal zone; Frederick Lehman, former solicitor general, and Louis D. Brandeis, associate justice of the Supreme court. It is stated authoritatively that the president had not attempted as yet to make any selections.

Unofficial information from Mexico City has been to the effect that Luis Cabrera, Mexican minister of finance, would head the Mexican membership of the commission. Neither the state department nor Mr. Arredondo, however, has official information on that point.

Next Move by Carranza.

The next move will be made by the first chief. If he agrees to the couner proposition it will require only a short time to start the machinery to carry out the plan. Acting Secretary Polk does not expect an answer within the next forty-eight hours, for after giving Mr. Arredondo the note he left for New York for a short rest. He expects to return to Washington Sunday night or Monday.

It is hardly possible that any definite action can be reached by the commission before the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

BRITISH GAIN SOMME KEY TO GERMAN BASE

Control All of Delville Wood and Longueval on Direct Road to Bapaume.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, July 28.—Delville wood and the last German strongholds in Longueval in the Somme sector are now completely controlled by the British, official war office statements report. These two points comprise the key to the German base at Bapaume.

The capture of Delville wood, with the exception of one acre, was chronicled in a dispatch received early this morning from the front, but was not officially verified until this afternoon.

The capture of the last German positions in Longueval was reported in tonight's communique, which also states that hand to hand fighting continues in the vicinity of Pozieres.

Bitter Fighting in Vosges.

In the meantime there is bitter fighting on the French front to the south.

Paris reports that an attack by the Germans against French positions south of Sante Marie pass in the Vosges resulted in their gaining a lodgment in the advanced French trenches, but later were driven out with the bayonet.

Paris reports progress on the right bank of the Meuse west of the Thiaumont work, but gives no details of the fighting.

The German official statement chronicles defeats for the British in the Somme.

Berlin says that strong British attacks against German positions in the Foreaux wood broke down under the Teutonic fire.

At Longueval and in the Delville wood there was hard fighting, Berlin says, without any gain for the British.

The German report was issued early this morning and covered operations of yesterday.

British Night Report.

The night British official statement says:

Continuing their success of yesterday our troops have captured the last enemy strongholds in Longueval, together with a number of prisoners.

In the vicinty of Pozieres hand to hand fighting has continued throughout the day.

Elsewhere on the battle front there was considerable artillery activity by both side.

Two hostile aeroplanes were destroyed by one of our aerial patrols in the neighborhood of Bapaume yesterday.

The foregoing statement was preceded by the following issued by the war office:

After severe fighting we have driven the Fifth Brandenburg division from their remaining positions in Delville wood, capturing three officers and 158 men. The whole wood now is in our hands, and two German counter attacks have been beaten off with heavy loss to the enemy.

French Night Report.

PARIS, July 28.—The war office tonight gave out the following report on western front operations:

In mine duels in the Argonne we occupied the edges of two craters after a grenade struggle at Fille Morte. On the right bank of the Meuse we made progress to the west of Thiaumont work.

In the Vosges, after a lively bombardment, the enemy twice attacked our positions south of Sante Marie pass. The first attack, which succeeded in their gaining lodgement in our advanced trenches, was driven back with the bayonet. The second attack was launched shortly afterward, but was unable to approach our lines, being broken up under our barrage fire. During these actions the enemy suffered appreciable losses.

French Day Report.

The afternoon statement issued by the war office says:

In the Champagne, in the region of Auberive, a Russian reconnaissance penetrated a hostile trench which was cleared with grenades. The Russians brought back some prisoners.

On the right bank of the Meuse [Verdun front] a German attack which was about to debouch upon our positions west of the Thiaumont work was completely stopped by the heavy fire of our artillery.

German War Report.

BERLIN, July 28.—Strong British attacks against the German positions in Foureaux wood, in the Somme region, broke down yesterday under the German fire, according to the official German army headquarters statement, which says:

A German patrol in the district of Neuve Chapelle brought in two machine guns and thirty prisoners, of whom three were officers.

North of the Somme the English fire was increased to its greatest strength. In the afternoon strong attacks were launched near Pozieres and at Foureaux wood and to the southeast of it. They broke down in front of the German positions.

At Longueval and in Delville wood there was hand to hand fighting, but there also the enemy gained no successes.

U-BOATS SINK BRITISH SHIP IN BATTLE OFF SCOTLAND.

Berlin Hears One Enemy Patrol Craft Is Sunk—London Reports Raid on Fishermen.

BERLIN, July 28, by wireless to Sayville.—In a naval battle between several German submarines and three British patrol boats off the coast of Scotland one of the British vessels was sunk, according to a report received by the Dutch newspaper Handelsblad and telegraphed to the Overseas News agency.

"The patrol boats," the dispatch continues, "were the Nellie Nutton, Onward and Neva. The Nellie Nutton was sunk. Three members of its crew were killed and the remaining eleven sailors were rescued by a Dutch fishing boat and landed in a Scotch harbor. Three of the eleven men rescued later died in consequence of their wounds.

Raid on Fishing Boats.

LONDON, July 28.—A German submarine has raided a British fleet of herring fishing boats. Eight of the vessels were sunk. The crews were landed today at the North sea port of Tynemouth.

SHE ANSWERS JUDGE WADE

Sister and Policeman Who Arrested Speeders' Judge for Speeding.

Miss Helen Murphy and James Murphy

Miss Helen Murphy is the sister of Policeman James Murphy, who arrested Judge Wade—presiding over the Speeders' court—for speeding. Judge Wade admitted he had exceeded the legal limit, but said he felt the policeman deserved a severe reprimand for his rough conduct.

"Does it look as if my brother drinks?" asked Miss Murphy when told of the judge's charge against him. "A man who drinks cannot afford to buy all the furniture that you see in this apartment and pay the rent besides, and all that on a policeman's salary."

Policeman Murphy and his sister live at 4426 West Monroe street.

The case against Judge Wade has been continued at the request of State's Attorney Hoyne until Aug. 17.

ITALIANS GAIN DESPITE USE OF GAS BY THE AUSTRIANS.

Rome Also Charges That Enemy Is Firing Explosive Bullets—Heavy Attacks Are Repulsed.

ROME, July 28.—Additional ground has been gained by the Italians in the Dolomites region, the war office announce today.

After hard fighting with the Austrian defenders of Monte Colbricon the Italians extended their positions.

Austrian attacks in force on Italian positions in various sectors further to the west were repulsed:

On the night of July 26 the enemy attacked in force our positions on Monte Seluggio, in the Posina valley, and on Monte Zebio, Sette Comuni Plateau, but were repulsed with heavy losses.

On Monte Colbricon we extended our positions during the 26th after heavy fighting. We took seventy-three prisoners, including two officers and one machine gun.

During fighting on the Carso at St. Michele and St. Martino the enemy was again found to be using explosive rifle bullets and asphyxiating gas bombs.

Street Car Hits Girl.

Grace Cusino, 4 years old, 648 West Sixty-third street, was severely bruised last night when she was struck by a Sixty-third street car at Lowe avenue.

FRENCH PILOTS BRING DOWN THREE GERMAN AEROPLANES.

Two Fall in the Region of the Somme and a Third at Vrille, to the South of Ornes.

PARIS, July 28.—The war office today gave out the following official report on aerial operations on the western front:

In the course of yesterday our pursuit aeroplanes engaged in numerous fights. Two German aeroplanes were brought down in the region of the Somme, one near the river at Brie and the other in the neighborhood of St. Christ.

A third enemy machine was attacked by one of our aeroplanes and brought down at Vrille, to the south of Ornes, in the region of Verdun.

In the Vosges a German machine which was attacked was forced to abandon the fight and was overturned in landing.

On the night of July 26 one of our air squadrons dropped heavy caliber bombs on railway lines to the north of Tergnier, on the station of Chauny, and on enemy convoys on the road in the neighborhood of Coucy. Our aeroplanes carried out bombardments also between Lain and Reims, on military establishments at Menne, Lavannes, and Caurel.

Boy Hit by Auto Truck.

Edward Farmer, 7 years old, of 828 Wolfram street, was bruised about the body last night when he ran behind a Sheffield avenue car and was struck by an automobile truck.

GERMANS LAUGH OVER REPORT OF LOSS OF BREMEN

Ocean Line Official Says He Knows Landing Port for Second U-Boat.

Baltimore, Md., July 28.—[Special.]—The reported capture at Halifax of the U boat Bremen, officially denied this morning, afforded a pleasing diversion to the officials of the Ocean Rhederei company here. Capt. Frederick Hinsch, master of transportation of the company at this port, seemed to take the stories of the Bremen's capture as a joke and only laughed a bit.

At the office of A. Schumacher & Co. the following statement was given out:

"We have heard nothing of the Bremen and do not believe it has been captured. We have heard of its capture before."

"I know positively to what port the Bremen is coming," said an official of the Deutsch Ocean Rhederei today.

No Secret of Departure.

Statements made by Capt. Koenig and Capt. Hinsch indicate that the Deutschland will make no attempt to make a secret of its departure from the Andre street pier. It is probable the submarine will leave the slip in the morning, in order to arrive at the capes under cover of darkness.

An extra crew today went aboard the tug Thomas F. Timmins, which is to tow the submarine Deutschland to the Capes. Afterward a conference was held on the tug.

Testing of the submersible's engines continued today. This has been going on for several days and when it became known that several conferences took place between Constructor Gustave Prusse and Capts. Koenig and Hinsch a theory was evoked that some defect in the machinery still existed. This was denied officially, however, and it was said the tests simply were to keep everything in working order.

"Allied Ship Caught Bremen."

Boston, Mass., July 28.—[Special.]—Capt. Frank B. Howarth, commander of the liner Cretic, which arrived here today, said that from information which he has received from an authoritative source the submarine Bremen had been captured.

"I am told as a matter of indisputable fact that a big merchant submersible is in a British harbor," Capt. Howarth said. "It was captured by allied cruisers in the English channel. I think the Bremen was disposed of in the same way."

Here's Another Report.

New York, July 28.—Another circumstantial report regarding the whereabouts of the Bremen, long expected at some American port, is that the ship had been captured by British patrolling squadrons and is today tied up in the northwest arm in the harbor of Halifax, N. S. The report of the capture which is published here is given in a letter said to have been written by the secretary of a high Canadian official to a business man of this city.

Story Denied in Canada.

Ottawa, Ont., July 28.—The naval department denied today that there is any foundation for the story published in New York that the Bremen has been captured and taken into Halifax.

Reports on British Warship.

Norfolk, Va., July 28.—Lieut. Commander Louis Shane of the United States collier Neptune said today he had forwarded an official report to Washington corroborating the statement of officers of the United States cruiser Louisiana that an unidentified warship was within the Virginia capes last Tuesday morning, and further declaring that he saw it moving outward to sea. The report of Commander Shane contains the first official declaration that a warship was seen leaving the capes.

SOMME BATTLE FRONT

1—Pozieres now completely controlled by the British, according to London reports, but hand to hand fighting is being waged in the vicinity of that point.

2—Delville wood and the last German strongholds in Longueval now in hands of the British, London says.

SERBIANS OPEN OFFENSIVE; TAKE HILLS FROM BULGARS.

Hold Series of Heights in Greece Despite Violent Artillery Fire—Bomb Cuts Sofia Railway.

PARIS, July 28.—Serbian forces have begun an offensive against the Bulgarians in Greece, according to a Havas dispatch received here today from Saloniki.

The Serbians have occupied a series of heights and are maintaining their position despite the artillery fire and counter attacks of the Bulgarians.

For the last three days, the dispatch adds, the Serbians have been making methodical preparations for the purpose of driving the Bulgarians from the positions which they had occupied six or seven miles south of the Greek frontier.

Bomb Cuts Railway.

ATHENS, July 28.—The Sofia-Kostendil railway line has been cut by the explosion of a bomb, according to reports received here. It is added the bomb was placed by an unidentified person or persons.

TURK AIRMEN BOMB SHIPS OF ALLIES NEAR TENEDOS.

Landing Party of 100 at Tugladere Driven Back to Boats—Slavs Advance in Caucasus.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 28.—The war office today issued the following statement on military operations:

Our airmen flew over the island of Tenedos and successfully dropped bombs on hostile ships. On July 24 the enemy, under the protection of the guns of their warship, landed more than 100 bandits on the north bank of the Tugladere, west of Aevadjik. Our troops drove them back to the ships. Meanwhile our airmen attacked the ships with bombs and machine guns, inflicting losses.

Russians Report Advance.

PETROGRAD, July 28.—The war office officially announced today the continued advances of the Russian Caucasian army. One of the Slav patrols captured thirty-one Turkish officers on the Syvasski road.

GUARDSMEN PUT INTO DIVISIONS BY U. S. PROGRAM

Illinois and Wisconsin in 12th Army Group, with Base at San Antonio.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—The war department's reorganization of the national guard was materially advanced today by the announced change of divisional organization which is practically complete. Formerly Illinois and Indiana troops, for example, made up one army division, and Ohio and Michigan another. By the new system Illinois and Wisconsin are united for the twelfth army division, with headquarters at San Antonio and under command of Brig. Gen. E. H. Plummer of the regular army.

Of all the ten divisions of national guard now along the border only two are commanded by national guard officers. These are the Sixth, made up entirely of New York guardsmen and commanded by Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan of New York, with headquarters at McAllen, Tex., and the Seventh, made up of Pennsylvania troops and commanded by Maj. Gen. Charles A. Clement at El Paso.

Division Leaders Assigned.

Indiana and Michigan guardsmen make up the Eleventh division and Iowa helps make up the Thirteenth. The division commanders assigned from the regular army by Gen. Funston to the militia divisions and their headquarters are as follows:

9—Brig. Gen. F. W. Sibley, El Paso.
10—Brig. Gen. Granger Adams, El Paso.
11—Brig. Gen. George Bell Jr., El Paso.
12—Brig. Gen. E. H. Plummer, San Antonio.
13—Brig. Gen. James Parker, Mercedes.
14—Brig. Gen. Charles G. Morton, Deming, N. M.
15—Brig. Gen. Henry A. Greene, Eagle Pass, Tex.
16—Brig. Gen. William L. Sibert, Nogales, Ariz.

Separate Commanders Named.

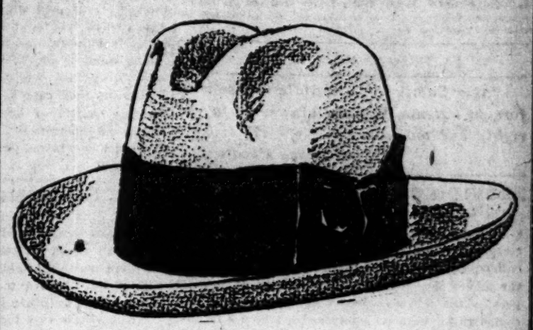

In addition there are separate brigade commanders assigned from the regular army. At Brownsville, where the Illinois cavalry is stationed, have been established the Second and Sixth separate brigades, commanded respectively by Col. A. P. Blockson of the Third and Col. Herbert J. Slocum of the Thirteenth cavalry. At Nogales, Ariz., is the Fifth separate brigade, commanded by Col. William H. Sage of the Twelfth infantry.

Not only will general staff officers be assigned as chief of staff for each national guard division but also there will be an assignment of regulars and guard officers shortly to complete the division and brigade staffs, and also the regimental staffs where vacancies in the guard still exist. The whole program is a part of the general staff's policy of working out the tactical organization of the national guard for the first time in its history.

DEFICIT IN CANAL TOLLS.

Washington, D. C., July 28.—Panama canal tolls were $4,286,551 less than expenses in the year which ended May 31. In the months the canal was closed by slides the losses ranged between $546,000 and $643,000 a month, totaling for the six months from October to March inclusive, $3,553,627. Tolls collected during May amounted to $368,023, the largest month since August, 1915.

PROVIDING MONEY FOR DEFENSE.

The senate has put vitality and purpose into the army appropriation bill passed by the house of representatives. It has added millions and millions of dollars, and if there could be wise administration of the money the senate is willing to put at the disposal of the nation's defenses we might feel that the campaign for national safety had not been a failure.

House Democrats may not accept the senate amendments. President Wilson is said to be using his influence for an adequate bill, but opposition to army and navy expenditures has not died in the house of representatives and the stubborn Democrats have the president's own words to use in support of themselves in the position they take. Mr. Wilson prepared the way for the men in the house who have obstructed every effort in the direction of defense. If they quote Wilson in answering Wilson it may be bad for the country, but salvation for themselves.

Important items in which the senate has raised the house allowances are for aviation, an increase of nearly $10,000,000; clothing and equipment, an increase of over $8,000,000; ordnance and ammunition, an increase of $13,000,000; automatic machine guns, an increase of nearly $0,000,000; field artillery and ammunition, an increase of $12,000,000. There are other notable increases, but the ones indicated are sufficient to show that the senate has dared break from the political tradition that military appropriations are dangerous to the politicians who make them.

If the house makes its opposition stubborn again there will be much vaporing and blatting about taxation. Sons of freedom will arise to protect the plain people from the aggression of ravenous militarists and munition makers, and if the plain people swallow this the politicians again will be encouraged to neglect national needs and spend the nation's money on district improvements which get them votes.

The fact that common sense is beginning to govern in parts of Washington seems to have direct relation to the long campaign which found popular climax in the many preparedness parades. Much shoe leather was worn out to convince congress that there was need of adequate military establishments.

This method of persuasion was awkward, but it was the most spectacular and possibly the most effective one the democracy had. The senate, at least, has been impressed by it, and the senate has acted in the fashion the parades indicated the people wanted it to act.

If the house can be persuaded that there has not been a let down in public feeling and that the men and women who marched are now watching and thinking, the United States may obtain better defenses than it seemed probable or possible six months ago that it could obtain.

Instead of an aviation service so small as to be negligible and so ineffective as to be virtually worthless, this arm may be made worthy and competent.

Instead of inadequate machine gun organizations the army may have something like an adequate complement of these important arms. Instead of insufficient field artillery and inadequate reserve of ammunition there may be sufficiency.

If congress will make the appropriations and if the administration will use the money wisely for the purposes designated, the United States will not be a military power, but it will be nearer the zone of safety than it has been for many years.

JOHN TRAVERS CORNWALL.

The sea annals of yesterday contained many references to the heroic acts of mere lads. In former days there were many boys of 14 to 16 who as midshipmen are mentioned in English and other naval records as acquitting themselves with as great honor as much older men did.

The reports of the Jutland battle show that the British naval service still takes in mere striplings. Both Vice Admiral Beatty and Admiral Sir John Jellicoe mentioned with honor John Travers Cornwall, 16½ years of age, of the Lancaster, who, though mortally wounded, stood by his post quietly awaiting orders till the end of the action, with the gun's crew dead and dying about him. He died later without a whimper.

The navies of all the warring countries undoubtedly contain these striplings, boys of really tender years, taken from their homes and offered as a sacrifice on the altar of duty. This is one of the necessities of a war such as is now putting the best blood of Europe to the supreme test. John Travers Cornwall, however, has not died in vain. If in the British empire there be those capable of bearing arms who have not yet done their bit, surely this fine example of heroism should stir them to emulation.

PUBLICITY ON STRIKE VOTE RESULT.

The neutral public that wants to see the four railroad brotherhoods get their basic eight hour day and time and a half overtime working schedule, if they can make their case before an arbitration board, will watch closely for results from the efforts now under way to guarantee full publicity for the strike vote just completed.

It is a natural and fair demand. The leaders cannot sidestep the issue without paying dearly in loss of public confidence. The size of the vote for and against is one of the few outstanding arguments in the controversy that the man on the street can grasp. If 95 per cent of the 300,000 most intelligent union men have voted for putting the final decision in the hands of their leaders, it means something to the railroad managers and to the public. If only 50 per cent of the engineers and conductors, the men of longer service and the highest pay, voted for the strike, and the firemen and trainmen, the younger element, voted almost unanimously in favor, again the figures have an important bearing on the question. Again, if the engineers on the Illinois Central and the Santa Fe, or the conductors, firemen, and trainmen, voted favorably by a narrower margin than the same employes on the Frisco, the New Haven, and some of the far western roads, the results are relevant.

It has not been customary for the brotherhood chiefs to issue anything more than a blanket, unofficial estimate of results, in the past, and then through the medium of some favorite newspaper friend. This method of procedure will not be satisfactory in this crisis. The public that is to pay the bill has a right to have it settled for all time that this eight hour demand is a bona fide movement, working from the bottom up, and not a "movement" generaled by leaders looking about for an issue to generate solidarity in the ranks and permanency in their own jobs. There have been ugly rumors of what part internal politics is playing in these demands, and one of the ways to feed them would be to take up the famous public be damned policy that the railroad managers have discarded.

The counting of the votes will be completed by Aug. 5, and the wise policy for the brotherhood leaders, if they care a whoop whether the public remains neutral or becomes suspicious, would be to call the reporters in and give them the full story. The exact results and proportions in this vote should be known.

POLISH RELIEF.

Great Britain's statement of the conditions the empire and its allies will accept for the victualing of Poland seems equitable and reasonable. Points the Germans may be able to make against them will seem more intended to defeat the relief schemes than to protect German interests.

Great Britain says that if the Germans will permit Poland the unrestricted and unmolested use of her own food resources, and will not draw upon Polish supplies for their own subsistence, such supplies as may be needed for the Poles may be sent in and distributed under American direction.

The British make a rational objection against any scheme which seems to feed the Poles and in effect feeds the Germans. American relief is not intended indirectly to be relief for the Germans. The process of trying to starve a nation to death is unpleasant to consider, but this is a war of nations. The Germans almost reduced Paris to starvation. The north tried to starve the south. About the first thing done with Lee's soldiers after Appomattox was to feed them. The British are trying to weaken Germany by obstructing channels by which supplies are obtained. It is a method which would be applied to Great Britain by Germany in a minute if the opportunity were afforded.

Polish relief must be based upon a convention which stipulates that American supplies going into Poland shall not find an equivalent in Polish supplies going into Germany.

We can see a possibility of retort by the Germans which might have more real value than it would appear to have. It might be that German direction of Polish resources, an intensive cultivation brought about by war necessities, had created values there which to some degree represented German work and intelligence. The Germans might say that the excess above normal represented what Germany might claim as the product of her own genius, not the product of Poland; but we cannot see Germany making any headway with such an argument.

As the case stands, Poland can have relief if the Germans will hold inviolate the resources of Poland and allow them to contribute to the sustenance of the Polish people. The channel of relief cannot have one opening in Poland and one in Germany. The supplies given to Polish relief cannot be permitted to release other supplies for the relief of Germany.

Great Britain seems to have laid down fair conditions and to have avoided responsibility if disaster comes to Poland this winter.

IN THE SIXTH DISTRICT.

An attempt is being made to bring about an elimination of Republican candidates for the congressional nomination in the Sixth district, so that there may not be a fatal division of the opposition to William Lorimer. The attempt will succeed if the candidates are not either stupidly selfish or secretly favorable to Lorimer. There is no doubt Lorimer will win if they all remain in the race. If they refuse to retire in favor of the strongest man they will incur a heavy responsibility, which will be brought home to them in their future public life. Those who are willing to be classed as allies of Mr. Lorimer will refuse to withdraw.

Ald. William J. Healy has been proposed as a candidate to make the fight, and his record and reputation are such as to make this proposal a promising one. In any event there should be a combination on one man without fail, and he should be the strongest available. The announced candidates have put up to them an unescapable test of their public spirit, their Republicanism, their devotion to the interests of the Sixth district. Is shortsighted selfishness or ulterior interest to prevail, or will they act for the welfare of their party, their district, and their country?

Editorial of the Day.

THREE THINGS UNCLE SAM NEEDS.

[Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary in Leslie's.]

In any consideration of national preparedness and defense, there are three big, broad features of vital importance.

First—A fleet of sixteen 35 knot battle cruisers, armed with 16 inch guns, eight on the Atlantic, eight on the Pacific, with all their accessories of destroyers, submarine and hydro-aeroplanes (construction to begin at once and completed in three years), to put the navy of the United States in unquestioned second place among the naval powers of the world.

Second—An air service commensurate with our importance and sufficient for our protection. A department of aeronautics, separate from and independent of both the army and the navy, its head a member of the president's cabinet, in full and undivided control of a comprehensive aero coast defense system, which our peculiar geographical position and extended coast line render imperative; of a system of aviation training schools, located in each of the principal geographical divisions of the country and of the civil and commercial avenues of aeronautic usefulness. With our resources and mechanical genius, under the spur of concentrated and undivided attention, such a department may in the near future be more vital to our national safety and integrity than either the navy or the army.

Third—A system of citizen military education and training similar to the systems of Switzerland and Australia, which will train every young man and able bodied male in the country, yet without making them a permanent burden upon the finances of the country or taking them from their ordinary occupations or professions. A system which, on the same percentage of efficiency as the systems of Switzerland and Australia, will give us 10,000,000 or more trained citizen soldiers available, in an emergency, in forty-eight hours.

LYNCHING SENTIMENT CHANGING.

A class of men, most of them mature in years, discussed lynching in one of our Sunday schools a few weeks ago, and it is remarkable that not one condoned the breaking of the law under any circumstances. A number of years ago, we suspect, many citizens would have palliated this offense, if indeed they would not have commended it in certain cases.—Hickory, N. C., Record.

LINES

On the Death of James Whitcomb Riley.

STRIP bare the laurel tree!
Around this honored bier
Heap high its greenery,
And bind a wreath thereof
About the brow we love—
A poet slumbers here,
No more to sing for men:
He will not wake again.
Yet, as the laurel (shorn
For him this dewy morn),
Shall bud another spring,
The songs he made shall live
And in remembrance sing
Unto us all, so give
The world a perfect chime
To bless the farthest time.
For who more deft than he
To grace with poesy
The common ways of life—
The joys, the tears, the strife?
Who had a greater heart?
Who played a nobler part?

Beloved bard, sleep well;
Our grief we may not tell
In words, nor can our eyes
Bid tears enough arise
To wash our pain away,
As here upon your bay
They fall, and will not stop—
Our hearts in every drop.

The Girl with the Hough.

Sir: I went into a Chicago department store to buy a garden hoe. The young lady showed me a small garden trowel. "Why, that is not a hoe!" said I. "Well," said she; "they use this in a garden." "A hoe has a long handle," said I. "Well, look at these things in the racks," she replied; "perhaps you can pick it out." I did so, and made a selection. But as she wrote the item on her delivery blank I saw it was spelled "hough."

ADD SPOON RIVER ANTHOLOGY.

[From the Chillicothe, Ill., Enquirer.]

Several of the young ladies of Wyoming went to Spoon river last Friday to enjoy a splash in the waters of the placid Spoon. While they were thus engaged some inquisitive cows, probably in need of salt, came along and attempted to masticate some of the wearing apparel which lay conveniently near on the bank. They succeeded to some extent, getting down a few pairs of stockings, skirts and other garments too numerous to mention, and came near choking to death on the corset stays, when they were discovered. The result was the girls had to go home in their bathing suits, plus what was left of their clothing.

IT is always well to look on the bright side of things. The Austrians are beginning to brag of the lickings they get.

Rattling Round in Rattle Creek.

RATTLE IV.

Tuesdays, at seven forty-two,
We get a lecture, and a view
Of bowels, liver, lungs, and lights.
These films show up the fearful fights
When germs from Germany espy
The Paris parasites. Oh, my!
They each try to annihilate
The other at a fearful rate,
And up and down and through the colon
They keep a tumblin', keep a rollin',
First Ueberalles takes a grip,
Then Joffre gets him on the hip.
The causus belli no one knows,
But scientific men suppose
It comes from taking our nutrition
In very bad decomposition.
Now this disturbance, without question,
Is no aid to a weak digestion.
And so the finish of the fight is
That soon the victim gets colitis.

What is the cure, I hear you ask?
My friends, it is no easy task
To give an answer, though we say
That in a general sort of way
We think that you are all too fat
And you must diet. As to that,
Our fine health foods will nourish you
And give the stomach less to do.
Nor let the terrible colitis
Intimidate us or affright us.

CLEANING FLOORS.

A CORRESPONDENT wants to know the best method of cleaning floors and especially hospital floors. As the correspondent indicates in his inquiry, the answer depends on the floor and in some measure upon some other circumstances to be noted presently.

An unvarnished wooden floor should be swept as often as required and washed with soap and water at longer intervals. Scrubbing roughens the surface and splinters the wood, especially if strong lye soaps are used. Tepid water, light soap, and a rag will clean well enough for ordinary scrubbings, while lye soap and a brush at long intervals will not roughen the wood enough to make it difficult to keep clean.

Putnam, in her book on school sanitation, advises sweeping with a hair broom covered with a piece of cloth from an ingrain carpet. This cloth should be moistened with a mixture of linseed oil, turpentine, and a little paraffin. She tells of a janitor who swept satisfactorily with a hair broom in the wooden cross piece of which there was a small receptacle which held a spoonful of kerosene, this dripping on the hairs of the broom.

The objection to sweeping after dusting a floor with wet sawdust is that fine splinters float up in the dust. Sawdust evenly impregnated with oil in which there is a little turpentine is better.

A varnished wooden floor should not be scrubbed. Hornsby of the Modern Hospital says "scrubbing kills varnish. Tepid water, light soapsuds, and a rag will clean and not attack the surface."

Vacuum cleaners are not satisfactory for bare floors. Linoleum should not be cleaned with a moist cloth or with a hair broom moistened with oil. The cracks in linoleum should be filled with a "hard filler" as often as is necessary. Cement, stone, and mosaic flooring should be cleaned with tepid water and light soapsuds. From time to time they should be scrubbed. For this purpose a mechanical scrubber is best if the amount of floor to be scrubbed is large.

Rugs and carpets are to be cleaned with a vacuum cleaner. One that shakes or beats as it sucks is best.

Assuming that the hospital in question has a cement or stone floor covered with rugs, it should be cleaned with tepid water, soapsuds, and a cloth. At intervals it should be scrubbed. If it is swept, oiled sawdust should first be sprinkled and then the sweeping done with a broom covered with an oiled cloth. The rugs should be cleaned with a vacuum cleaner.

In this connection it is worth while recalling that Hill holds that when the medical wards of a hospital are kept as clean as the surgical wards diseases will become milder.

COCOA IS NOURISHING.

D. M. writes: "I would appreciate your opinion of cocoa as a beverage for both adults and children."

REPLY.

It is good. It has more food value and is less of a stimulant than coffee or tea.

NO FOOD BEFORE SWIM.

S. writes: "In commenting on a recent drowning at the beach, a friend of mine made the remark: 'Some of them deserve to get cramps, considering what they eat.' He went on to say that he had noticed numbers of these young fellows go up to the lunch counter and eat such mixtures, for example as 'hot dogs' and ice cream, or some iced drink, and then go back into the water. 'Is it any wonder they get cramps?' he asks."

REPLY.

I have no doubt, but that the customs referred to contribute to cramps. Night cramps in the legs result from intestinal fermentation, then why not cramps while bathing? Going in the water while digestion is under way is always bad. Swimmers should not eat anything directly before going in or while lounging on the beach, or drink anything, or smoke. After a swim one has a great thirst and a good appetite. He should drink freely of wholesome drinks in order to supply the water lost during the swim. It is all right to eat heartily soon after a swim, but not just before one.

CURVATURE OF SPINE.

A. C. R. writes: "I am a young lady of 20 years of age and I have a curvature of the spine. About two years ago a physician advised me to buy a brace, which cost me $25. My left shoulder blade is much larger than the right and my right rib is larger than the left. I did not wear the brace long, as it was very uncomfortable. 1. Do you advise me to wear the brace? 2. Will it get worse as I grow older or after my 21st birthday will it get worse? 3. Is one-half inch considered a bad curvature?"

REPLY.

1. Yes.
2. Somewhat, in all probability.
3. One-half inch is not much curvature. If your left shoulder blade is much larger than your right and the ribs of the two sides are markedly unequal in length you probably have more than one-half inch of curvature. If you are to be cured of curvature of the spine you will have to put up with considerable inconvenience.

DISCHARGE FROM EAR.

M. K. L. writes: "1. Is it necessary to have an operation to stop a discharge from the ear? 2. If not, what is the best way to cure it?"

REPLY.

1. Not always. In fact, most cases are cured without an operation
2. That is a matter for your physician. Do not neglect it, as discharging ears are the most frequent causes of partial deafness in middle life.

NUMB HANDS IN SLEEP.

M. G. G. writes: "1. What, aside from bad posture, may be the cause of numbness of hands while sleeping and how may it be corrected? 2. Would an enlarged thyroid cause symptoms of rheumatism? 3. Does a high white blood count have any relation to enlarged thyroid?"

REPLY.

1. Eating too much starches and sweets. Intestinal fermentation.
2. I do not think so.
3. No, except in acute thyroid abscess.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

[Copyright: 1916: By the Brentwood Co.]

CAPT. FRANCIS CECIL ST. AUBYN, whose engagement to the Hon. Gwendolen Nicholson, only daughter of Sir Arthur Nicholson, late of the foreign office, recently elevated to the peerage as Lord Carnock, has just been announced, is next heir to the honors and estates of his dead father's elder brother, Lord St. Levan.

He is not described as such in the peerages and standard works of reference for the current year, as until a few months ago the heir to the St. Levan peerage was his uncle, Col. the Hon. Edward St. Aubyn, who lost his life in the spring when the liner Persia, on which he was traveling to Egypt, was torpedoed in the Mediterranean.

Col. St. Aubyn was not the only member of the family to lose his life in the war, as his younger brother, Capt. Piers Stewart St. Aubyn of the King's Royal Rifle corps fell in Flanders in October, 1914.

The entailed estates to which young Capt. St. Aubyn will succeed on the death of his uncle, Lord St. Levan, are extremely valuable and comprise St. Michael's Mount, on the coast of Cornwall, as well as most of the land on which the town of Devonport is built.

St. Michael's Mount, familiar to every traveler from this sid. of the Atlantic who touches or lands at Falmouth, is one of the most beautiful and picturesque places in England. It is a castle standing on a hill, has been described by the poet as "that beauteous gem set in the silver sea," and, like the Mont St. Michel of Normandy, which it closely resembles, is cut off from the mainland by sea, except at quite low tide.

It dates from Edward the Confessor, who in the early part of the eleventh century granted the place to some Benedictine monks, although, according to tradition, the first stronghold on St. Michael's Mount was built by the Cornish giant Cormoran. After the conquest it fell into the hands of William the Conqueror's half brother.

Thereupon, through his agency, the monks there affiliated themselves with the great Benedictine monastery of the Mont St. Michel in Normandy.

St. Michael's Mount soon became more of a fortress than a priory. King John was besieged there. The earl of Oxford defended it for Henry VI. against Edward IV. in the "war of the roses." In 1548 10,000 Catholics mustered there under Humphrey of Arundel to take up arms for the old religion.

In the civil war it was held for King Charles against Oliver Cromwell. Fifteen years after the siege it passed into the possession of the St. Aubyn family, of which Lord St. Levan is now the chief.

The old monastic buildings have been remodeled and rendered fit for the requirements of modern life. But the chapel is much as it once was with its secret dungeons beneath the stone floor and its winding stair leading to the roof of the great tower. Many a time has the kindling beacon of that tower flung its warning over sea and land, and the old stone cresset for holding the beacon fires is yet there.

It is known by the people in that part of England as St. Michael's chair, there being a tradition to the effect that whoever sits therein before marriage will rule the husband, or the wife, as the case may be. Nerves of the strongest kind and a head insensible to vertigo are required to occupy with safety so giddy a perch.

It will be noticed that in the peerages no attempt is made to trace the family of St. Aubyn beyond Sir Edward St. Aubyn, who was created a baronet in 1866 by Queen Victoria and who was the grandfather of the present peer.

This does not mean in any way that the St. Aubyns are a modern family. On the contrary, they are one of the oldest houses of Devonshire, having owned for many centuries most of the land on which the important seaport of Devonport now stands, and having, as I have mentioned above, been in the possession of St. Michael's Mount since the days of Oliver Cromwell.

Unfortunately, Sir John St. Aubyn, who died in 1839 as the holder of a baronetcy dating from the Stuart kings, had in his younger days become involved in one of those Scotch marriages which have furnished so much drama and romance to the houses of the British aristocracy. This Scotch marriage had the effect of invalidating a subsequent English union, and the result was that none of the children of this latter marriage was qualified by law to succeed to his honors.

Sir John took advantage of this to bequeath all his large estates not to his first born but to his third and favorite son, who received authority by royal license to use his father's name and armorial bearings, and who was, in return for political services, created a baronet in 1866, although illegitimately born in the eyes of the law.

His son and heir, who died eight years ago, was raised to the peerage twenty years later as Lord St. Levan, the title being derived from a Cornish village of that name that is part of the St. Aubyn property.

The present Lord St. Levan married a daughter of the earl of Mount Edgecombe, thus allying two of the great houses of the west of England. One of Lord St. Aubyn's sisters spent several months in New York last fall. She is the wife of Ernest Mallet, regent of the Bank of France, who came to this country as one of the two French members of Lord Chief Justice Reading's $500,000,000 loan mission.

Among the most interesting figures at the wedding of the Hon. Gwendolen Nicolson to Lord St. Levan's nephew and heir will be her grandmother, Mrs. Rowan Hamilton, now nearly 100 years old, and still retaining in an extraordinary degree the mental and physical alertness of a witty and sprightly woman half her age.

One of her daughters is Lady Carnock, the mother of the bride, and the other is the dowager marchioness of Dufferin, widow of Lord Dufferin, who was in turn governor general of Canada, viceroy of India, ambassador at Petrograd, Constantinople, Rome, and Paris, and who died in financial straits owing to the fact that he had considered himself obliged to spend every penny of the large salaries and allowances which he received in maintaining the dignity of the high offices intrusted to him, and that he also considered it necessary to dip extensively into his own private resources whenever the money that he received from the government proved inadequate to the purposes for which it was granted.

IMPROVEMENT OF RIDGEWAY AVENUE.

Chicago, July 23.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I noticed an item to the effect that the roll is now filed in court for the paving of North Ridgeway from Lawrence to Ainslie. Why not include the block between Ainslie and Argyle? If it is not paved at the same time it never will be.

L. MICKELSEN,
4015 North Ridgeway avenue.

Proceedings for paving Ridgeway avenue, between Lawrence avenue and Ainslie street, were started on a petition of the owners of over 700 feet of property fronting on Ridgeway avenue, between Lawrence avenue and Ainslie street. If the owners of the property between Ainslie and Argyle streets had desired to have that portion of the street paved, they should either have presented a petition to that effect to the board, or else had their signatures included with the petition for that portion of Ridgeway avenue between Lawrence avenue and Ainslie street. As the original petition limited the improvement between Lawrence avenue and Ainslie street only that portion of the street will be paved. The board of local improvements will start proceedings for paving Ridgeway avenue, between Ainslie and Argyle streets, upon receipt of a petition of some of the property owners fronting thereon.

M. J. FAHERTY,
President Board of Local Improvements.

SEWER IN SPAULDING AVENUE.

Chicago, July 22.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I should like to inquire when the sewer in North Spaulding avenue from Balmoral to Bryn Mawr avenue will be put in. There are at this writing three buildings on said street nearing completion and the fourth one under construction, and all will need sewer connections at an early date to make them desirable as dwellings. So far as the writer is aware, there are no objectors to said improvements. On the contrary, owners of frontage on said street are very anxious to have said sewer put in at the earliest possible moment.

J. E. CARLBERG, 1943 Balmoral avenue.

This board advertised for bids for the construction of a sewer in Spaulding avenue from Balmoral to Bryn Mawr avenue and the said bids were received and opened on July 19, 1916. A contract for the improvement will be awarded within the next two weeks.

M. J. FAHERTY,
President Board of Local Improvements.

NOTIFIED TO KEEP CANS COVERED.

Chicago, July 23.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I wish to call your attention to the insanitary condition existing in regard to the disposal of garbage from the flat buildings at 1215-1217 North La Salle street.

The garbage from the six flats situated here is gathered by the janitor and placed in large tin cans in the courtway between the two buildings. These receptacles are without covers and the space surrounding the cans is at times littered with the overflow of garbage.

ELIZABETH SCHOFIELD.

These premises have no connection with the alley and refuse is kept in receptacles in passageway at the rear of building. When inspection was made garbage cans were found covered, but dry refuse cans were not. Very little litter was found around the cans and but little refuse in them. Notice has been served on agents to have cans kept covered and passageway free from litter.

CHARLES S. SMITH,
Acting Assistant Superintendent of Streets.

ADVISE SIGNING LEASE.

Chicago, July 21.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—In April, the landlord from whom I had a lease expiring in May asked if I didn't want to purchase the place we were leasing. I asked if he would consider three suburban lots as first payment. He said to bring down the abstracts and he would look them over and make me a proposition. This he has never done, and now refuses to return abstracts unless we sign a new lease for the coming year. Please advise quickest and least expensive way to obtain these abstracts. The signing of lease is delayed on account of repairs many times promised and not attended to. I have reported sewer gas, leaks in roof, etc., many times and no attention has been paid. Can I withhold rent for these neglects? C. T. K.

By staying in after the expiration of the lease you gave the landlord the option of treating you as if in for a new term on the same rent. Since he can hold you whether you sign or not, we recommend that you sign in order to get back your abstracts. If the arrangements for repairs were not specified in the lease, they are not enforcible.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

SIMS STRONG FOR BATTLE CRUISERS

Washington, D. C., July 28.—Capt. W. Sims of the battleship Nevada, who was one of the star witnesses before the congressional naval committees during preparation of the naval bill, has reported in response to a request from Secretary Daniels that the battle off Jutland, in which British battle cruisers bore the brunt of the German fire, has not changed his belief as outlined at the committee hearings that both battle cruisers and battleships are essential types to round out the American navy.

Capt. Sims' report, dated July 9, never has been given out by the navy department. Secretary Daniels took exception to some passages in it as open to criticism on grounds of neutrality and requested that another be submitted in its place.

It was made public tonight as originally submitted, however, by Representative Oliver, a member of the house naval committee, who had written Capt. Sims asking whether the battle had changed his views.

In the course of his report Capt. Sims says:

"The contention of British writers that the sacrifice of the battle cruiser squadron in fighting a delaying action against battleships, late in the afternoon, was justified in the hope of bringing on a general action between the main fleets, is not believed to be sound, and this for the simple reason that the military situation did not require the British fleet to fight a decisive action, or any action at all, because they already had practically as complete control of the sea as would have resulted from the defeat of the enemy fleet.

"Control of the sea is accomplished when the enemy's fleet is defeated or 'contained,' and the German fleet has been contained since the beginning of the war, is now contained, and doubtless will remain so.

"There is no reason to believe that the Germans have ever intended to risk their fleet in a decisive action against the greatly superior British fleet. They are not in the habit of pitting any military force against twice its numbers of at least equally powerful units.

"There is, on the contrary, every reason to believe that the Germans knew exactly what they intended to do during this last sortie of the grand fleet, and it is a reasonable presumption that they accomplished what they intended, namely, the trapping and pounding of the British battle cruisers before they could be supported by the British main body.

"The surprise to naval critics, and doubtless to the Germans, was the extraordinary amount of damage they can inflict even against battleships. This indicates a greatly enhanced value when they are employed in their proper role in a general naval engagement, that is, with their enfilading fire as fast wings, their driving power on the scouting line, their support of destroyer attacks, etc.

"That the battleship must constitute the main strength of a naval force admits of no doubt, but, as I attempted to show by my testimony, an adequate force of battle cruisers is necessary in order that the battleships may be used against an enemy with their maximum power."

In his letter to Representative Oliver, sending a copy of the report, Capt. Sims said:

"Great Britain's control of the sea is due to the possession of certain types (and numbers) of vessels which enable her to accomplish two functions which are wholly essential to her success in this war. These are:

"'Prevention of invasion, by means of a battleship force so superior to that of the battleship force of her enemy that the latter cannot attempt to convey an army of invasion with any reasonable chance of success.

"'2. Protection of commerce, by means of a battle cruiser force so superior to that of the battle cruiser force of her enemy that the latter cannot take the sea for the destruction of British commerce with any reasonable chance of escaping destruction by the superior similar British force.'

"To put the extreme case, suppose Great Britain had built no battle cruisers, but had spent their cost in extra battleships. Neither this great force, nor a force of battleships twice as great, would have prevented the German battle cruisers taking the sea and interrupting the enemy's commerce, simply because Great Britain would have no types of vessels fast enough to overtake them and at the same time powerful enough to destroy them.

"Similarly also putting the extreme, suppose that Great Britain had built all battle cruisers and no battleships. The result would have been that the relatively more powerful German battleships, even though inferior in numbers, would have had control of the sea, at least in so far as concerned Germany's ability to send her battle fleet where she pleased and convey her troops.

"The British fleet being composed of nothing more powerful (in offensive and defensive qualities) than battle cruisers could not successfully oppose her. On the other hand, Germany would not have the freedom of the seas for her commerce because she would have nothing fast enough to catch the British battle cruisers."

HUGHES SILENT ON ACCEPTANCE SPEECH POINTS

Fear of Change in Mexican Situation Is One Explanation of Late Issuance.

Bridgehampton, N. Y., July 28.—[Special.]—Unless a burglar breaks into the summer home of Charles E. Hughes tonight and steals the one copy of his speech accepting the Republican presidential nomination the document will be sent to the printer tomorrow afternoon and shown on Sunday evening—less than twenty-four hours before its delivery in Carnegie hall—to only a few of Mr. Hughes' close personal friends and political advisers.

Besides himself, there are only two persons who have seen even parts of the speech. One is Mrs. Hughes; the other Lawrence H. Green, Mr. Hughes' private secretary, to whom portions of the speech have been dictated.

Fear Change in Mexico.

Only one explanation has been advanced so far to account for the eleventh hour issuance of copies of the speech. It is that Mr. Hughes and his managers realize that a change over night in the Mexican situation or the international conditions might compel the nominee to rewrite a few hours before delivery the two essential topics upon which he proposes to touch.

Although not stating directly that the managers of the Wilson campaign might take advantage of the Republicans should they learn exactly what the speech contains in time to "switch the cards" on Mr. Hughes, some Republican managers have admitted that they distrust "the enemy."

Willcox to Read Speech.

William R. Willcox, Republican national chairman, is coming here tomorrow to look over the completed draft of the speech. He will be the first person, outside of those already mentioned, to be accorded this privilege. When Mr. Willcox leaves some one in whom Mr. Hughes has implicit trust—probably Robert H. Fuller, secretary to Mr. Hughes when he was governor—will take the speech to the printer in New York.

So far as can be learned the speech contains from 8,000 to 10,000 words—enough to fill more than one page of the average newspaper. The Hughes managers say, however, that it is not any more lengthy than similar documents that have gone before.

The itinerary of Hughes' transcontinental trip, on which he will depart from New York on Aug. 5, probably will be given out tomorrow. His first stop will be at Niagara Falls, on Sunday, Aug. 6, where he will rest during the day and night, departing the next morning for Detroit, where he will make his first campaign appeal on Aug. 7.

T. R. at Hughes' Ceremonies.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 28.—[Special.] Col. Roosevelt has accepted the invitation of the Republican national committee to speak at the notification ceremonies of Charles E. Hughes at Carnegie hall Monday night, and his address on that occasion is expected to be one of the strongest documents of the campaign.

MOOSE MEET NEXT MONTH TO DECIDE ON CONVENTION.

Conference Will Be Held in Indianapolis—May Complete the National Ticket.

New York, July 28.—A national conference of Progressives at Indianapolis on Aug. 3 was called today by Matthew Hale of Massachusetts, acting chairman of the national committee. The conference will decide whether a convention shall be called to complete the national ticket.

There will be a frank airing of views at the Indianapolis meeting, it was said. One section of the Progressives who have not returned to the Republican ranks is desirous that a formal convention be held to place a ticket in the field.

Another section contends, it was stated tonight, that such a step would not be practicable, because the party machinery in many of the states is in the hands of men who have declared their allegiance to the Republican party.

WILSONS LEAVE ON CRUISE.

President and Wife to Pass Week End on Mayflower Down Chesapeake Bay.

Washington, D. C., July 28.—President and Mrs. Wilson left Washington late this afternoon for a week end cruise on the naval yacht Mayflower down Chesapeake bay.

CEMENT MEN APPEAL TO U. S.

Representatives of La Salle and Oglesby Workers Ask Secretary Wilson to Investigate.

Ottawa, Ill., July 28.—Representatives of the 2,500 striking cement workers at La Salle and Oglesby, Ill., tonight appealed to Secretary of Commerce Wilson to investigate working conditions at the mills in the La Salle district.

ROBERT STILL WITH US

Monkey's Health is Carefully Guarded Against Day When He Will Be Infected With Infantile Paralysis.

Miss Edna Du Bois with Robert

Robert the Monk still is standing guard against the infantile paralysis epidemic. The little jester of the jungle which was sent to Dr. John Dill Robertson, health commissioner, from the Rockefeller institute in New York to be used in serum tests in fighting infantile paralysis is not to die yet awhile.

The monkey is in charge of Miss Edna Du Bois, laboratory assistant in the health department. Robert's temperature is taken daily and his health is watched with the most jealous care, for he must be in good health if he is to aid humanity.

But one of these days a little injection of blood from some sick child who the doctors think has infantile paralysis will be sent into Robert's system, and if the child really has the disease Robert will take leave of this earth. He is of the type of monkey that most readily yields to the poliomyelitis infection.

WOMEN AFTER CANDIDATES' VIEWS ON SUFFRAGE LAW.

Start Chain Letter Campaign to Learn Views of Men Who Want to Go to Legislature.

State legislative candidates will be subjected during the next few days to a bombardment of chain letters from suffragists. The organization back of the scheme is the pre-primary committee for the principles of legislation, composedof Mrs. A. H. Schweizer, Miss Anne Okeson, Miss Kate Adams, Miss E. L. Carpenter, Mrs. Harriet Stokes Thompson, Mrs. Julius Loeb, Mrs. Robert Kohlhammer, Mrs. Daniel G. Trench, Mrs. Martin K. Northam, and Mrs. Jean Wallace Butler.

Three thousand letters were sent yesterday to suffrage leaders of Cook county. Each contained post cards to be sent to candidates or filled out from information furnished by candidates. The women are particularly interested in knowing how each candidate stands on the question of repealing the woman's suffrage law. They understand a spirited effort is to be made to wipe it off the statute books.

The cards also demand information on the several other subjects that have been or will be before the next legislature. Among these are the constitutional convention, the women's nine hour labor bill, and the "one day of rest in seven" bill.

Those who receive the 3,000 letters are asked to fill out the cards and return them to headquarters before the primaries campaigns are well under way. All replies are to be card indexed.

TWO WOMEN HURT IN CRASH.

Miss Pauline Smith, 4022 North Albany avenue, and Martha Berry, 15 years old, 3841 North Claremont avenue, were injured and other passengers on a Lincoln avenue car were shaken yesterday when an automobile crashed into the side of it in front of 1131 North Clark street.

DUNNE MEN BACK HARRISON SLATE, M'KENNA SAYS

"Anti-Tammany" Leader Asserts Governor's Friends Will Aid New Ticket.

Philip J. McKenna, acting chairman of the "Anti-Tammany Democratic organization," issued a statement last night affirming there will be Dunne men on the anti-Sullivan county slate and that the ticket to be nominated Monday at the Briggs house will have the support of the governor's friends.

It was verified, however, from a half dozen sources that John P. Gibbons, now state grain registrar, who was slated for recorder, and Peter Angsten, secretary of the state industrial commission, tentatively agreed upon for board of review, will not be on the Harrison slate.

McKenna's Statement.

This is what Mr. McKenna said:

"Friends of Gov. Dunne will be represented on the list of candidates to be submitted next Monday at the Briggs house for approval of the convention."

To this statement, former Mayor Carter H. Harrison added this:

"I was in hopes that a primary fight would be obviated this fall, but the so-called Tammany organization, drunk with power, trampled reason, fairness and common sense under foot by its arbitrary refusal to give our organization the places on the ticket to which it is fairly entitled."

G. O. P. to Get Some "Light."

"Let a Little Sunshine In" is the new hymn of the regular Republican organization, emphasized by the announcement from headquarters that ward and precinct workers are about to be enlightened concerning the working agreement that has been reached between the city hall and neutral factions.

"Just what brought about the coalition between these two forces will be explained at massmeetings in the various wards," says the statement. "These meetings will not be featured by the blare of brass bands and the glare of red fire, but will be solely for the purpose of discussing plans whereby the Deneen ticket may be eliminated from the fight on primary day."

The first meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, Aug 2, at Biograph hall, 2433 Lincoln avenue, for workers from the Twenty-first, Twenty-second, Twenty-third, and Twenty-fourth wards—the old Busse string.

INVITE MEDICAL LEADERS TO WAR ON CHILD DISEASE.

Prof. Hektoen, Chicago, and Prof. Vaughan, Ann Arbor, Have Been Asked to Attend Conference.

New York, July 28.—Concerted warfare upon infantile paralysis by the most eminent specialists in medical research in the United States will be planned at a meeting to be held in this city in the near future, Health Commissioner Haven Emerson announced tonight. Funds to defray the expenses of the conference were provided yesterday by the board of estimate.

Eleven of the country's most prominent specialists and one in Canada have been invited to attend the conference, and four already have accepted. It is expected more invitations will be sent out. The laboratory research work will continue for several months, but as the experiments progress it is expected preventive and precautionary measures will be formulated that will aid greatly in handling the cases that develop.

Among those who have accepted the invitation is Prof. Victor C. Vaughan, dean of the medical college of the University of Michigan.

Prof. Ludwig Hektoen, professor of pathology, University of Chicago, is among those invited and from whom acceptance is awaited.

NUTSHELL POLITICS

Jottings on Candidates and Events in National, State, and County Campaigns.

John T. Clyne of Joliet has issued another "sermonette" to voters of the Copley congressional district under the title "Headed for the Rocks" and "The Dollar Mark."

Ald. C. E. Merriam has taken on the business of lining up the Progressives for Morton D. Hull for governor. Yesterday he sent out an appeal to Progressive county chairman and members of the state committee explaining the action of the Cook county Progressive committee in indorsing Hull.

Felix A. Norden, candidate for the Republican nomination for assessor, has issued an appeal to voters to support the tax amendment to the constitution that will be up for ratification at the November election.

The Illinois Woman's Republican league, according to an announcement from regular Republican county headquarters, has indorsed these candidates, in addition to Hughes and Fairbanks: Frank O. Lowden, for governor; John G. Oglesby, for lieutenant governor; Albert Erickson, for secretary of state; Edward J. Brundage, for attorney general; Mary E. Busey, for university trustee, and Oliver F. Paisley and William Malone, for members of the state board of equalization from the Tenth and Seventh congressional districts. Included in the indorsements are the candidates on the regular slate for county offices.

The Third ward Republican organization has indorsed Lowden for governor and Brundage for attorney general.

The Lowden campaign in Cook county is to be handled henceforth by the organization that nominated the city hall-neutral slate, accordings to arrangements concluded yesterday.

The following names were added yesterday to the petitions for primary elections Sept. 3: Peter Bartzen, 2546 Lawrence avenue, Democrat, for president of sanitary board; Oscar Hebel, 1342 North Dearborn street, Republican, for Superior court judge.

PARALYSIS KILLS BABY IN EAST CHICAGO, IND

Tony Kanuk, the 2 year old son of Mr and Mrs. Anthony Kanuk of East Chicago, Ind., succumbed to infantile paralysis last night. This is the first case of the disease reported in Lake county.

Two cases were discovered by Health Commissioner Roone in the Polish settlement of Evanston yesterday. The victims are Josephy McChonsky, 1 year old, 1034 Dewey avenue, who was left at home, and George Volinsky, 3 years old, 1001 Dodge avenue, who was taken to the Isolation department of the Evanston hospital. The boys were playmates. Dr. Roone believes the older boy contracted the disease from the younger one.

In Chicago there are now twenty-seven cases of the disease. One new case in the neighborhood of Ellsabeth and Forty-ninth streets was reported during the day.

SEDAN OUTRUNS TWO YEAR OLDS IN EASY RACE

Quietly Developed Colt Shows Speed in First Start; Favorites Win.

BY J. J. ALCOCK.

Sedan, the 2 year old phenom, which the Weber & Ward stable has been grooming quietly for a brush with the great Harry Kelly in a $17,500 stake at Saratoga, was let loose at Hawthorne yesterday and justified all the wonderful things his owners have been claiming for him. In a field of eight fair youngsters the sturdy son of Jim Gaffney—Kitty Belle Brooks went out by himself and won as he pleased.

Attachés of the stable claim Sedan is the best proportioned colt they ever saw. That may be an exaggeration, but the colt certainly is beautifully muscled. His every movement bespeaks a world of reserve strength.

Sedan 7 to 10 Choice.

Sedan was a 7 to 10 choice when the betting closed on the second race and the phenom won as he pleased in the five and one-half furlongs dash. The long shot of the day turned up in the third race of six furlongs, and the finish was so finely drawn nobody knew the winner until the numbers went up. Biddy, an outsider, which brought 20 to 1 from friendly bookies, copped by a head from Mary H., the 7 to 5 favorite. Mary H. was only a neck in front of Rapids, and the latter had but half a length to spare over Mikifula. That finish was one of the best of the meeting.

Another popular choice went over in the fourth, a mile and one-sixteenth handicap and the carded feature. Hocnir rewarded his backers at 5 to 2. Hocnir got off well and was eased up at the finish. Blue Grass Belle, which opened at even money and dropped to 9 to 10, proved her favoritism was well deserved by paying off in the fifth race, a five and one-half furlong event for 2 year olds. Jockey Claver on Belle had to do a lot of riding in the stretch to stave off the determined bid made by Milbrey, a 3 to 1 second choice, which drew the backing of a lot of "wise" money.

Four Favorites Winners.

It was a day of good breaks for the talent, four favorites rewarding the form followers. For those spectators who knew not how to nod there were two eyelash finishes. Then, to round out on interesting afternoon, Little Bigger, a well played contender in the last race, fell while rounding the turn into the stretch and threw her jockey, the diminutive R. Hack. Neither horse nor pilot was badly damaged.

FREDDIE WELSH TRIMS LEONARD IN TEN ROUNDS

Champion, Always the Aggressor, Scores an Easy Victory at Brooklyn.

"TRIBUNE" DECISIONS

Decisions of "Tribune" fight representatives last night were:

At Brooklyn—Fredde Welsh beat Benny Leonard (10).

At Boston—Johnny Wilson knocked out Jo Farren (3).

BY IGOE.

New York, July 28.—[Special.]—Freddie Welsh was a real world's lightweight champion at Washington park in Brooklyn tonight. He defeated Benny Leonard by a wide margin in ten rounds, outpointing, outguessing, and actually outpunching him. Welsh was tireless, proving that he trained faithfully for once.

Leonard never was able to take the lead except, perhaps, in the second round. In this Benny drove his right repeatedly to Welsh's ribs, a new blow with him, and the round was almost over before Welsh found a defense for it.

Welsh's left hand did the best work. It was ever in Leonard's face, and the fight had not gone three rounds before Benny's eyes were blinking in a bewildered way. Welsh had learned most of the secrets of Benny's art in their first fight, evidently, for he made Leonard miss and flounder as he has not done since his back lot days. Once Welsh was in motion it was evident that Benny's chances of winning the title were slim.

Leonard's right hand punch found empty ozone most of the time. Old Man Welsh's craftiness had the youngster completely baffled. To make his mistake all the harder, Leonard never had the satisfaction of seeing Welsh take a back step. It was the champion's never ending, onward drive that forced Leonard to the third line trenches.

The surprising part of Welsh's masterful fight was his hitting. Time after time he sent Benny back with solid whacks to the jaw. Benny came back after these punches with a worried look on his face. Welsh smiled confidently each time he blocked one of Benny's hard thumps.

Freddie Shows Great Defense.

Welsh's defense was as perfect as possible. That, combined with his determined aggressiveness, spells the story of the fight. It was Leonard's inability to land and block Welsh's uncanny attack that made Benny lose so far off.

K. of C. Picnic Today.

Track events to be held in connection with the Knights of Columbus outing at Riverview park today have attracted 114 entries. A baseball game between the Santa Maria and Charles Carroll Council nines for the K. C. championship of Illinois will be another feature.

WINNER—B. g., by Oddfellow—Ferrol [trained by G. Henze; bred by F. A. Forsythe].

Went to post at 2:35. At post one minute. Start good and slow. Won driving; second and third the same. FELLOWMAN was away forwardly and, after racing close up, wore WILD BEAR down before rounding into the stretch and outstayed WATERPROOF in the final drive. WATERPROOF, away slowly and forced to go wide, closed a big gap and finished fastest of all. OROTUND also made up much ground and, after coming wide on the stretch turn, finished fast and gamely. SMUGGLER ran fairly well. WILD BEAR set a good early pace and quit in the stretch. The winner was entered for $300; no bid.

Scratched—Harwood, 112; Bean Spiller, 110; Fleuron II., 110; World's Wonder, 112.
Overweights—Smuggler, 2½ pounds.

WINNER—B. c., by Jim Gaffney—Kitty Belle Brooks [trained by J. S. Ward; bred by W. F. Schulte].

Went to post at 3:08. At post six minutes. Start good and slow. Won easily; second and third driving. SEDAN raced into a long lead at once and won as his rider pleased. SLEEPER was under restraint for the first half and moved up fast in the stretch into a game second. MELIA showed a good order of speed and held on fairly well in the closing drive. JOVIAL lacked early speed, but was gaining at the end. BYRNE pulled SIGNORETTE up in the stretch when she quit.

Overweights—Jovial, 3 pounds.

THIRD RACE.

WINNER—B. f., by Dick Welles—Lady Armath [trained by F. Hulse; bred by C. W. Reidinger].

Went to post at 3:45. At post five minutes. Start bad and slow. Won driving; second and third the same. BIDDY was lucky at the start and, showing much speed, was saved close up to the last turn, where she was cut off, but recovered fast and, finishing gamely, got up to win in the last stride. MARY H. showed the most speed and set a good pace, but tired right at the end. RAPIDS also was lucky at the start and ran a good race. MIKIFULA tired in the stretch. THISTLE GREEN had no mishaps. JIM WAKELY was away poorly. MILTON CAMPBELL and DANCING SUN were caught in the barrier and left. The winner was entered for $600; no bid.

Scratched—Jerry, 109; Solid Rock, 107; Corkey W., 107; Busy Alice, 105; Patricius, 104.
Overweights—Jim Wakely, 4½ pounds.

Time, 24 4-5, 49 3-5, 1:15 2-5, 1:41, 1:47 2-5. Track fast.

WINNER—B. g., by Voorhees—Emir [trained by M. Lowenstein; bred by Adolph B. Spreckels].

Went to post at 4:19. At post four minutes. Start fair and slow. Won easily; second and third driving. HOCNIR, away forwardly and showing the most speed, moved into the lead at once and held sway for the entire race to win easing up. STAR OF LOVE raced in closest pursuit all the way and held on gamely in the final drive. OLGA STAR raced into third place on the first turn and led the others throughout. GROVER HUGHES was away slowly and always outpaced. FLORAL PARK showed speed, but tired. The winner, entered for $1,500, was bid up to $1,800 and bought by K. Spence.

FIFTH RACE.

5½ furlongs. Purse $500. 2 year olds. Selling. Net value to winner, $400; second, $70; third, $30.

WINNER—Ch. f., by Great Heavens—Abrasion [trained by H. G. Bedwell; bred by Francis J. Pons].

Went to post at 4:53. At post three minutes. Start good and slow. Won driving; second and third the same. BLUE GRASS BELLE, close up from the start, passed the early leaders before rounding into the stretch, but had to be ridden hard in the last sixteenth to outstay MILBREY. The latter, away slowly, gained steadily and was going fast at the end. JUSTIFY showed a high order of speed and set a good pace for a half mile, but tired. MEELOGENE closed a gap. OAKWOOD BOY, away forwardly, tired in the stretch drive. The winner was entered for $800; no bid.

SIXTH RACE.

Hawthorne Notes

Getaway day today.

An added feature of the final day's card will be a polo pony race.

After Hocnir took the handicap K. Spence bid him up $300, and J. Lowenstein let the gelding go for $1,800.

Many of the horses at Hawthorne will be shipped to Saratoga, where the meeting opens Monday. Some of the owners started shipping Thursday night.

There was better than an average crowd out, despite the intense heat. The torrid weather made the horses fractious and a lot of time was wasted at the post.

Louie Peters, the "man behind the labor" in the Hawthorne revival, will conduct a nine day meeting at the Sister Cities course, representing Moline, Rock Island, and Davenport. The meeting is slated to open on Aug. 9.

The getaway feature is the Illinois Jockey club gold cup handicap, with $2,000 added. Dodge and Franklin from the Weber & Ward stable; Faux Col and Leo Skolny of the Mackenzie string; Olga Star and Guide Post from the Dickerson stable; Grover Hughes and Herbert Temple are named to start.

At an auction sale in the morning M. Quinn, the Kansas City turfman, disposed of his entire string. Low prices were the rule, Bonanza bringing top figures, $1,800. M. Shields bought the aged gelding for that sum and Bonanza carried his colors in the fourth race.

TWO ST. LOUIS BOYS AMONG STARS LISTED IN RIVER SWIM TODAY

After being allowed to lapse last year because of the Eastland disaster, the annual Chicago river swim will be revived today, starting at 2:30 o'clock at the old Columbia Yacht club.

The swim, under the direction of the Illinois A. C., will be from the foot of Randolph street out through the harbor to the life saving station and up the river to Fifth avenue. Perry McGillivray and Mike McDermott of the I. A. C., Clement Browne and W. L. Wallen Jr. of the Hamilton club; I. Wood, C. A. A., and Herman Laubis and Larry Sparks of the Missouri A. A. of St. Louis are favorites for the race.

The winner's name will be engraved on the William Hale Thompson trophy. The mayor will act as referee.

CHICAGO BOYS IN REGATTA.

Chicago will be represented in six events of the southwestern regatta at St. Louis today and tomorrow. The Lincoln Park Boat club will send a delegation consisting of C. C. Loehde, A. Anderson, G. R. Levey, J. Hemper, Jim Salle, Walter Kelly, A. Johnson, A. Rehberger, and G. C. K. Johnson.

SHAWKEY AND YANKS BUMP SOX, 5-3; M'CONNELL'S PASSES BEAT CUBS, 2-1

Hose Get Three in Ninth, but Rally Ends with Two on Bases.

ROOKIE STAR OF GAME.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Bob Shawkey, one of those roving graduates of Connie Mack's school of baseball and economics, hurled the White Sox to defeat in the final game of the series against the New York Yankees and now Comiskey's boys are three and a half combats from first place once more, while the Yanks proudly left Chicago last night still carrying the first place banner. The score was 5 to 3 and the Sox gathered all three of their tallies in a bang up ninth inning rally which lacked a couple of singles or a good solid double of tying the count.

For seven innings Shawkey was a high roller on the slab. He didn't give the Sox anything that looked like a base hit until the eighth, when Hap Felsch poled one to the left wall for two sacks.

After losing his opportunity to enter the hall of fame with a no hit contest and having a lead of five runs in the ninth, Shawkey yielded to the sultry heat and the Sox knocked out four hits in succession before the New Yorker decided it was time to exert himself once more. He made the next two pop up and then allowed another harmless single. With the two runs needed to tie on the bases Shano Collins was sent up to deliver the necessary two bagger, but his best was a smart rap to the third baseman, which ended the fight.

Recruit Stars for Victors.

Another conspicuous reason why the Sox were beaten was the presence of a new center fielder for New York in the person of Elmer Miller, who arrived yesterday morning from Baltimore. The youngster broke into the big league with three singles and one base on balls in five trips to the plate. Two of his singles drove runners over the plate and he finished his first day's work by stealing a base on Ray Schalk.

In the third round Nunamaker doubled after one was out, Shawkey grounded out, then the kid Miller poled safely to right, sending Nunamaker home. In the seventh Nunamaker started a fuss again after one was out when he singled to right. Shawkey followed with a blow to the same field, sending Nunamaker to third, and when Murphy's heave went into the Sox coop Nunamaker scored and Shawkey went to third, from where he counted on Miller's single.

Two More for New York.

With one out in the eighth Oldring walked and took third on Gedeon's single. The latter followed by stealing second and Schalk bluffed a peg, then shot to third trying to pick Oldring off. The ball hit the runner in the feet, caromed off to foul ground, and Oldring counted while Gideon reached third, from where he scored on Boone's single.

When the ninth arrived Murphy led off with a single to right. Weaver followed with one to left and E. Collins with one to center, his blow driving Murphy home. Jackson next rapped one past second for a single, but Peck knocked it down and tossed to second for a possible force play. His toss went over Gedeon's head, and while the latter was recovering and holding the ball both Weaver and E. Collins scored. The next two popped up, then Lapp singled for Schalk, but it all ended when J. Collins rolled to Boone.

Notes

Connie Mack brings his school children to the south side today to start a series of eight games in five days. A double header will take place today, first game beginning at 1:30 o'clock.

Fournier dropped to earth for the count at the start of the ninth inning. He was standing at first base when Faber fired a ball at him, thinking the Frenchman was looking. Jack didn't see it, but felt it as it bored into his stomach.

Roy Hartzell, who has been utility expert for the Yankees this year, was shipped to Baltimore yesterday in exchange for Young Miller. Roy has been in the big league about ten years, starting with the St. Louis Browns.

Jack Ness was taken sick during the combat yesterday. Base hits scooting past him along with the tropical sun blazing into his eyes put him on the bum and he retired to the cooler in the seventh, Fournier taking his place.

The Sox and Macks have to play off four postponements from June, when the easterners were here four days without getting a chance to play. Next Wednesday is an open date in the schedule and one of them will be played on that day with double headers today and probably tomorrow and Monday.

Braves Gather Only Four Hits, but Walks Lead to Both Tallies.

NEHF HOLDS TINKERS.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Boston, Mass., July 28.—[Special.]—George McConnell's wildness proved his undoing today in the final game of the set here and spelled victory for the Braves by a score of 2 to 1, although they could amass only four singles off the pitters of the elongated Cub hurler.

Five bases on balls were issued by McConnell, and two of them cost runs. One of the passes pushed a runner up to third base, from where he registered the winning tally on a long fly. Nehf, the southpaw who opposed George on the mound, was under perfect control except in the first inning, when he winged Cy Williams so badly on the wrist that the Park Ridge hero had to retire for repairs.

Cubs Handed Lone Tally.

Not a base on balls did Nehf issue in nine rounds, and the Cubs could not have scored off him with their five scattered wats if his support had not been full of holes. Evers and Maranville played a oor game in the field. Each of them booted two easy chances and Evers saved himself a third error which would have tossed off the victory in the ninth by scooping the ball off the dirt to Maranville, who caught it with cat like agility in time to force a Cub runner and save whole grist of trouble.

The game was contested under the best conditions that have prevailed since the Cubs hit Beantown, as it did not rain and the soggy grounds presented something like the appearance of a ball park. The turf still was too heavy for swatting, however, and there would have been little life in the scrap but for the bitterness of feeling between the two teams, which cropped out in considerable airy persiflage with a keen razor edge that cut the atmosphere, but as a rule failed to penetrate the hides of the athletes

Knabe "Goat" for Umpires.

Knabe was the daily victim of the umpires' authority and he was merely chased off the coaching lines for giving a too good imitation of a parrot. He came back to fall heir to the ultimate pinch and perish in it.

The Braves counted their first run in the third, which was inaugurated by Gowdy with a clean single. Nehf fouled out trying to bunt, but Maranville was passed and shortly started a double steal on which Gowdy walked home because Fischer's throw got by everybody. Evers and Wilhoit then flew out.

In the fourth, with one gone, Koney caught everybody napping with a bunt toward third and beat it out. He reminded one of a runaway ice wagon. Smith singled to left, then Snodgrass was passed, filling the bases. Gowdy hoisted a fly so far to left that Koney loped home on it with the winning tally.

Tinkers Score in Fifth.

The Tinx counted their lone run in the fifth when Zim was given his life by Maranville's fumble, went to second on Kelly's out, and reached third on Wortman's single, which Evers partially stopped. Saier responded here with a fly to short center and Snodgrass threw the ball wide of the pate, letting Zim register on what ought to have been an easy double play. Fischer grounded.

Notes

Boston, Mass., July 28.—[Special.]—At Philadelphia tomorrow.

Gowdy was fined $25 for his exhibition of folly in the ninth inning of yesterday's game.

The Cub batting order was shaken up, Zeider taking the leadoff and Wortman going back to sixth place, while Saier was dropped to seventh on the list.

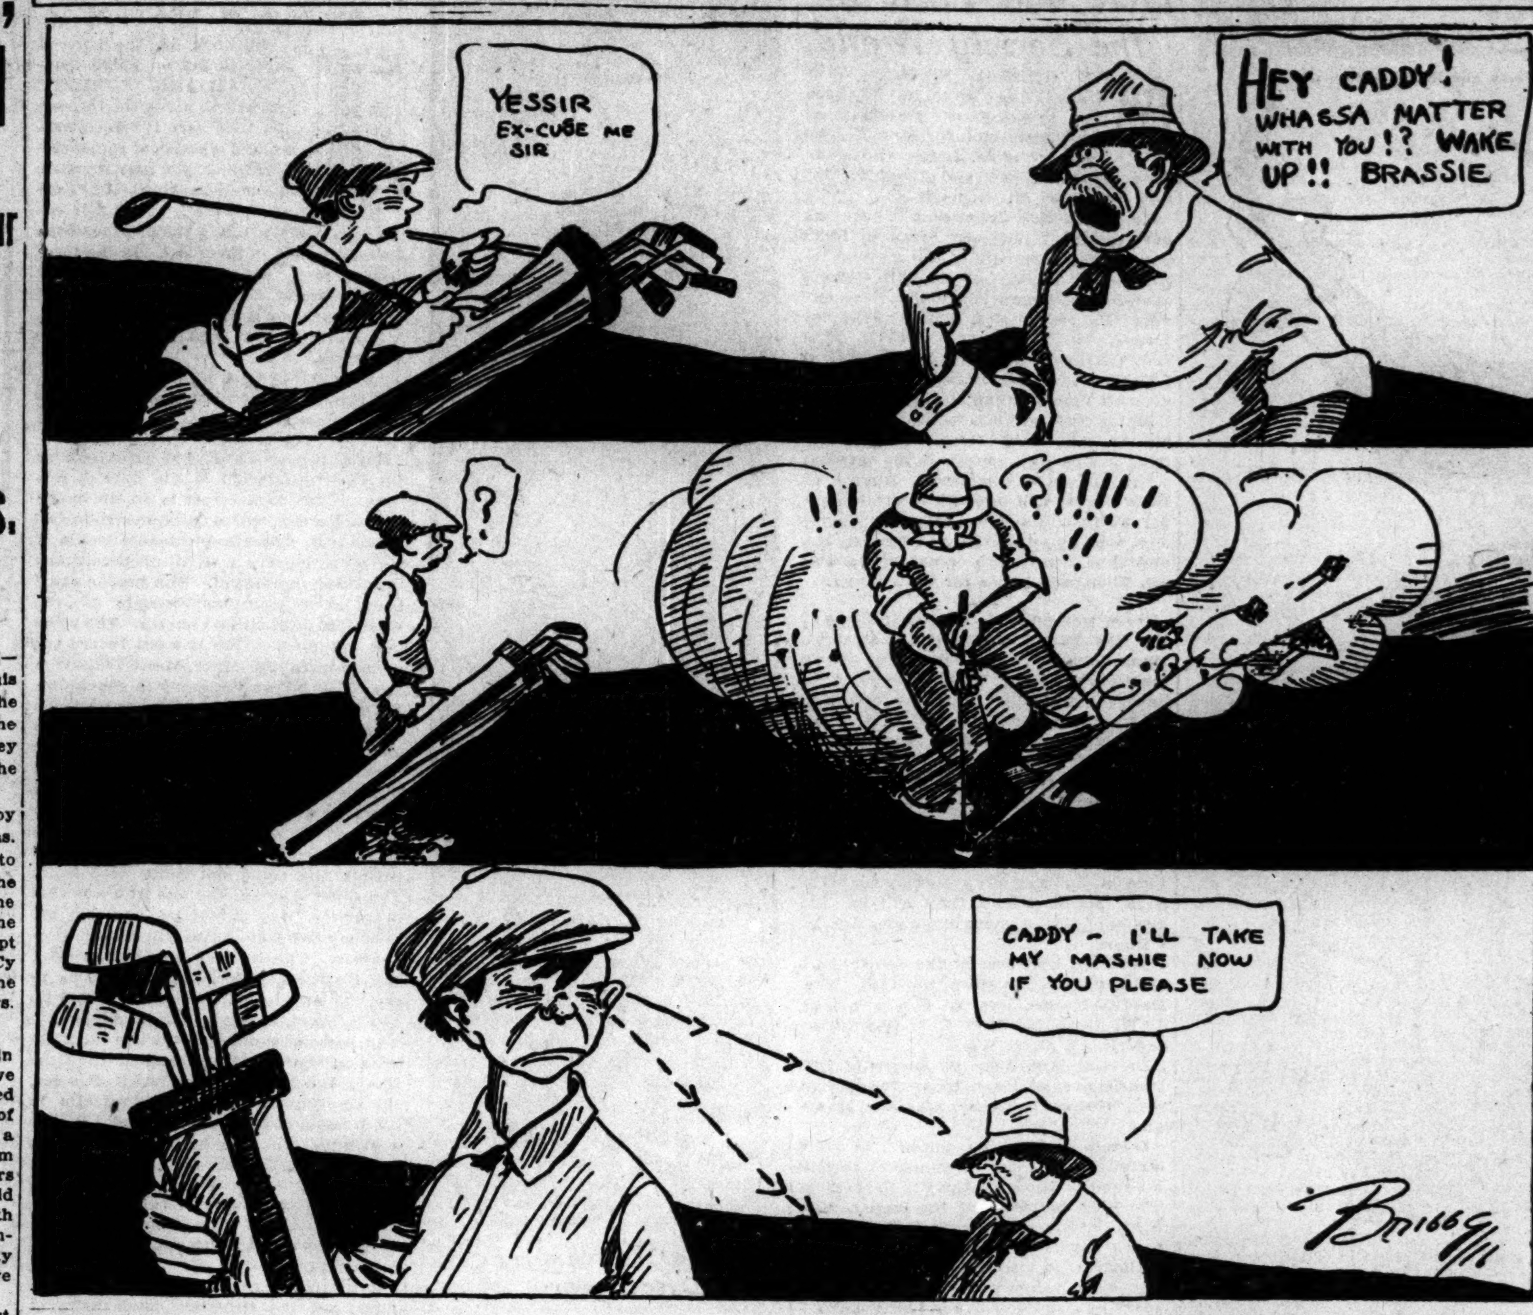

Maranville caught everybody off watch with the ball in McConnell's hands in the seventh inning and stole second unmolested. It didn't happen to matter.

The Cubs left at midnight for Quakertown and were sorry enough to quit the ocean breeze that has kept them from suffering the heat that is roasting the rest of the map.

For the first time this season Fischer made a throw to second base to break up a double steal in the third inning and nobody was looking for it. Hitherto Bli always has bluffed and tried for the man on third.

New flags adorned the Brave park in place of the old tattered ones. The groundkeeper showed his sense of humor by flying the St. Louis and Cincinnati banners upside down. They were in distress, all right.

GOLF VETS MASS AT SKOKIE LINKS IN ANNUAL EVENT

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Seated like a general in his tent, with war maps all around him, Tom Bendelow yesterday directed the movements of the greatest veteran golfing brigade ever assembled at the Skokie Country club. There were scoreboards to the right of him and more to the left of him and others in front of him.

The annual tournament for players over 30 years old drew a field of 180. Activities began with the advent of the early morning worm and finished with the coming of the fireflies. In spite of the tropical heat, no casualties were reported, the lemonade corps stationed at various sectors of the battlefield supplying fresh "pep" to the forces in action against Col. Bogey.

Remodeled Links Stiff Test.

Skokie's remodeled course proved a stiff test for even the best of the veterans, not a player being able to get under 80. George McConnell of Edgewater led the field in the qualifying round with 80. Going out he cut two strokes under par with 35, but a trio of sixes coming home hoisted his total to 45. His card follows:

Out	3	3	4	4	5	5	4	4	3—35
Par	5	3	5	4	5	4	3	5	3—37
In	5	6	5	3	4	6	4	6	6—45—80
Par	5	5	4	3	4	4	4	4	5—38—75

Other Leading Scores.

Other leading cards were: S. A. Willmarth, Skokie, 40—41—81; Armand Brand, Lake Geneva, 41—41—82; W. D. Fitch, Indian Hill, 41—41—82; J. T. Ling, Westmoreland, 39—43—82; M. D. Millner, Wheaton, 43—40—83; F. B. Farnsworth, Evanston, 37—46—83; M. P. Noyes, Skokie, 41—42—83; C. A. Fox, Skokie, 38—46—84; L. J. Hopkins, Skokie, 40—44—84; F. M. Warden, unattached, 42—42—84; H. Spear, La Grange, 42—42—84.

Twenty-two flights qualified the first match round, which was by card comparison, resulting as follows:

In the Wake of the News

By RING W. LARDNER

INTERVIEWS.

DENIZENS of the Lincoln park zoo were interviewed Thursday on the matter of Cy De Vry's proposed departure to accept a higher salaried position on the Pacific coast. Most of them seemed glad of the opportunity to talk for publication and expressed opinions freely.

Gus Giraffe was the first one visited.

"Well, Mr. Giraffe," I said, "will you get along all right if Mr. De Vry goes?"

"Not a-tall," said Gus.

At the elks' home, Brother Elk called the grand exalted ruler.

"Hello, Bill," said I. "Did you know there was danger of Cy De Vry's leaving?"

"Deer, deer," was his subdued comment.

I stopped at the kangaroo's house.

"Kang," I said, "what do you think about Cy De Vry's proposed resignation?"

"It makes me hopping mad," said Kang.

I was next put off at Buffalo.

"Did you know Cy De Vry was going away?" I asked the one nearest me.

"So I herd," he replied. "Good bison."

Then I encountered a squirrel.

"Cy De Vry's going to leave you," said I.

"Nuts on that stuff," said he.

Then I did the bear.

"What do you think of Cy De Vry's projected departure?" I queried.

"I think it's a cinn'mon," he answered in the native Scotch.

"Did you know Cy De Vry was going to leave?" I asked the tiger.

"Ee-yah," he answered.

The ape was unfriendly towards reporters.

"Don'. monkey with me," was his greeting.

Next I called on the elephant.

"Cy's going to leave, eh?" I said.

"Yes, he's borrowed my trunk," said Jumbo.

"Have you a cigaret?" I asked.

"No, but I got the makin's," he replied. "Here's a pachyderm." [Adv.]

I stopped at the Russian wolf's den.

"What do you think about De Vry?" queried.

"I haven't thoughtsky," he answered. "I don't believe he'll goavitch."

And the alligator said:

"Massa, you-all's makin' a big mistake eavin' dat man git away. Yessuh. Yes, SUH!"

Others asked to be quoted as follows:

The Guan: "Arrah guan, you better go back to Oregon.

The dromedary: "Humph."

Herbert Camel: "Humph, humph."

The bull.

ARMSTRONG PUTS OUT GRIFFIN IN FIVE SETS; JAP DEFEATS NILES

Boston, Mass., July 28.—Clarence J. Griffin of San Francisco, who won an unlooked for victory over R. Norris Williams II. of Cambridge, former national champion, in the early stages of the Longwood singles play, was himself the victim of a sensational upset in the fourth round. Griffin was defeated by J. J. Armstrong of Philadelphia, 6—3, 3—6, 6—3, 5—7, 6—4. Armstrong's well rounded game was more than a match for the Californian's smashing tactics, and the Philadelphian's well placed drives repeatedly caught Griffin out of position.

For the first time the gallery was able to get a line on the ability of I. Kumagae, Japanese champion, who met his first hard opponent in N. W. Niles of this city. The Japanese won in five gruelling sets, showing court covering ability, keen strategy and execution, and an ability to handle with the greatest ease the Boston man's tricky service. The scores were 6—4, 2—6, 6—4, 2—6, 6—3. Summaries:

LONGWOOD SINGLES.

Third round—N. W. Niles, Boston, defeated Richard Harte, Philadelphia, 6—3, 4—6, 3—6, 6—4, 10—8.

Fourth round—I. Kumagae, Tokio, defeated N. W. Niles, Boston, 6—4, 2—6, 6—4, 2—6, 6—3; J. J. Armstrong, Philadelphia, defeated C. J. Griffin, San Francisco, 6—3, 3—6, 6—3, 5—7, 6—4; W. M. Washburn, New York, defeated E. P. Larned, Bernardsville, N. J., 2—6, 10—8, 8—6, 6—4.

Fifth round—W. M. Johnston, San Francisco, defeated Craig Biddle, Philadelphia, 6—4, 6—1, 7—5.

EASTERN DOUBLES.

Fourth round—C. S. Garland and W. S. McElroy defeated J. S. O'Neale and F. T. Hunter, 4—6, 7—5, 6—4, 6—4; T. R. Pell and R. Norris Williams II. defeated W. F. Johnson and J. J. Armstrong, 6—3, 2—6, 6—4, 3—6, 7—5; R. C. Seaver and C. T. Putnam defeated J. W. Wheelwright and G. A. Lyon, 6—4, 6—4, 3—6, 0—6, 6—0.

Semi-final round—T. R. Pell and R. Norris Williams II. defeated C. S. Garland and W. S. McElroy, 6—1, 6—2, 7—5; G. M. Church and W. E. Davis defeated R. C. Seaver and G. T. Putnam, 6—3, 6—3, 6—1.

BYFORD REACHES TENNIS FINAL BY BEATING BURDICK

Takes Easy Victory in State Tourney—Will Play Hayes for the Title Today.

"You're miles too good," was Ralph Burdick's remark as he shook hands across the net with Heath Byford after a semi-finals match yesterday afternoon in the state turf court tennis tournament at the Wanderers club. Byford was. Burdick was way below par and extremely erratic, and Byford took advantage of every temporary slump. Burdick's ground work at the net, usually extremely good, was bad and he repeatedly came up too slow on shots placed short by his opponent.

At only one time in the three sets, which went 6—3, 6—2, 6—3, did Burdick take the lead, and he lost it after one game. All the way through Byford's performance was masterly.

Hayes Downs Al Green.

In the other semi-finals match, Walter Hayes defeated Al Green Jr., 6—2, 6—4, 2—6, 6—2. The veteran played his usual careful placing game. In the fourth set, the ex-Maroon pushed himself to the limit in a fast exhibition of smashing and driving that gave him the set, but he tired, and the fourth frame went to Hayes without trouble.

Byford and Hayes compete for the championship today at 3 o'clock. The finals of the women's singles will also be played. Mrs. Ellis and Miss C. B. Neely being the contetants.

Women's Doubles Begun.

Miss Houston's overhead smashing featured the match in the first round of women's doubles which she and Mrs. Ellis won from Mrs. Miller and Miss Falker, 6—4, 6—1. Mrs. MacNeill and Miss Voorhees defeated Miss Neely and Miss Lee in the other doubles match, 9—7, 6—4.

In the consolation singles, third round, W. T. Jackman defeated N. L. Rishel, 2—6, 8—6, 6—4; but in the next round he lost to Art Hubbell, 6—1, 6—1.

Eastern Tennis Team Picked.

New York, July 28.—The eastern tennis team that will play in the singles against Pacific coast players in the intersectional matches at Forest Hills, N. Y., on Aug. 4 and 5 was selected at Boston today. The players chosen were Fred D. Alexander, New York; Karl Behr, New York; G. M. Church, Tenafly, N. J.; Nathaniel Niles, Boston; Watson M. Washburn, New York, and R. Norris Williams II. of Philadelphia.

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

Frock of Heavy Blue Linen.

BY JEAN SEIVWRIGHT.

SUMMER frocks reveal many charming touches that give a decidedly piquant appearance to their wearer. A dress that will surely be admired by many women is pleasingly depicted in the accompanying illustration. This charming model is developed in a rather heavy blue linen and is a useful creation for morning wear. The wide shoulders are interesting, for the linen is tucked part way across and then flares in frill-like style over the sleeves. Another novel touch is found in the buttoning of the panels on the skirt. The large buttons are of jet, and the sash with long loose ends is of black velvet, while the collar of white batiste gives a dainty finish to this attractive model.

The hat worn with this frock is of black straw and has the tam crown that is quite popular at this time, while the pink roses give a delightful dash of color to the chapeau. An interesting feature is that while many of the hats worn with thin dresses are sailor in shape, yet they are not stiffened and so fall in semi-poke fashion and give good protection from the sun.

Another delightful model for a young woman has a wide skirt with broad tucks headed by hemstitching at the foot with a fairly deep overskirt with similar tucks and stitching. The blouse is cut quite full at the shoulder and gathered in closely toward the neck to give a narrow shoulder appearance. It opens over a tucked vest of organdie with decorations of big flat pearl buttons overlapping each other in clusters. A quaint little collar section of embroidery finishes the neck at the sides and back, and embroidery appears at the girdle ends of the lines, which tie quite simply about the waist, ending in a square knot at the side.

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND

Conducted by Marion Harland

Donates German Bible.

"I AM a constant reader of your Corner and have always wished that I could do some good for it some day. I read of a request for a German Bible the other day. I have one which I should be glad to offer.

"Mrs. K. G. C."

The person who asked for a German Bible has received it. That is, a member wrote for the address, expressing the intention of giving her one. I assume it was done. But keep yours. We shall doubtless hear from somebody else who would like to have it before long. Thank you for continuing to like the Corner. It would go to prove that it wears well.

Lovers of Books and Flowers.

"Will you please send me the address of E. M. K. and L. P.? The former is trying to build up a library and I have a few books I should like him to have. The latter is a garden lover. I love my garden, too, and above everything to give some of my plants away. Inclosed you will find the stamped and self-directed envelope required for a reply.

"S. H. T."

The stamped envelope carried the addresses back to you, with our grateful acknowledgments for your goodness to our Cornerites. I print your letter that I may commend your example to owners of books and plants—good books which have served their turn in pleasing and instructing the whole family, not one member of which will ever open them again. Send them on a new mission to help in the building of a library.

Pleased with His Gift.

"I asked you some time ago for scroll saw patterns. I have received some pretty patterns that have given me great pleasure. Please accept my thanks for the trouble you have had, and will you kindly thank the dear people who have sent me patterns? I will gladly correspond with my little unknown friend. The Corner is a great pleasure to the sick. Rudolph S."

The Corner is a firm believer in mind healing, in the true sense of the term. Such healing as grows out of brotherly sympathy and action. For instance, the incident of the scroll saw patterns that changed hands and became messengers of mercy. And the proposal of correspondence with the little unknown friend. Already that, although in visible presence a stranger.

Uses Odd Bits of Leather.

"The hours sometimes pass slowly for a young girl home from high school on account of illness. She has lately found a means of utilising odd bits and pieces of leather and has thought perhaps some of your readers in the book bindery business may have leather samples (about 12x12) which they would gladly send to her. She will pay postage or call for them. She in return will send if they desire a sample of her finished work. The little girl and her mother will be most grateful for the favor. Mrs. H. K."

Bookbinding is a fashionable fad with rich women who must find occupation for willing hands, and do not take kindly to conventional fancy work of the type approved by a majority of the sex. I appeal to them, as to masculine professional workmen in leather, to supply this young girl with the materials she has sought in vain. It is fascinating work and novelty lends it charm.

Wedding to Unite German Families

Otto Eitel, "baby" of the Eitel family, and Miss Alma Kranz, daughter of John Kranz, candy manufacturer, will be married on Aug. 7 at the Ritz-Carlton hotel in New York.

Details of the plans for the marriage, which links two of the wealthiest German families in Chicago, became public yesterday following the bachelor dinner given to the bridegroom by forty of his friends at the Hotel Bismarck Thursday night. The wedding will be a quiet one.

The Kranz family, including the two other daughters—Lily and Florence—will leave Chicago in a few days for the White mountains. They will leave their mountain home for New York Aug. 6. Max Eitel, brother of the bridegroom, and his wife and family will accompany the bridegroom to New York for the ceremony.

The marriage of "Otto," who has won a reputation as an artist and poet, is the result of a romance said to have begun twenty years ago, when "Alma" was his playmate.

Thursday night's farewell dinner was attended by Emil, Carl, Max; and Robert Eitel, the brothers, and forty other friends of the bridegroom.

Among those present were Oscar Mayer, William H. Klaus, Murray Keller, Leo Ernst, William Bartholomay, Charles Poppenhusen, Edward Uihlein, C. M. Hoof, Louis Kindling, Henry Wehr, and Charles Piper.

Open Air Dormitory for Mothers and Babies.

In order to make an outdoor dormitory for heat-suffering mothers and babies, the room over the gymnasium of the Eli Bates house has been removed. There will be about twenty-five or thirty steamer chairs for the mothers to sleep on, and a nurse will be on hand to take charge. Contributions are needed to pay for the expenses of this heat relief venture, and any such may be sent to Mrs. Russel Tyson, Lake Forest.

GOSSIP OF BOOKS OF THE DAY

War and Romance Seen in a Hospital.

BY ELIA W. PEATTIE.

IF you look at the colored paper jacket on Hugh Walpole's "DARK FOREST" you will be given the impression that here is some pleasing and whimsical romance—something, you may surmise, like Maurice Hewlett's "Forest Lovers." You will see the dark conifers filling the distance with a winding road in the midst. In the foreground is a Russian church with its bulbous spire, its double cross, its roof line red and not unlike that of a granary. A birch tree stands with its feet in flowers and grass.

"It ought to be a pleasant romance," you think casually, and open the book as to a tepid enjoyment.

But a surprise awaits you. Not tepidity but beautiful terror is the note of this book. That dark forest is on the banks of the Nestor, where daily, month in and month out, in an interminable battle of the contemporary war, the Russians and the Austrians fought. The heroes are a band of physicians, rescuers of the wounded, sanitars and nurses. The heroines are dead. One is dead before the story begins, the other, Marie Ivanovna, dies long before the story is concluded. Yet the heroes—there really are several—dream of them, keep to their terrible tasks for them, for honor of them, and long to die that they may learn what these dead women have learned. One of the men has been a husband; the man beside him has been the woman's lover. She was one to be remembered with love, it seems, though she could not quite keep faith. The other woman, the one who was shot in service, was unmarried and was beloved by two men, a Russian and an Englishman. The Russian was a physician, the Englishman had come to Russia to see war and to help. The Russian, who had intellect, sneered at the Englishman, who had not much. But when the Englishman was killed with a shell the Russian found his world desolated. Besides, the Englishman had outstripped him in his pursuit of the beloved dead. It was a strange conquest, but the reader does not question that it was one.

But how can a review convey an idea of the quality of a book so full of dark beauty, so replete with pain, yet with expectation?

It is the war as seen from the field hospital; yet the chronicle never halts at mere horror. The imagination wings swiftly past the extemporized operating tables, past the baskets into which the severed limbs fall, past the trenches in which the wounded wait in vague red pain for the merciful coming of the sanitars, to the thing that is wonderful in war.

"It brings out the best in a man," they all agreed. It supplied an interest so profound, so heroic, so spiritual that they felt a sense of pity for men who had not experienced it. Yet it was not romantic war. It was war from the trenches, war in the midst of a forest accursed with conflict and tragedy, war with all the modern inventions of the hospitals to mitigate it, yet to make it scientific, impersonal and automatic. Yet the person escapes from the mass, after all, compassion mingles with science, and friendship establishes itself even amid the mob.

The recorder speaks of the beauty of death at war. "In nine cases out of ten deaths I have seen there has been peace or even happiness. This is the merest truth and will be confirmed by every one who had walked here."

There is a remarkable page relating to the thoughts of men during battle, or lying in the hospitals, or awaiting an attack. It is not the concern of the moment, but memories that fill the brains of these men. The stark fact of war recedes, seems improbable, unreal, like a vision of sickness which insists upon returning. The realities are what are contained in the cells of memory, so that war is made up, not of battles by sea and land, not of smoke, wounds and blood, "but of a million, million past thoughts, past scenes, streets of little country towns, lonely hills, dark sheltered valleys, the wide spaces of the sea, the crowded traffic of New York, London, Berlin, yes and of smaller things than that, little quarrels, dances at Christmas time, walks at night—et cetera." "Death, too," he adds, "how clear it was to me. Now when I was, at last, face to face with it, I saw that one was simply face to face with oneself."

Huge Walpole has written strong and distinct romances before this, but while this relates to scenes and men foreign to him, it seems to be indeed the veritable exudation of his personality. It is the best thing he has done—a novel which one will keep to reread. [George Doran Company.]

English Rural Life.

Students of social conditions will find material in Mr. Montague Fordham's "SHORT HISTORY OF ENGLISH RURAL LIFE" (Scribner's), a little book which may be read with profit, especially now, when the attitude of many English laborers seems inexplicable to the general public. The shortsightedness of the English governing class towards labor has always been a blot on the administration of that country, and there are plenty of evidences of it in this book. After the war Mr. Fordham can add to these materially.

Asbury the Prophet of the Long Road

BY MABEL T. GOODENOUGH.

WHO has not been moved by the stirring days of our early history, so charmingly depicted by many a romantic historian? Who has not sighed for the undiscovered valleys where the wild crab preens in her perfumed pink beside unknown waters? Who has not yearned for the tranquil rest whose lullaby of wind blown leaves gently accompanies the feathered wandering minstrels of the virgin forest?

In the light of facts, such a vision is like an indolent pacifism, for very real dangers stalked the wilderness, and the men and women pushing over the hills at the call of the west were often hungry, footsore, and scantily clothed, and many times as sick and sordid of soul as of body.

If one has any misgivings that he may deserve the crown of sainthood, such a biography as "FRANCIS ASBURY. THE PROPHET OF THE LONG ROAD," by Ezra Squier Tipple, may be prescribed as a first class spiritual tonic. Francis Asbury was the first American Methodist bishop, and the original circuit rider. He traveled thousands of miles on horseback every year for nearly fifty years, beginning in 1771.

Knowing that where there is no vision the people perish, he raised altars in practically every settlement in the country. He prayed in more than ten thousand homes, preached above seventeen thousand sermons, held conferences, built schools, opened new circuits, placed preachers, bowed under the "care of all the churches." He fortified himself by hours of communion with his Lord; always he was up by 5, and often by 3 o'clock for his own prayer and Bible study.

How can a man care in such vital fashion for the souls of other men? They never do apart from union with Jesus Christ, who cares far more than any of His servants. One cannot fail to see the hand of the bishop's Lord in this history bringing order out of many a chaos of human frailty, carrying forward the work of His servant, who, once maligned and traduced, came to be one of the most loved men in America, and to take his place in that great Hall of Fame, "of whom the world was not worthy." [The Methodist Book concern.]

Tabloid Views of Books.

Quite as interesting when it was first published twenty-four years ago is "ALONG NEW ENGLAND ROADS," by W. C. Prime, known a previous generation by his "I Go A-Fishing." Harpers have thought it good enough for a new printing, and they are right.

Some of Gilett Burgess' earlier essays and short articles have been gathered as "THE ROMANCE OF THE COMMONPLACE," by Bobbs-Merrill Company. These little papers appeared, he tells us, originally in magazines so widely separated as the Lark in San Francisco and the Queen in London. He apologizes for the youthfulness of some of them, but they have, on that very account, a charm not found in more sophisticated efforts.

There is a distinct art in retelling old stories for children and Miss Julia Darrow Cowles possesses this in a high degree. To her former books, "The Art of Story Telling" and "Favorite Fairy Tales Retold," she now adds "FAVORITE FOLK TALES RETOLD" (McClurg). Here are nineteen well known folk stories put into condensed form and in language that any child can understand. The book will be useful to teachers of the young, as well as to mothers.

"MAKING THE MOVIES," by Ernest A. Dench: A little manual of photoplay craft that uncovers various tricks in motion picture producing. The author is concerned with the technical rather than the histrionic secrets of the studio; describes such things as the composition of moving picture fire, which is not the genuine article at all; and the make up of those autos which every "movie" fan has seen tumbling so harrowingly over cliffs. (Macmillan company.)

THE TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

By JANE EDDINGTON

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington with current market materials and are indorsed by her.

Declining digestive powers are not strengthened by concentrated foods or quantity in any shape, but are built up slowly, very slowly, by taking light and tonic-like refreshment.

Making Lemon Sherbert.

TOO many sherbets have a watery taste. This is largely because the sirup base has not been cooked sufficiently or has been reduced in degree too greatly by the extension with water. Of course it is troublesome to use a sirup gauge. The ideal sherbet is made without any water at all other than that of the fruit which we name juice.

The lemon is almost indispensable for most sherbets because it brings out the flavor. Plain lemon sherbet is also one of the simplest and easiest to make perhaps because there is no doubt about its having flavor enough to be agreeable. With added white of egg it becomes something of a food as well as a tonic-like refreshment.

The Recipe.

For sherbet enough for from four to six people, cook one cup of sugar with half a cup of water till a rather thick sirup up to 225 degrees or perhaps higher, depending how much you wish to dilute it. Stir until well dissolved, and remember that although the mercury seems to rise slowly at first, it may at the last climb fast, so watch your thermometer. Pour this when hot over the strained juice of two lemons. I do not like grated peel which some people add to the juice. In some cases there is a flavor to this that is anything but agreeable. hWen the sirup is thoroughly cold, add to it two cup of cold water and put the whole in the freezer to chill, then freeze in the usual way. When partly frozen stir thoroughly into it two whites of eggs well beaten. One will do. If, at this time, the sherbet does not seem quite sweet enough, some powdered sugar or plain sirup may be added to the egg. It is a nice task to mingle the egg and partly frozen ice, and the right moment must be chosen for the highest success.

May Open School Swimming Pools.

A RECOMMENDATION from Ald. Otto Kerner that the swimming pools of the Carter H. Harrison, Swift, and Scanlon schools be kept open during the hot summer months met with favor when read before the committee on buildings and grounds of the board of education yesterday.

"We have had several requests for this action," said Ralph C. Otis, chairman of the committee, "and it seems only right that the pools be kept open." The matter was referred to Superintendent of Schools Shoop wieh power to act.

"I am much in favor of it," said Mr. Shoop, "and if after investigation it seems feasible they will be kept open. It will relieve the suffering from heat to some extent."

A committee of three, consisting of Edward J. Pigott, Dr. Clemenson, and Mrs. William E. Gallagher, was appointed to draw up a resoltuion exonerating Mrs. F. E. Thornton, member of the board, of veiled charges contained in a report of a subcommittee of the council committee on schools that property adjoining a school and sought for playgrounds was acquired by relatives with the view of selling it to the school board.

The matter has been thoroughly investigated, it was said at the committee meeting, and the charges proved false.

SOME IMAGIST POETS, 1916

"Denunciation, however fierce, has never yet crushed anything which had in it the living flame of beauty, as much Imagist poetry has."
—Mary Aldis, in The Little Review.

Professor William Lyon Phelps* says of the work of the six poets who make the anthology, "Some Imagist Poets, 1916":

"Richard Aldington: It has the very rapture of regret. It is real poetry.

"H. D.: Good image-verse.

"John Gould Fletcher: Instantly arrests attention. Union of truth and beauty.

"F. S. Flint: Skill in presenting pictures of nature.

"D. H. Lawrence: Lines that swell with lovely music.

"Amy Lowell: Personal, intimate, confidential, passionate. 'Patterns'—I cannot forget this poem."

Real Love Stories

Another "After 30" Story.

I HAD accepted a position as operator for one of the large news gathering associations on a small town paper. The work was remunerative, and I found that my income was equal to that of the great majority of young men of the town. Consequently I was able to meet and associate with some nice people.

One afternoon I was invited by the editor to a surprise party to be given on a popular young woman that evening. I accepted, and together we met the young people comprising the party prior to going to the home of the girl upon whom the surprise was to be.

That night we played many old fashioned games, particularly enjoyable of which was "postoffice." I can safely say that I kissed the "surprised" young lady at least ten times that evening and was passionately in love with her well before it was time to leave.

I lost no time, but secured her permission to call the next evening. After that things went well. She appeared to like me and—my every act was eloquent of my feeling for her. But we never seemed able to get on firm footing enough for me to feel safe in declaring myself.

One evening, when I grew particularly enthusiastic about the telegraph and its great worth as a disseminator of news, she became so interested that she expressed a desire to learn the meaning of the dots and dashes. I was only too eager to teach her anything, so it was instantly agreed that I should rig up a set in her home and give her lessons.

We got along famously after that. I was with her almost constantly, and she was more than an apt pupil. After six months of hard work she was able to send and receive at a fair speed. All of this time, however, I had accomplished nothing in my love making. My tongue had been eloquent enough in all but that. I was at sea how to proceed to the point where I could unblushingly speak of cozy cottages et al.

One evening as we sat there, she sending out of a newspaper and I listening, there came a sudden inspiration.

"Let me send and you copy," I suggested. She took pencil and paper and I started to transmit from the paper. When I had finished one story, I started on another, this time "faking" it. It read as follows:

"Society—Miss Irene Stillwell, it is rumored, is to marry Hartley Dawn."

Here I paused and turned my attention to a supposed defection in the instrument. I became aware of a soft white hand stealing over mine and then I heard the click of the instrument as she took the key.

"Editor: In story just sent, omit 'it is rumored,'" I heard clicked off unwaveringly.

It was the way she had often seen corrections in the day's report while sitting in the telegraph office at the newspaper.

I considered it about time to end that day's report, so I added the figures "30," meaning all done—

The next day a sure enough announcement of our engagement was in the newspapers. Thus the telegraph helped me solve my love affair. K. W. K.

> The mosquito sings as it works. But who would want to emulate him and have as few friends?

All for Love.

"Dear Miss Blake: Will you kindly send me a copy of an invitation for a surprise birthday party, for a girl of 14?"

I am sorry that I cannot take the time to write up the invitation for your party. I would suggest, however, that you go to your library and look through the books on entertainments, and there you will get ideas for the invitation. Also the women's magazines have departments on entertainment, and from them you also can get valuable information. You see my department is confined to love affairs, and if I can ever be of service to you in that line, consider me a friend with your interests at heart.

The Amateur Gardener
by Eben E. Rexford

Questions Answered.

MRS. J. C. T. The proper name of "mus. plant" is Mimulus. You can grow it from seed or you can procure young plants from your florist. It is a fairly satisfactory winter bloomer.

Mrs. L. R. M. Specimen sent is Hoya carnosa, more commonly known as wax plant, because of its thick leaves. If, as you say, it sends out long, tendrilly looking branches, with small, undeveloped leaves on them, be patient and don't be alarmed, for after a time the tiny leaves will develop into good sized ones.

By and by little stublike growths will put in an appearance along the branches, and after a time each stub will bear a cluster of flesh pink flowers of delicate fragrance. Do not remove these stubs after flowers have been produced from them, as next season more flowers will be borne on the same stub. This plant is often injured by the mealy bug, which establishes itself in the axil of the leaf. The best remedy I know of is the kerosene emulsion, of which I have frequently spoken, applied with a soft camel's hair brush.

Mrs. J. M. The calla is easily grown. It is not a lily, though popularly considered so. Plant the roots in loam or muck. Give plenty of water while the plant is making growth, but see that the pot containing it has good drainage. There is all the difference in the world between using a good deal of water on plants which have been provided with perfect drainage and those which have no real drainage, but in which surplus water accumulates in the bottom of the pot and is retained there until the soil is soured.

No plant can do well in a sour soil. In summer put the calla out of doors, and allow it to get quite dry. In September or October repot it, give water and light, and in a short time it will start into growth.

A rich soil is required, or the frequent application of some good fertilizer. Plants that fail to bloom—about which complaints are constantly coming in—are almost always those which have not been allowed a resting spell in summer.

MAE: GOOSE FLESH IS THE RESULT of poor circulation. Exercise to stimulate the circulation. There is nothing better for poor circulation than cold plunges and walking.

MARIE J.: DO YOU REALIZE THAT you are a much to be envied girl because you have curly hair. There are many girls who would give much to have curly hair. Just to think you don't have to be annoyed by using the curling tongs, or have the discomfort of sleeping on kid curlers or rags over night, and you don't have to worry about your hair stringing around your face if you are caught in the rain, and so many annoyances that are caused by straight hair. I shouldn't try to do anything, if I were you, to make my hair straight.

HARRY: I SUGGEST YOUR SEEING a skin specialist about the sore, scaly condition of your head. It is evidently one of the many varieties of skin disease, and can easily be remedied by medical attention. Charcoal is excellent for the acid condition of the stomach, which may be caused from pastries, acid fruits, and pickles. Drink lots of water. Take a glass of water the first thing in the morning and the last thing at night.

MARGARET R.: A GIRL WITH GOLDEN hair, blue eyes, fair skin, and delicate coloring can wear black, especially with touches of blue, gold or cerise; white; dark shade of brown; nearly all shades of blue, including blue-grays and turquoise; both pale and dark green; pearl, dove and warm shades of gray; mauve, heliotrope, wistaria, violet; dark red; pale yellow; pale pink and old rose.

SYLVIA: COCOA BUTTER IS PREpared in cake form and does not look much unlike a small bar of soap. It can be purchased at any drug or department store. The only way to reduce is by dieting and exercise. I shall be glad to send you my articles on how I reduced Mrs. Eva Lane thirty-six pounds in six weeks if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

Resinol

Ointment relieves almost instantly itching, smart and sting, whether caused by a serious eczema or by some simple rash, prickly-heat, or insect-bite. Resinol Ointment is excellent, too, for ivy (or oak) poisoning, and as a healing dressing for sunburn, cuts, burns, chafings and bruises.

Every druggist sells Resinol Ointment. For sample free, Dept. 40-R, Resinol, Baltimore.

FLICKERINGS from FILM LAND

More About Those "Tribune" Subtitles.

BY KITTY KELLY.

AFTER the Ince colony put the decorative subtitle on the map we have had many of those illuminating films, of varying degrees of good, bad, and indifferent artistic inspiration. Most of them have been done in other cities, but here in our own midst have sprung up some decorative subtitle panels that would do credit to the Inceville stronghold.

They are the bits catching the spirit of the scene and the title scattered through THE TRIBUNE's second series of "The German Side of the War" photographed by Edwin F. Weigle and showing at the Colonial.

A Chicagoan, Irwin H. Henoch, is responsible for these artistic illuminations. He is at present with the art department of the Burnet-Kuhn Advertising agency, but his work has often appeared on street car posters, for he was once with the Street Railways Advertising company. Farther back than that he was a student at the Academy of Fine Arts.

His work has added to the impressiveness of the war pictures.

Billie's Engagement Ring.

That engagement ring that Billie Burke as Gloria, in that young lady's "Romance," had received from he villain fiancé, and which she filched from father's pocket in a recent chapter, is said to be the honest-to-goodness engagement ring that Flo Ziegfeld took out of his vest pocket—that is the way they always do it in the movies, where preparedness is the word—when he invited her to become Mrs. Flo Ziegfeld.

Florence Vidor, recently of Vitagraph's western studio, is a new Pallas ingénue, who will be first seen in "The Intrigue," in which also Lenore Ulrich celebrates her return to the screen for the summer.

Ormi Hawley, late of Lubin, later still of Fox, is now a Metroite, working with Edmund Breese in the cheerful sounding offering, 'The Evil Men Do."

The Smalleys are going to do James Oppenheim's story "Idle Wives" for Bluebird. Mary McLaren will appear along with Phillips Smalley and Lois Weber.

BRIGHT SAYINGS of the CHILDREN

It had been raining. Little Alice was running to meet her mother, who was across the street.

Her mother called, "Don't come across, dear, you will get your feet muddy."

Alice replied, "All right, mother, I'll keep out of the mud; I'll just walk in these nice big pools of water." M. C. C.

Jokingly, I remarked to a neighbor's child, who was playing with his small brother, "Whose father are you?"

To which he replied, "I ain't nobody's father, but I'm my little brother's bosser." E. H. R.

One day little Jane's mother was telling one of her neighbor's she was going to dye her coat. The next day Jane, who had overheard the conversation, said: "Mamma, when are you going to dead your coat?" L. F.

Stanley with his mother was visiting a friend who was strict with children. She made him sit still and after doing so for some time he said to his mother in disgust: "I wish you had left me at home." J. M. H.

We are motoring over Montana. At Billings the Indians were all out with their large families. One little fellow of 6 years took quite a fancy to our car, so we took him in and tried to get him to talk, but he would only grunt, as they all do, until a boy came along with lemonade in bottles. The men of the crowd ordered three, forgetting about the little Indian, but he wasn't going to be left out, so forcibly spoke up: "F-o-o-e-r," which caused a great deal of amusement for the crowd. MRS. A. T. K.

POSTCARD VOTE GETS PERMITS FOR EDELWEISS

Mayor Issues Restaurant and Amusement Licenses to Former Midway Gardens.

Mayor Thompson yesterday ordered the issuance of restaurant and amusement licenses to the Edelweiss gardens, Midway and Cottage Grove avenue, after holding up the permits for two months.

The ostensible reason for the delay was the protest of the Chicago Law and Order league against the gardens ,and especially the sale of liquor there. The mayor had directed that all permits be withheld, but a saloon license was "inadvertently" issued.

Recently Mayor Thompson started a postcard referendum of the neighborhood which resulted in a 3 to 1 vote in favor of the gardens. The mayor said the outcome of this poll induced him to grant the licenses.

Result of Postcard Vote.

The latest figures on the referendum follow:

Do you want the saloon license revoked? Yes, 1,579; no, 2,112.

Do you want the amusement and restaurant license issued? Yes, 2,718; no, 911.

Do you object to the name Edelweiss? Yes, 1,819; no, 2,164.

Hundreds of letters, for and against the gardens, have been received at the mayor's office.

"If the majority of the young women of the university are anxious for a highball or a beer," wrote Seymour Stedman, "they will not be deterred from satisfying their craving appetite by making the Edelweiss gardens an ice cream parlor."

Farwell Still Protests.

Arthur Burrage Farwell last night sent a letter to the mayor averring the postcard canvass was incomplete, that many persons, especially around the university, were skipped. He estimated there were 1,220 persons who did not get a chance to vote. Mr. Farwell intimates that the referendum would be against the gardens if it was thoroughly made.

JACK FROST IN EVANSTON.

Caught by Overheated Policeman and Warm Hearted Judge Frees Him.

Jack Frost of 1830 Darrow avenue, Evanston, who was arrested yesterday after a chase of several blocks by Patrolman George Wolff, was before Police Magistrate John F. Boyer on a charge of disorderly conduct.

"I became overheated while chasing Frost," the policeman testified.

"Jack Frost is as welcome as the flowers in May this time of the year," the judge said, "and I will discharge him."

Wilmette Realty Man Found Not Guilty of Removing His Rival's Signs.

Paul Schroeder, real estate dealer of Wilmette, who was arrested on the complaint of C. F. NEW COMMERCE COURT TO OPEN Arbitration Tribunal Expected to Save Delay of Regular Lawsuits.

MONDAY FIRST DAY.

A court of arbitration, to dispose of commercial cases without the expense and delay of regular lawsuits, was established yesterday as an adjunct of the Municipal court.

The new tribunal was officially approved at a judges' meeting in the afternoon and will begin operations Monday morning in connection with the small claims court. Judges Graham and Uhlir will preside.

The court will work accordig to fifty arbitration rules formulated by the American Judicature society, of which Chief Justice Olson is president, and adopted by the Chicago Association of Credit Men. It is expected that they will be adopted by the various trades and incorporated into many contracts, forcing arbitration of the facts in any controversy and allowing the judges to pass only on the law.

Will Relieve Court.

"In time this will relieve the court of 75 per cent of its commercial business," said Judge Olson. "The system has been found a success in England. Experts in the various trades will pass on the facts in these cases, and the judges will pass only on the law. The plan will give better satisfaction and more justice than the present procedure, where a jury of laborers often is asked to pass on questions of fact of a technical nature."

Wants No Publicity.

Radical reforms in the administration of the Morals court were demanded in a report handed the judges by an unnamed investigator for the Juvenile Protective association. This investigator, a New York woman, has been quietly "Pipersing" the court for several weeks.

Among other things, the report recommends that no publicity be given proceedings in the court, that men and women be tried separately, that a better class of city prosecutors be assigned to the court, that records of mental and physical examinations be filed with the legal papers in each case, and that fines be abolished.

In an attempt to deal a final blow at dishonest bondsmen, the judges voted to accept no bonds in criminal cases hereafter which have not been approved by I. J. Bryan, Judge Olson's assistant.

U. S. PREPARING FOR TRADE WAR AGAINST EUROPE

EUROPE NOW IS SOCIALIZED.

This is the seventh of a series of articles by Mr. Hyde in answer to the question "After the War—What?"

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

One feature of the campaign for military preparedness in the United States is expected to be almost as effective as preparation for the great struggle for commercial supremacy which is coming after the war.

Some months ago the 30,000 members of the five great engineering and chemical societies of the country enlisted in the work of making a complete census of the manufacturing resources of the United States. Their plan was intended to assist the work of the industrial preparedness committee of the navy consulting league. Already more than 75,000 of the most important manufacturing companies of the United States have reported as to their facilities for making all sorts of military and naval supplies and materials. Incidentally these reports will serve to show how well the country is prepared to make goods of all kinds for both foreign and domestic consumption.

Governments Run Industries.

In Germany, England, and France a large share of the industries have been taken over and are operated by their respective governments. The others are under government control and direction to an extent undreamed of before the war.

When peace comes each of these countries will be ready to throw its whole force into productive industry with all kinds of government concessions and assistance behind it. Railroad rates and ocean freight rates will doubtless be cut on goods destined for export. Students of the situation believe that the various governments will advance funds needed to establish and finance industries unsettled by the war. In some cases the governments themselves will probably manage the factories until they are again on their feet.

The central powers on the one hand and the entente allies on the other have already organized customs unions and are planning to give their partners the preference in the fight for the trade of the world. The war has forced something like complete state owership or control of industry—at least during the period of reconstruction.

Oppose Socialist Idea.

This kind of trade competition, with the centralized power of a great government behind it, is something new in the world. Many important financiers and business men do not see how the individual manufacturer of the United States is going to be able to meet it. Most of them do not at all like the socialistic idea of state direction and control of industry. But they are wondering how far something of the kind may be necessary to mbet the new conditions. Many of them agree that, at least, there is need of a more complete organization and standardization of American business.

The census of the manufacturing industry, now being completed by the committee on industrial preparedness, may, it is suggested, serve as a starting point for such an organization. It will show where the United States is lacking and where it is strong.

"I think," says one authority, "that we should prepare for commercial as well as for military conflict. Let the committee which is making this census get in touch with the federal trade commission, the department of commerce, and the national organizations of the various branches of the manufacturing industry.

Step in Right Direction.

"The law which congress has been asked to pass, making it legal for manufacturers in the same line to combine for the purpose of jointly invading the foreign market, is one step in the right direction.

"There should also be some central agency which can assist manufacturers now engaged in making munitions of war for use in Europe to find suitable articles which they can manufacture and which will be needed when peace comes. One company in the middle west, at present turning out 1,500 high explosive shells a day, is already preparing to make stamped metal automobile wheels and concrete forms when its present contracts are filled. Scores of other factories are making similar arrangements.

"Doubtless the industrial census will show many lines in which the United States is now weak. Such information should be put in the hands of manufacturers generally, so that they may take advantage of these opportunities and be able to turn at once, when the war ends, from making munitions to some other line."

Value of Census.

In all these speculations one possible factor has been omitted. If the United States should become involved in a serious war every other consideration would be forced to give way to the national necessity. In that case the industrial census would serve the purpose for which it was originally intended. The fact that so many of our factories are now engaged in making munitions and materials of war would be of tremendous advantage to the country.

In the more likely contingency that the United States will avoid war there remains one most important feature to be considered. Suppose the domestic trade of the country should remain at its present flood. Suppose serious labor difficulties are avoided and American business men succeed in holding or increasing their present volume of foreign trade.

Where will the United States find the ships to carry its freight abroad? What shall we do for an international delivery wagon?

Girl Says "Gun Toting" Admirer Took Her to Fort Wayne and He Faces Kidnaping Charge.

Joseph Malatesta, according to Jennie Tempo, 18 years old, 1062 Taylor street, is a "gun toting" Lothario. She says he has been suing for her hand without success, and when he met her a week ago on the Van Buren street bridge he forced her into a taxicab, drove to a railway station, and took her to his home in Fort Wayne, Ind. Ralph Tempo, her father, suspected Malatesta, and the Fort Wayne police arrested him and he was brought back to Chicago on a charge of kidnaping.

TRANDEL TWISTS UNDER AN INQUIRY FOR STOLEN RING

State Representative Insists He Didn't Get It from a Trapped Burglar.

COURT'S ANGER IS AROUSED.

The ethics of a lawmaker who takes bond money from a burglar were questioned yesterday when State Representative Joseph Trandel of the Twenty-seventh senatorial district yesterday was made the subject of a terrific broadside of questions from Judge George F. Barrett and Assistant State's Attorneys Michael F. Sullivan and Ernest Langtry.

Last week James Smith pleaded guilty to burglary. A $700 diamond was a part of the plunder. This ring is missing. Trandel denied he had seen it, and Smith insisted he had sold it. Trandel said he and John J. Meyers, night jailer at the county jail, signed Smith's bond. For this they received $100. This $100 also excited Judge Barrett's ire, and he demanded to know more of the transaction.

Trandel Changes Testimony.

Trandel squirmed a good deal in the course of the two hours' examination, and changed his testimony several times.

"Why are you making these conflicting statements here?" demanded Judge Barrett.

"Well," said Trandel, "it's terrible warm." Then he asked for a glass of water.

"You never mind the heat," instructed the court. "Just take your time and get things straight."

But Trandel continued to swear that he never saw the diamond ring. Smith was arrested June 3, as he was leaving the home of James Murray, 3850 Adams street, which had been robbed. About $1,200 worth of jewelry was stolen. Smith admitted the theft, but Judge Barrett postponed sentence until he could investigate. It was then Trandel and Meyers went on Smith's bond. Smith explained in court that he had sold the diamond to George Oloff, a clothier at Halsted and Adams streets, receiving $115 for it. He repeated this yesterday.

Story by Trandel.

Trandel then explained about his $100 fee for going on Smith's bond, saying he did so because Smith had made the plea that he wanted to get out to marry a girl for whose misfortune he was the cause.

"Do you expect me to believe that story?" said Judge Barrett.

"It's the truth," replied Mr. Trandel.

"Didn't you get more than $100?" demanded Mr. Sullivan.

"You knew Smith was going to skip his bond just like he did?"

"No, sir."

"Didn't I tell you at that time that he had been caught red handed and that he would forfeit any bond?"

"Yes, sir."

"Didn't you know that Smith had spent most of his time in jail since 1909?"

"Not until afterward."

"You didnt take the time to find that out, did you?"

"No."

"And then do you believe you are a fit person to make the laws of our state?"

Trandel made no response.

Trandel was then excused and Smith was questioned. He admitted he paid $100 for the signing of his bonds, and insisted that he sold the ring to Oloff for $115. He said it was worth $75.

After Oloff denied that he ever saw the ring Judge Barrett continued the inquiry until today and instructed the state counsel to "subpoena all witnesses."

EX-QUEEN OF SLICKERS GETS STUNG FOR $600.

Mrs. Sophie Burke, One Time Notorious Sophie Lyons, Falls for Wiles of Con Man.

Suppose that as a "slicker" you had been known as the queen of 'em all.

Then suppose a young man came along and "took you" for $600.

Wouldn't it make you dizzy?

Well, that's what happened to Mrs. Sophie Burke, in other days the notorious Sophie Lyons, "queen of the crooks."

Recently Mrs. Burke wrote a history of her life in which she exposed the workings of the underworld. Of recent years she has devoted her life to the aid of the fallen and to giving homes to ex-convicts.

She met Frederick Lehner, who has been widely known as a "Hungarian nobleman," although he formerly was in the employ of the Ford factory in Detroit, where Mrs. Burke lives. She discussed with Lehner the matter of the screen version of her book and Lehner accepted $600 from her to be used in the preliminary expenses of the film.

Evidently the preliminary expenses consisted of getting Lehner as far away from Detroit as possible, for he left. He was arrested in Buffalo.

SMALL BOMB EXPLODES UNDER TAXI IN LOOP.

Does No Damage and Chauffeur Is Unable to Tell Police Why It Was Thrown.

Mystery surrounds the explosion of a small bomb underneath a taxicab standing across the street from the Hotel La Salle on North La Salle street last night. James V. Anderson, the chauffeur, was standing near his car when he heard a slight explosion.

He walked towards his car and saw several pieces of paper and rags burning beneath. A small fuse, two inches long, was found near the burning articles.

Anderson could not give the police any reason for the bomb throwing.

LIFE'S LITTLE PHONIES

No One Notified When Six Insane Escape Dunning

One Dementia Praecox Victim Threatens Life of Sister.

FOUR NOW ARE BACK

Shocked by the massacre last week of six persons at the hands of Henry McIntyre, the Negro madman, alienists, judges, and lawmakers conferred to formulate plans for ways to preclude a repetition of the crime.

While they were meeting six inmates of the state hospital at Dunning were roaming the city with the temperature hovering around the 100 mark. Relatives of these persons were notified by the Dunning officials.

The six, all of whom are victims of dementia praecox, escaped Sunday morning. They are:

Elisabeth Zimmerman, 1930 Dayton street.

Albert Grebe, 1647 North Forty-first avenue.

Joseph E. Kollits, 831 North Paulina street.

Ben Lee, a Negro.

Walter Rattey, Hamburg street.

Aaron Rabinovich, 1829 South Turner avenue.

Three Believed Back.

Three of the six are said to have returned to the hospital voluntarily. They are Mrs. Zimmerman, Grebe, and Rabinovich. No effort appears to have been made to apprehend the others.

Rabinovich was committed to the asylum on April 27, 1915. He had threatened to kill several members of his family, according to his sister. Sunday morning, she said, he appeared at a notions store owned by his sister, Mrs. Becky Benson, at 1245 Union avenue.

"He chased all the customers out of the store and threatened to kill my sister," said Miss Rabinovich. "She was hysterical. She telephoned me and said that Aaron was in the store and was waving his arms and going mad.

"I called up the hospital at Dunning and asked them if they knew Aaron was out. They told me that he was in the hospital. The police took him back to Dunning."

Related to Doctor.

Walter Rattey was sent to Dunning June 3, 1915. He is a brother-in-law of Dr. John J. Pflock of 2200 North California avenue.

"We didn't know he had escaped until Tuesday, when his sister, Mrs. Mueller of 1930 North Fairfield avenue, went to the hospital to visit him," said Dr. Pflock.

"She was told he had escaped. She asked the official why she was not notified and was told his wife had been told.

"Mrs. Rattey said it was a surprise to her; she knew nothing about it. My brother-in-law has dementia prsecox and is subject to hallucinations. I am afraid this heat may cause him to commit some desperate crime.

Dr. Leininger Questioned.

Dr. George Leininger is superintendent of the state hospital at Dunning. A TRIBUNE reporter asked him for the names of the six patients who had escaped.

"You must be mistaken my boy," said the doctor. "Evidently you are referring to the story in one of the papers the other day about six persons escaping from the Peoria asylum."

Mention of the name and circumstances of the escape of one of the patients and a request to be shown the records took the doctor and reporter to the recorder's office.

There a girl clerk stood at attention awaiting the doctor's orders.

"Miss —, did any patients escape last Sunday?" asked Dr. Leininger.

"Yes, doctor," she replied. "Six."

"Ahem! Six? Have any of them returned?"

"No, doctor."

"Were the relatives notified in all these cases, doctor?" asked the reporter.

"Yes, indeed," answered the doctor; "that is one of our rules."

What Do You Do?

"Miss —, what do you do when a patient escapes?" asked the doctor.

The girl smiled like a school girl asked to recite her favorite piece.

"First we notify the Irving Park police."

"Then whom do you notify?"

"The nearest relative."

"Was the nearest relative of Walter Rattey told of his escape?" asked the reporter. "I mean his wife."

The girl searched through the records, thought a minute, bit her tongue, and looked at the doctor.

"No, she was not," she answered.

"Why?"

"Well, one of the doctors told me not to tell the police or relatives until he had the grounds searched. But we have told the police since."

BOY'S DEATH MAY OPEN CLUB'S BEACH TO PUBLIC.

Boys' Brotherhood Republic Petitions Mayor Thompson to Destroy Saddle and Cycle Fences.

The death of 15 year old William Ulrey may result in opening the Saddle and Cycle club's beach to the public. Young Ulrey, who lived at 4902 Kenmore avenue, died last Monday of lockjaw, incurred when he was jabbed with a pair of heavy grass sheears thrown by Nicholas Moga, a gardener in the employ of the club, on whose grounds the assault took place.

The Boys' Brotherhood Republic has petitioned the mayor through Attorney Samuel Kassel to win for all the boys of the city the right to swim at the beach now used exclusively by club members.

Attorney Colin C. H. Fyffe denied yesterday that the Saddle and Cycle club had retained him to defend Moga.

DE VRY STAYS, O'BYRNE SAYS

President of Park Board Declares He's Certain Animal Man Will Not Go.

Cy De Vry yesterday, for the first time, received an official notification from the Lincoln park board that his salary had been fixed at $4,000 a year, almost $4,000 less than what the movie folk want to pay him to work for them.

Mr. De Vry sat down and replied to the letter, declining to consider the $4,000 proposal. He stated that he stood where he did when the movie people first tempted him to leave. He would split the difference, and to make it even figures he was ready to unpack his trunk, put the furniture back in its place, and settle down at the zoo for the rest of his life at an annual salary of $5,650. This was the proposition made to the board members at the time of the Selig offer, and Commissioner Lampert voluntarily suggested $6,000 as the compromise figure. Mr. De Vry at that time suggested an even split at $5,650.

Letter Arrives Today.

The final word from the famed zoo man was sent to Timothy J. O'Byrne, president of the park board. Mr. O'Byrne will receive it this morning. He will immediately forward a copy to each commissioner and suggest that they meet about next Tuesday to take action on De Vry's counter proposal.

To a TRIBUNE reporter last night President O'Byrne said:

"I told De Vry that it was simply a straight business proposition and upon receiving our notice it was up to him to tell us what his figures are. There is nothing in the way of our meeting his figures. All we have to do is to meet and act on his proposal.

"I am morally certain that there is no danger of De Vry leaving Chicago. I predict he will be at the Lincoln park zoo for many years to come. Goodness me, what would we do without him? It isn't a question of salary, but a question of the maintenance of the zoo. I don't know how the other commissioners feel about it, but I am satisfied that he will remain right where he is.

"He is a Chicago institution himself. We can't afford to let him go, and if my influence will keep him he is here for the rest of his life."

How Others Stand.

NELSON N. LAMPERT—Noncommittal.

BERTRAM W. WINSTON—Noncommittal.

WILLIAM REHM—Against.

A. F. BRUCHMAN—For.

Mr. De Vry meantime had a little heart to heart talk with President O'Byrne, in which Cy said he should not be held responsible for everything that appears in the newspapers.

"I have never taken back any word I ever uttered," said De Vry, "but the truth is I have not criticised the present board, although I might if I felt it deserved criticism, but I must say that the present board is one of the best the park has had in many years, and I have served under all kinds."

Letters continued to pour in on the zoo man yesterday from all classes of people, big and little.

Among them was one from Mrs. Mary C. Shortall, widow of John G. Shortall, for many years president of the Illinois Humane society. It reads in part:

"While your friends are making what effort they can to secure for you the salary they feel you are entitled to, let me express the hope that you will make no irrevocable decision to leave the city where you have built up for yourself a monument of expert achievement, won nation-wide fame, and the affectionate regard of your fellow citizens."

STICK FOR CY

ILLINOIS THEATER.
Will J. Davis, Manager.
Jackson-blvd., near Michigan-av., Chicago.

July 28, 1916.

Dear Wheeler:

Stick for Cy De Vry. He is of as much educational importance to the children of Chicago as a regiment of teachers and commissioners. He has no equal—and that's why the movie men wish to get him. Hot; can hardly push a pen, but I did read your articles about Cy. They warmed me up SOME. Sincerely, WILL J. DAVIS.

STRANGE INSECT BITES ARMOUR & CO. OFFICIAL.

Frank W. Waddell Has Operation on Both Hands Which Swell to Large Size.

J. Ogden Armour's confidential man, Frank W. Waddell, who is depot manager of Armour & Co., is suffering infection following the bite of a strange insect which may be the cause of sounding new warnings about the bathing beaches and other outdoor amusement places.

Saturday night Mr. Waddell was at the South Shore Country club and while there was bitten on both hands by the strangely poisonous insect. He gave it little attention for a time, but later his hands swelled to a great size and it became necessary to remove him to Hahnemann hospital, where he is attended by Dr. H. R. Chislett. Dr. Chislett was compelled to perform an operation.

"I do not believe the bite of the insect is responsible for the condition of Mr. Waddell's hands," said Dr. Chislett. "But the wound caused by the insect was of such a nature as to pave the way for a dangerous infection. This is what has happened. Mr. Waddell is resting more easily."

WEDS WIDOW; ENDS HIS LIFE

A. C. Hazard Kills Himself at Momence, Ill., Two Weeks After His Marriage.

A. C. Hazard, whose two sons are employed in important positions in Chicago, committed suicide in an undertaking establishment in Momence, Ill., yesterday by shooting. Domestic infelicity is said to have been the cause.

Hazard was married two weeks ago to Mrs. Minnie Ferguson of Virden, Ill. She was his second wife. He formerly was proprietor of the Momence Steam laundry and was prominent as a Mason.

One son is Leon A. Hazard of the First National bank of Chicago and another is Allan C. Hazard, connected with the General Electric company in Berwyn. The former lives in Wheaton and the latter in Berwyn. A daughter, Mrs. Hazel Hazard Alseno, formerly was a teacher in Harvey, Ill., but now lives in Lena, Ill.

LANDIS AWARDS "MATTERS BABY" TO GIRL MOTHER

Margaret Ryan, However, Lets Widow Hold Infant for a While Before Parting.

COURT DENOUNCES "PLOT."

Yesterday was a day of dramatic incidents in the court of Federal Judge Landis. At the conclusion of a scathing address, which bristled with Judge Landis' own brand of sarcasm for all those concerned in the "Matters baby case" conspiracy, the judge addressed Mrs. Matters' nurse, who was holding "Baby Kathleen."

"Nurse!" commanded the judge, "give that baby to its mother!"

The nurse, who sat between the Canadian girl, Margaret Ryan, and Mrs. Dollie Ledgerwood Matters, rose and looked startled.

First she looked at Mrs. Matters, then at Margaret Ryan, then at Judge Landis. The crowd in the courtroom held its breath. The judge slowly raised his hand and pointing a finger at Margaret Ryan, said:

"There she is and you know it."

Margaret Ryan sprang forward with a cry and seized the child. Mrs. Matters buried her face in her handkerchief and cried. The courtroom crowd applauded and the judge ordered them all out of the chamber.

Meet Face to Face.

Meanwhile other things were happening in and about the court. Margaret Ryan the moment she received the baby hurried into an anteroom. A minute later Mrs. Matters was taken out of the court, weeping, by her nurse, Miss Winifred Davis. She stepped into the anteroom and came face to face with Margaret Ryan and "Baby Kathleen."

Mrs. Matters called the baby "Irene," but Margaret Ryan changed the name to Kathleen as soon as she got it.

Neither spoke for a full minute. Then Mrs. Matters, who had been denounced with Dr. Beroard and other attendants of the Miserioordia hospital in the strongest terms in Judge Landis' vocabulary for attempting to "steal" the baby, said:

"Let me hold her once more?"

Margaret Ryan hugged the baby closer to her breast and stared at Mrs. Matters. Then as Mrs. Matters held out her arms the girl slowly relinquished the baby to her and stood back a few feet while Mrs. Matters held the child and wept.

Nurse Slaps Ramsey.

Then to round out a day of unusual incidents a small panic occurred among the crowd of the curious who had flocked into the anteroom when Miss Winifred Davis slapped Assistant State's Attorney Daniel G. Ramsey in the face. Mr. Ramsey, who stood near Margaret Ryan and Mrs. Matters while Mrs. Matters was holding the baby, advised Margaret Ryan to take the child and go to her attorney's office. As she did so Miss Davis, who has been employed by Mrs. Matters for ten years, struck him.

Then she started toward Margaret Ryan and said: "I'll get her, too."

Two bailiffs and several policewomen who were near, seized the nurse and dragged her into the court before Judge Landis. Earlier in the trial Miss Davis had been charged with having made threats to shoot Judge Landis. The judge had questioned her about the remark on the witness stand, but she had denied it. She was placed in the custody of the bailiffs for two hours.

Fire on Matters Group.

The denunciation of Mrs. Matters, Dr. Beroard, the nuns, and officials of the Miserecordia hospital by Judge Landis before he awarded the baby to Margaret Ryan was delivered in a manner that made those mentioned wince. He commented on the acquittal of Mrs. Matters in the Criminal court, and stated that under the circumstances the jury did right.

"You couldn't expect a jury to convict a woman when these other conspirators were granted immunity for their testimony," he said. "This Dr. Beesword, or Belsward, or whatever it is, has sunk to the lowest depths. He told how this Catholic institution conspired to steal this baby from this poor girl, a girl of their own faith. The girl was placed on a bed and profane hands of this doctor took her baby from her and gave it to this woman. He pretended to be her physician, when he really was in the pay of this Matters woman. Sister St. Celestine says this was done because Mrs. Matters was a society woman of means and could care for the child.

"Before he testified he expected to get $1,000 from Mrs. Matters, but when he didn't get it all his conscience, he says, began to hurt, and he confessed to the duplicity. The depth of criminality to which this doctor has sunk makes his testimony not very good. Before I go further, gentlemen, I would like to say that I do not believe the real reason why this act was done by the hospital authorities will ever be known."

Mrs. Matters Hurries Away.

After the case had been disposed of Mrs. Matters refused to make a statement. She hurried away with several friends.

Margaret Ryan received the congratulations of those interested in her case and then went to the office of her attorney, Francis Hinckley. She would let no one carry the baby.

To reporters she said:

"I am going back to Ottawa with my baby, and we will live at the home of my brother and his wife,

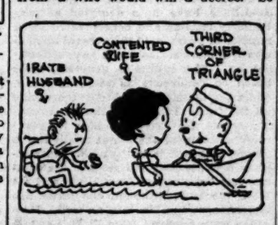

"I am going to work and my sister-in-law will care for the bay while I am away. They have no children. I will atone for any mistakes I have made. And maybe when the war is over, and the worst does not happen somebody will come back and my little baby will have a father. I know it will be like that. Something told me that my baby was not dead when they told me so at the hospital, and something tells me that he will come back to me too."

HIS WIFE SURELY LOVES A SAILOR

Husband Gets a "Hymn of Hate" by Mail That Leaves No Doubt.

It begins to look very much as if Mrs. Faye E. Termunde loves a sailor. It looked that way to Ernest R. Termunde, 6245 South Lincoln street, several months ago when he received her word for it.

Ordinarily a less impulsive declaration from a wife would win a decree. So there was no trouble at all when Mr. Termunde asked for a divorce yesterday. He explained that Mrs. Termunde left on April 5. And, as if his statement would not be sufficient, he offered in evidence one of the swiftest Spencerian wallops ever handed a husband.

Her Blistering Missive.

Here is what she wrote:

"You fool, do you think for one minute that I'd come back to you, or as much as come away from him? I should say not.

"Why, I love him, and so help me God if you don't let us alone, I'll kill you. Don't you understand, or are you too bullheaded or ignorant to see that I hate you?

"Good God, can't you leave me alone, or do I have to knock you down to make you understand? God, I have been so happy with him, and then today I learned that you had sent a telegram to the ship to have him arrested.

Better Look Out!

"Fool, if you can have him arrested I'll save every cent I earn and get him out, and when I do, look out. Cause if you insist on making trouble look out for the worst.

"For I'd go through fire for him, and there isn't any power on earth to keep me from him. If you would come here I'd dirty my hands with you just for him. Recall that telegram and stay out of sight, for so help me God I love him beyond all things. So good-by forever. E."

Woman of 86 Killed by Fall.

Mrs. Theresa Foertsch, 86 years old, 1678 West Fifty-first street, was killed last night when she fell down a flight of stairs in her home. Mrs. Foertsch, who was an invalid, was attempting to descend the stairway when she slipped.

WHEAT ADVANCE CHECKED; BULLS SEIZE PROFITS

News Bullish from Northwest; Estimates Are Reduced; Cables Strong.

Heavy realizing in the wheat market yesterday offset the bullish news from the northwest, and prices finished 1@1⅜c lower. News wes even more sensational than recently and there were estimates of much reduced yields in the spring wheat country. However, while there was heavy absorption of wheat, the realizing sales were too heavy for the market to advance.

Armour was credited with selling, and profit taking on long wheat credited to this concern checked the buying demand, and induced some realizing on long lines in other quarters.

Estimates of the wheat yield in three northwest states forwarded from Minneapolis concerns ranged from 120,000,000 to 150,000,000 bu, the latter being the popular estimate at present. Le Count estimates a loss in South Dakota of 20,000,000 bu and as much for Minnesota. The North Dakota loss will be heavy but it is impossible to estimate it yet.

Foreign Markets Higher.

Cables were firm for spot wheat at Liverpool, 2½@3d higher, while London paid sharp advances for winter wheat and Manitoba cargoes. Foreign crop conditions are unfavorable, and Broomhall estimates European requirements now at much more than estimated earlier in the season. Recent reports from Germany have been unfavorable. It now appears the chances for American relief work in Poland are good, and this is expected to furnish an outlet for considerable wheat from this country.

Receivers reported country offerings moderate, Nebraska selling little wheat. Local sales were 25,000 bu. The export trade was quiet, although bids were on a somewhat better basis. Receipts were 128 cars, with primary receipts of 2,081,000 bu, compared to 1,445,000 bu a year ago. Bradstreet's reported clearances for the week of 7,605,000 bu, against 2,866,000 bu a year ago. Argentine shipments for the week were 1,696,000 bu, compared to 76,000 bu a year ago.

Corn Complaints Increase.

Corn opened sharply higher, especially the December, which was influenced by the continued torrid weather over the belt. Later the easier tone in wheat, coupled with selling credited to Armour and other commission houses, took the edge off the market. Resting prices were ⅛@⅜c higher to 1½c lower, the July being especially weak. Damage complaints are increasing, the burden of most messages being that relief in the shape of rain or much cooler weather must come soon or the crop would suffer materially.

Cash prices were steady and there were sales of 45,000 bu. Argentina shipped 1,991,000 bu in the last week, while clearances from this country were 1,431,000 bu, against 355,000 bu a year ago. Cables were unchanged. Clearances for the day were 381,000 bu. Receipts were 291 cars, with primary arrivals 941,000 bu, against 607,000 bu a year ago.

Oats React After Rally.

Oats opened sharply higher, but the September met with heavy selling around 42c. Closing prices were unchanged to ⅛c higher, the market having reacted with other grains. Cash sales were 500,000 bu, including 400,000 bu to exporters. Crop reports are mixed. Receipts were 230 cars, with primary receipts still large at 1,036,000 bu, or double those of a year ago. Clearances were 414,000 bu. Argentina shipped 1,330,000 bu.

Provisions closed higher after an easy tone early. Hogs were a little higher, being about 5c up at the yards. Receipts of hogs were moderate at 14,500, with 10,000 the estimate for today. Western receipts were 55,300, compared to 61,100 a year ago. Liverpool prices were 6d off for cash lard, backs 1s up, and Cumberlands and hams 6d higher. Receipts of products here were 28 cars and shipments were 67 cars. Cash prices were steady with a fair trade.

Rye Prices Steady.

Rye was steady with sales of new No. 2 at $1.00@1.01. Receipts were 4 cars.

Barley ruled quiet. Malting was quoted 68@74c, with new selling at 71c; feed was quotable 60@69c and sold 66@67c; screenings were quoted 40@50c, with sales at 48@57c. Receipts, 4 cars.

Timothy seed was steady. September, $5.30 bid and $5.60 asked; cash lots quoted $4.50@7.50. Clover seed held steady, with cash lots quoted $7.00@14.00.

Duluth flax closed 3@4⅛c higher. Cash on track, $2.07½; July, $2.07½; September, $2.07½; and November, $2.06. Receipts, 10 cars. Minneapolis was 3c higher, with cash on track $2.04½@2.08½. Receipts were 6 cars. Winnipeg closed 2⅝@3¼c higher; July, $1.81½; and November, $1.84⅛. Receipts, 91 cars.

COFFEE AND SUGAR.

NEW YORK, July 28.—Coffee futures opened steady at a partial advance of 1 point as a result of moderate outside buying, continued firmness of Brazil markets, and scattered covering, but there seemed to be no sustained buying and in the afternoon, under selling by commission houses and houses with cotton exchange connections, partly against Brazil acceptances, prices eased off quite sharply, September selling from 8.47c to 8.41c and December from 8.63c to 8.55c, with the close easy and 4 to 5 points net lower. Sales, 22,500. Closing bids: July, 8.36c; August, 8.36c; September, 8.41c; October, 8.46c; November, 8.52c; December, 18.57c; January, 8.64c; February, 8.71c; March, 8.77c; April, 8.82c; May, 8.87c; June, 8.92c. Spot coffee steady. Rio No. 7, 9½c; Santos No. 4, 10¼c. It was rumored that Santos 4s had been sold at 10.50c, cost and freight, London credits, although this could not be confirmed and there were no open offers under 10⅝c. The official cables reported a decline of 1-16d in Rio exchange and a partial advance of 25 points in Santos futures. Brazilian port receipts, 59,000; Jundiahy, 61,000. Fine weather was reported in Sao Paulo, with temperatures ranging from 45 to 84 degrees. SUGAR—Raw: Cubas, cost and freight, 5⅛c, equal to 6.14c for centrifugal and 5.37c for molasses. Refined unchanged at 7.65c for fine granulated. Futures: September, 5.24c to 5.18c, closing 5.20c; December sold 5.02c, closing 5.00c; March, 4.40c, closing 4.40c.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE

Several extremely bullish reports on the northwest crop were received yesterday. Rollin E. Smith of Minneapolis was quoted as saying the northwest crop had suffered a calamity. Parker Harding of Minneapolis wired that the three states would have a crop of about 120,000,000 bu, or 84,000,000 bu less than the government July estimate. Van Dusen-Harrington, whose reports on the northwest conditions have been accepted as particularly reliable and conservative for a number of years, said the general opinion was the three states would have 150,000,000 bu. The estimates generally were based on conditions as they are today, while the damage is said to be increasing all the time. Black rust is still spreading, while the extremely high temperatures are causing the wheat to blight and shrivel where it is in the milk. Most advices indicate that the most of the damage has been caused from blight and not from the rust, although the latter has caused considerable loss as well. Messages were received from C. E. Lewis & Co. of Minneapolis saying North Dakota conditions were bad.

High temperatures prevailed all through the northwest yesterday, but the forecast was for cooler weather for North Dakota and northern Minnesota. Rugby, N. D., wired the temperature there was 100, and temperatures close to the 100 mark were reported quite generally. Over the corn belt there was no relief from the withering heat. The forecast for the corn belt was for continued fair and hot weather, and as a result the damage claims showed a big increase. Kansas advices were especially bullish, and there were a number of messages from Missouri, Iowa, and Illinois claiming serious damage.

The export demand for wheat was not quite so urgent yesterday, but there was a fair local demand. Sales were 20,000 bu. Receivers with western connections bought but little wheat to arrive, and receivers generally reported moderate acceptances through the west and southwest. Wheat coming in from Illinois points is showing an unusually good quality, some of the hard and soft wheat grading No. 1. Outside markets were steady relatively.

Bradstreet's reported exports of wheat and flour from both coasts this week at 2,333,000 bu. Reported corn exports showed an increase of 106,000 bu. Comparative totals follow:

	Wheat and flour.	Corn.
This week	7,605,000	1,431,000
Last week	9,988,000	1,323,000
Last year	2,806,000	355,000
Since July 1	34,095,000	5,006,000
Year ago	13,618,000	1,855,000

A cargo of Argentine corn was reported sold to New York on the basis of about 84c to 85c c. i. f. New York. This would be about 10c under the cost of western corn. The cargo sold was about 312,000 bu, and it is understood all otld there has been about 1,000,000 bu Argentine corn contracted for.

Argentine shipments of grain this week, with comparisons, follow:

	This week.	Last week.	Last yr.
Wheat	1,696,000	1,656,000	176,000
Corn	1,991,000	2,650,000	3,047,000
Oats	1,330,000	1,300,000	40,000
Flax seed	653,000	254,000	416,000

Argentine visible supply of wheat this week increased 1,104,000 bu, while corn increased 1,955,000 bu. Comparative totals follow:

	This week.	Last week.	Last yr.
Wheat	12,141,000	11,040,000	4,600,000
Corn	17,595,000	15,640,000	10,948,000

Cash corn and oats were not much changed, the oats being a little easier. Sales were 45,000 bu corn and 500,000 bu oats, 400,000 bu of the oats being to exporters. Country sales of corn were lights, with oats acceptances only fair.

A late Broomhall cable said that London was paying 9d advance for winter wheat cargoes over the previous day, and 1s 3d per quarter advance on Manitobas for all August-September shipment.

Argentine shipments for the week were 1,696,000 bu wheat and 1,991,000 bu corn. Last year actual shipments were 76,000 bu wheat and 3,047,000 bu corn.

Receipts inspected yesterday: Wheat, 128 cars; corn, 291 cars; oats, 230 cars; barley and rye, 4 cars each. Hogs estimated for today, 10,000 head.

The possibility of increased marketing of live stock from dry sections influenced some selling of products.

Hog prices at Chicago yesterday advanced 5c on receipts of 14,000 head and few remained unsold at the finish. The supply was smaller than expected and there was a good demand from shippers, who were credited with purchases of 3,000 head. Top sales were made at $10.15, with the bulk at 9.45@10.05. Weakness developed late, but only inferior stock remained unsold at the time.

Cattle receipts were posted at only 2,500 head and there was not much activity in the trade. Prices of steers, cows, and heifers held at a good advance from last week's close, however, and the market was in a healthy condition. Calves were firm, with prime vealers at $12.

Sheep and Lambs Firmer.

Sheep sold unchanged at 10@15c higher, while lambs were steady to 10c better than on Thursday. Receipts were posted at 13,000 head. Lambs topped at $11.05 for rangers and $10.75 for natives. Montana wethers sold at $8.15.

TRADE BALANCE IN U.S. FAVOR DOUBLT THAT OF LAST YEAR.

Washington, D. C., July 28.—Foreign trade of the United States closed its greatest year in history June 30, with a balance of $2,136,000,000 in favor of American exporters. The year's exports aggregated $4,334,000,000, the department of commerce today announced, and imports were valued at $2,198,000,000. The trade balance was double that of last year and four times that of 1914. Exports exceeded those of last year by $1,500,000,000.

The exact foreign trade figures announced, differing slightly from preliminary estimates, show the year's exports exceed the annual average from 1911 to 1914 by more than $2,000,000,000. Gold imports for the year aggregated $404,000,000, compared with $25,000,000 last year.

In June exports amounted to $465,000,000, an increase of about $200,000,000 over last June, but a decrease of about $10,000,000 from May.

Imports for the year, $2,198,000,000, exceeded by $524,000,000 the 1915 total and the annual average from 1911 to 1914 by $475,000,000. June imports were valued at $246,000,000, the largest ever shown in a single month, being $17,000,000 more than the figures for May and $88,000,000 more than those of June, 1915.

BUSINESS RUNNING STRONG DESPITE HEAT—R. G. DUN.

Dun's weekly review of the Chicago trade, published today by R. G. Dun & Co., will say:

"Considering the prolonged debilitating temperatures it is surprising that business shows only slight temporary reaction. General conditions have continued strong for future operators, althought excessive heat has affected running in iron and steel, metal working and packing, outputs of which have fallen under earlier high records. But the changes as a whole reflect no diminution in new demands and current absorption.

"Payments through the banks sustain high ratio increase over last year, trading defaults are smaller, and railroad earnings persistently rise. The distributive branches have thus far shown little halting. Mercantile collections generally continue good, and banks report a broader demand for money.

"Bank clearings, $352,630,368, exceed those of corresponding week last year by 26.7 per cent, and compare with $292,749,626 in 1914. Failures reported in the Chicago district numbered 14, against 29 last week, 32 in 1915, and 21 in 1914. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 1, against 11 last week, 11 in 1915, and 8 in 1914."

RAISES COAL RATE 5 CENTS.

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—The interstate commerce commission today approved an increase of 5 cents per net ton on coal rates from mines in Indiana and Illinois to points in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Michigan.

MARSHALL FIELD CO. REVIEW.

Marshall Field & Company, in their weekly review of the dry goods trade, say:

"Current wholesale distribution of dry goods has been in excess of the corresponding period of a year ago. Buyers have attended the market in much larger numbers, many of them coming from the south and west.

"Great interest is being shown in Chicago market week and fashion show to be held Aug. 7 to 12, and an unusually large number of merchants are expected. Collections are ahead of the same period last year. The domestic cotton goods market is firm."

ARGUE BUSINESS WILL HOLD OFF RAILWAY STRIKE

Roads' Officials Believe Employes and Merchants Are Against a Tieup.

A representative of the western railroads says the brotherhood strike vote in his opinion is more than usually exaggerated by labor leaders.

"I don't think we'll ever know just what this vote was," he said, "but I cannot imagine it was overwhelmingly for strike authority, because in the first place passenger enginemen and trainmen have nothing to gain and everything to lose by a strike, as they are practically all now on an eight hour day basis. Furthermore, they own their own homes, their jobs are the best, and they are the oldest employés. They realize more than younger men how much worse than any conceivable war such a strike would be to the entire country. That is why I don't expect a big strike.

"Newspapers have sounded an alarm to congress, and it should pass immediately Senator Newland's resolution directing the commerce commission to investigate the controversy, as THE TRIBUNE splendidly insisted today. Congress should not adjourn until the crisis is passed.

Sees Majority Against Strike.

"A majority of the members don't want a strike and do want arbitration, but they could not vote that way. They also realize that it is a bad time for labor trouble, with car shortage getting severe in the east and west, and with prosperity at high tide, the duration of which depends largely on the European war.

"Nobody knows this better than the chiefs of the brotherhoods, and although some of them may be much in need of political capital, I have too much respect for their common sense and self-interest, as well as for their patriotism, to assume that they would take advantage of a strike vote majority, however large, to bring all business to a state of utter prostration and worse.

"The business men's attitude is more assertive than in previous similar crises, when it was mostly aloofness. Now through the railroad committee of the chamber of commerce of the United States business interests propose to make it known that they are one of the three parties in interest, and by far the greatest of the three."

Steel Strong in Cash.

While important interests in the United States Steel corporation admit that Steel is in a sense a war stock, they contend that the retention of a large proportion of the present enormous earnings will give that issue an investment value greater than it ever possessed before.

The statement is made without qualification that by the end of the current quarter the company will have upward of $200,000,000 in cash. This means that the actual cash holdings on Sept. 30 will be equal to about 40 per cent on the common stock outstanding.

Charcoal Iron Earnings.

President Blair of the Charcoal Iron Company of America reports to stockholders that the liabilities of the company have been reduced $175,000; that the current assets have been increased $182,000, making a total betterment in the company's financial position in the three months of $357,000. In addition to this, the reserves have increased about $40,000, and that on account of capital account approximately $30,000 has been expended. Earnings have been entirely satisfactory and have borne out the prediction made in our March 31 statement.

The low priced iron orders on hand March 31, while not entirely filled, are almost eliminated, and at this date the company has orders on hand for delivery during the last six months of this year amounting to 50,900 tons, while orders have been taken to bring the unfilled tonnage for 1917 delivery up to 36,660 tons. Both of these unfilled tonnages being at the prevailing price of $18 per ton. The company's showing is:

INCOME ACCOUNT.

	3 months ending June 30, 1916.	Mar. 31, 1916.
Profit from operations, after deducting all expenses	$384,642	$220,739
Deduct—Int. on borrowed money	$9,773	$17,723
Res. for ext. of Aceton plant	24,000	24,000
	33,773	41,723
Net profit carried to balance sheet	$350,868	$179,016

Fruit Trade Prosperous.

Earnings of the United Fruit company for the ten months ending this month are expected to reach $10,000,000. This is $2,500,000 more than was earned in all of the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1915, which was up to that time the best earnings the company ever made. During the remaining two months it is expected that the company will swell its total to somewhere between $11,000,000 and $12,000,000.

The above earnings do not include the equity in the profits of the Nipa Bay company. The latter has reached $1,800,000, or sufficient to pay 4 per cent on the United Fruit company's $45,000,000 of stock.

Corn Products' Good Year.

The Corn Products Refining company's six months' surplus after charges of $2,294,029 is equal to 7.69 per cent on the preferred stock or at the annual rate of 15.38 per cent, compared with 1.62 per cent earned in the fiscal year ended Dec. 31, 1915.

At the directors' meeting only routine matters were discussed. The questions of paying off accumulated preferred dividends and reduction of capitalization were not taken up.

Chicago Stocks.

Swift & Co. stock made an advance from Thursday's close of 5¾ points and closed with 4½ points retained. This makes a net gain in the last two days of 6 points. Most of the day's business was done during the advance. Nevertheless a fair quantity of stock changed hands after the advance had been scored. Total sales for the day were about 1,800 shares. Specialists continued to talk of the possibility of an extra dividend and there was some revival in the street of the old talk of putting the property on a 10 per cent basis. The latter gained little support among the specialists. The most generally accepted theory was that present holders of the property were satisfied with it and were increasing their holdings.

Sears-Roebuck covered the two point range between 199½ and 201½ and closed within ¼ point of the bottom with a net loss for the day of ¼ point. The four properties in which the trading was heaviest were Swift, Stewart-Warner, Sears-Roebuck, and Diamond Match, in the order named.

Money and Exchange.

Money rates in Chicago steady at 4@4½ per cent on collateral, 4@4½ per cent on commercial paper, and 4½@5 per cent over the counter. New York exchange sold at 5c discount. Chicago bank clearings were $57,203,739.

Arkansas Light and Power Company

The gross income of the Arkansas Light and Power company for June, 1916, was $27,403, as against $25,401 for June, 1915, an 8 per cent increase. Gross income for the year ending June, 1916, was $305,352, as against $291,850 for the previous year, or 4.6 per cent increase.

Operating expenses decreased 10 per cent for the same period. The net income after bond interest was $84,343, or 64 per cent increase over the year ending June, 1915. The cash surplus of $45,143 for the year was an increase of 270 per cent over the same period for 1915, with an operating ratio of 55 per cent.

Railroad Earnings.

CHICAGO GREAT WESTERN.

Estimated operating revenue for third week of July is $313,440, an increase of $20,975 over the same period last year; for the month to July 28, operating revenue was $873,166, an increase of $51,810.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE.

For third week of July gross increased $261,595. From July 1 gross increased $460,190.

SOUTHERN.

For third week of July gross increased $37,288. From July 1 gross increased $424,951.

Dividends Declared.

Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh, semi-annual 3 per cent on common; regular semi-annual 3 per cent on preferred.

NEWS OF THE FINANCIAL WORLD

Oil prices were reduced 10 cents a barrel for seven grades of crude in Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio yesterday by the Ohio Oil company. The decline was not unexpected, and has followed the declines in western oils. The cut reduces by about $10,000 a day the incomes of producers in the three states.

According to the United States geological survey, the United States has produced 3,290 tons of concentrated tungsten ore in the last six months. The ore is valued at $9,000,000 and is more than was ever before mined in an entire year. Colorado ranked first and California second in production.

The American Brake Shoe and Foundry company has received an order from the British government for $22,500,000 worth of shells. This makes a total of war orders for the week of $58,000,000. Orders are for shells of large size.

It is understood that certain of leading producers have sold copper in the last few days for last quarter delivery on basis of about 25¼ cents. The general tone of the market continues firm, with inquiries showing further slight expansion.

The Montana Power company earned an increase of $440,549 for the three months ended with June 30 and an increase of $871,305 for the six months' period, both net after taxes. Surplus after charges increased $762,327.

Notice has been sent out for a meeting of the United States Light and Heat corporation for Aug. 9, at which time eleven directors will be elected.

The General Chemical company's balance for the six months ended June 30, 1916, was equal to 35.18 per cent on the $15,207,300 common stock.

Copper exports from Atlantic ports for the week ended July 27 were 10,235 tons; since July 1, 32,313 tons; a year ago, 14,621 tons.

Books of the Stromburg Carburetor company are closed and stock offerings withdrawn, having been heavily oversubscribed.

Production of Stutz cars is to be doubled this year. Sherburne Prescott has succeeded Kenneth R. Howard in the directorate.

Peru has authorized the purchase of 140,000 ounces of silver in the United States for coinage purposes.

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey has reduced gasoline prices by 1 cent a gallon.

IN BOSTON STOCK MARKET

BOSTON, Mass., July 28.—The stock market was quiet at the opening today and the tone was uncertain. The advance in Swift & Co. to 143 from Thursday's closing at 137½, resulted from transactions in only a few hundred shares. The feeling regarding the copper stocks is improving, owing to many reports of inquiries for large amounts of the metal. Any demand for the leading coppers brings advances, but when efforts are made to sell any large lots the lack of interest becomes apparent. Call money rules at 3@3½ per cent; time loans, short dates, 4@4½ per cent; time loans, six months, 4@4½ per cent; time loans, one year, 4¼@4½ per cent.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, July 28.—The present tone of calmness and steadiness of the stock market is in striking contrast to the panicky conditions which prevailed about this time in 1914, when the markets were closed to stem the flood of selling and the international credit system was dislocated. The gilt edged section is now absorbing securities which the authorities are offering from controlled banks in order to benefit English creditors. Business otherwise is listless, but the tone is good and today most of the interest was in shipping shares which were active and advancing on unconfirmed amalgamation rumors. Courtauld's stock was strong on the increased dividend. American securities were idly steady around parity. Money and discount rates were steady. Bar silver, 30 5-16d per ounce. Money 4¾ per cent. Discount rates short bills, 5⅝@5¾ per cent. Three months, 5⅝@5¾ per cent.

PARIS, July 28.—Trading was quiet on the bourse today. Rentes, 64 francs; exchange on London, 28 francs 15 centimes; 5 per cent loan, 90 francs 90 centimes.

METALS.

NEW YORK, July 28.—COPPER—Firm; electrolytic, $24.50@27.00. IRON—Steady and unchanged. ANTIMONY—Private brands, unchanged at 13@13½c per pound. The metal exchange quotes: LEAD—$6.35 asked. SPELTER—Easy; spot, East St. Louis delivery, $10.00 asked. TIN—Quiet; spot offered at $38.50. At London: COPPER—Spot, £111; futures, £108; electrolytic, £124. TIN—Spot, £168; futures, £168 15s. LEAD—£28 5s. SPELTER—£60.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 28.—LEAD—Quiet at $6.25. SPELTER—Dull and nominal at $10.25.

The twenty stocks are: Anaconda Copper, American Car and Foundry, American Smelting, American Telephone, Atchison, Baltimore and Ohio, Brooklyn Rapid Transit, Chesapeake and Ohio, Erie, Great Northern preferred, New York Central, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Reading, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, St. Paul, American Sugar, Union Pacific, and United States Steel.

Total sales of stocks, 240,000 shares.

Total sales of bonds (par value), $4,050,000.

SHORT INTEREST IS HIT.

New York, July 28.—Losses of the midweek were partly retrieved in the course of today's listless and insignificant trading. The improvement was again effected at some cost to the short interest, which evidently felt impelled to cover contracts on the scarcity of supply.

Rails once more proved an exception to the general tendency, manifesting much of their recent lassitude, with further moderate selling of Canadian Pacific and New Haven. Reading was more responsive to demand in the final hour, however, when the leaders registered best prices.

United States Steel was disposed to shake off its recent heaviness, rising to 86⅞, within the smallest fraction of its top quotation on Wednesday. Prominent war issues, equipments, and independent industrials were 1 to 2 points higher, but United States Industrial Alcohol evinced its usual uncertainty, fluctuating within a range of 3½ points and closing at a net gain of a point.

Mexicans Active and Strong.

Mexicans were more active and strong following advices from Washington indicating more favorable conditions across the border, and Tennessee Copper was bid up more than 2 points against the bears. Shipping issues were uncertain, Mercantile Marines keeping within narrow limits, with few dealings in United Fruit and pronounced strength in Atlantic Gulf and West Indies. Sears-Roebuck, American Sugar, International Paper preferred, and Adams Express featured the miscellaneous group, all at higher levels.

Bonds were once more irregular, notwithstanding a pronounced diminution in offerings of international issues. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Prairie Pipe Line.

E. L. S.—The Prairie Pipe Line company took over the pipe lines and pumping stations of the Prairie Oil and Gas company in January, 1915. Its oil gathering equipment in Kansas and Oklahoma fields has a capacity of 170,000 barrels a day and its trunk line system can deliver 125,000 barrels daily. Most of the oil goes to the Standard Oil refineries at Whiting, Ind. The company has $27,000,000 of capital stock. The first dividend was 5 per cent, paid Jan. 31 last. On April 29, 10 per cent was paid and on July 31, 10 per cent more will be distributed.

Middle West Utilities.

D.—The Middle West Utilities company earned a fraction more than 9 per cent on its preferred stock last year, thus covering the dividend one and one-half times. As long as earnings continue to gain this dividend is safe, but a falling off in business would put it in danger. There is a vast amount of securities senior to this stock and nothing junior except nondividend paying common shares. Illinois Northern Utilities common is almost all owned by the Middle West company.

Northwestern Ohio Light.

M'N. & N., Oshkosh, Wis.—The Northwestern Ohio Light company is a consolidation of companies serving a number of small cities. The constituent plants have shown a steady and rapid increase of earnings for the last three years. Recently some outstanding notes were exchanged for common stock, placing the company in a very strong financial position. It has $40,000 of stock and $435,000 of bonds. Gross earnings for the year ended April 30 last were $205,076 and net $82,179, which is nearly four times the interest charge.

Brief Answers.

H. F., Lakeland, Mich.—The controller of the city of Chicago has been selling 4 per cent bonds at par for a long time past. He now has on hand bonds of $100 and larger denominations of various maturities from 1919 to 1935. If you send a draft or cashier's check he will mail you bonds on receipt of your letter, or if you request he will ship bonds to your home bank and you can pay for them there.

W. H. W., Peshtigo, Wis.—The Old Line Life has been writing insurance six years and has had a good growth. Its last annual report showed $7,649,000 in force. There is $672,635 of capital stock, and on Dec. 31 the surplus was $197,614. Dividends of 4 or 5 per cent have been paid to stockholders beginning in 1912.

J. A. S., Huntington, Ind.—The dividend on American Hide and Leather preferred is payable Sept. 1 to stock of record Aug. 17. If you sell your stock before Aug. 17 you will sell the dividend with it. If you sell on Aug. 17 or later you will receive the dividend.

J. F.—Chicago Railways B bonds appear to be fairly worth at least 15 points more than their present market price. They are somewhat speculative, of course. Their situation has been discussed heretofore.

I. F. N., Tuscola, Ill.—For a woman who is left with $3,000, two or three good mortgages would be the best investment. Loan associations stock is more suitable for small savings than for the investment of lump sums.

C. J. M.—The Standard Silver Lead company has been paying 2½ per cent a month for nearly a year past on its $2,000,000 of capital stock. It has a silver lead mine in British Columbia.

$435,000 PAID FOR LOOP FEE; BIG VALUE GAIN

L. J. McCormick Estate Acquires Site of Unity Building in Dearborn Street.

A profit of $35,000 in two years was revealed yesterday by the sale of property in the central business district. In the transaction the estate of Leander J. McCormick acquired from the Chicago Title and Trust company, trustee, for $435,000 the fee of the Unity building, 125-33 North Dearborn street, at the northeast corner of Court place. The ground is 80x120 feet, making the rate $5,437.50 a front foot, and $45.31 a square foot. The deal was negotiated by Albert L. Strauss and H. G. Miller.

By this purchase the McCormick estate obtains control of a frontage of 180 feet on Dearborn street and 120 feet on Randolph street, extending from the southeast corner of those streets. The property just bought adjoins the McCormick building on the south.

Rapid Rise in Value.

The history of this property evidences the rapid growth of values in the downtown section of Chicago. This fee was sold May 11, 1880, for $68,894, and on Oct. 14, 1885, for $235,000. It was sold about ten years ago by Mrs. Richardson to the Chapin family, Michigan capitalists. They disposed of it in May, 1914, to a Chicago buyer whose name is withheld, for $400,000, or at the rate of $5,000 a front foot or $41.66 a square foot. The title at that time was taken by W. C. Niblack, who transferred it to the Title and Trust company as trustee.

The late Governor J. P. Altgeld leased the property from T. G. Richardson of New Orleans, for ninety-nine years from May 1, 1899, at a yearly rental of $18,000. Based on this figure the deal just closed is on a 4.13 per cent basis of investment. The valuation placed on the property by the board of review is $717,039, of which $324,000 is in the sixteen story Unity building.

$175,000 Downtown Loan.

The estate of Lucius G. Fisher has obtained a loan of $175,000, bearing 4½ per cent interest and running for five years from Oct. 1, 1916, secured by a trust deed to the premises at 364-76 West Monroe street, 135x99.5 feet in extent. The property lies at the northeast corner of the Chicago river and is improved with a seven story mercantile building. The loan was made by R. D. Hill & Co. The property is valued by the board of review at $378,492, of which $100,000 is in the improvements.

Hugo Sonnenschein has acquired from Charles D. Brower of New York City and Ogden Brower of Mont Clair, N. J., the apartment premises at the northwest corner of Kenmore and Bryn Mawr avenues, 100x150 feet, for an indicated consideration of $45,000, subject to $20,000 incumbrance. Mr. Sonnenschein later conveyed the property to the Chicago Title and Trust company, as trustee, for an indicated price of $50,000, subject to the $20,000 incumbrance.

Scientist Church Buys.

The Sixteenth Church of Christ, Scientist, has taken title from Bertha E. Capitain to the property at the northeast corner of Kenilworth and Ashland avenues, with 110x164 feet of ground, for a stated price of $22,000, subject to $15,000 incumbrance.

William Holabird has conveyed to Helen Qaun the residence property on Walton place, 145 feet west of Lincoln park boulevard, north front, 48x43 feet, for a stated consideration of $12,000.

Elizabeth Blair has sold to William J. Hazleton the apartment property at the northeast corner of Ohio street and Christiana avenue, 25x120 feet in extent, and other property, for an indicated $23,000.

Jackson Boulevard Deal.

J. B. Graves sold to John J. Fitzgerald the apartment property at the northwest corner of Jackson boulevard and Homan avenue, 41x142 feet in extent, for an indicated $30,000. In part payment the buyer conveyed the apartment premises on Hermitage avenue 150 feet north of Van Buren street, east front, thirty-five feet to alley, for an indicated price of $11,000.

Thomas A. Reynolds has bought from S. B. Friedman the apartment property at the southwest corner of Richmond and Schubert streets, 41x125 feet, for an indicated consideration of $31,000, subject to $23,000.

A. J. Petit Buys.

Adelor J. Petit bought from Mrs. Louis W. Stayart the high grade two apartment structure at 5424 Kenmore avenue, with 50x150 feet of ground for a reported price of $25,500 cash. The deal was negotiated by Broomell Bros., with Howard S. Evans associated.

Marie C. Bloom sold to Betty B. Conrad the apartment building at 5124-26 Ingleside avenue, east front, 56x110 feet, for an expressed consideration of $36,000, subject to $20,000 incumbrance.

Abraham Beller has sold to Max Stepner the apartment property at the southeast corner of Avers avenue and Fifteenth street, west front, 50x125 feet, for an indicated price of $34,000, subject to $24,000 incumbrance.

Mansfield Avenue Sale.

Homer R. J. Vandervoort bought from W. F. Higgins the premises at the northwest corner of Mansfield avenue and Arthington street, east front, 290x126 feet in extent, for an indicated consideration of $33,000, subject to $12,000 incumbrance.

The Chicago Title and Trust company, acting as trustee, has taken title from Andrew Cuneo and others, as executors of the estate of G. B. Cuneo, to the property on Grand avenue 175 feet west of Orleans street, with a north frontage of 40 feet and a depth of 100 feet, for a stated consideration of $24,000. No incumbrance is shown in the deed.

READ THIS
IF YOU ARE CONSIDERING THE PURCHASE OF FLORIDA LAND.
By taking more land than we needed for our own use, we secured a very low price on the finest body of land that we know of in Florida, high, well drained, good citrus soil, as well as general farm land, intersected by railroad and only 30 miles from Tampa.
We will sell our surplus land, amounting to several hundred acres, to one or more buyers at a very attractive figure. The high development of our own tract will largely increase the value of adjoining property.
This is an opportunity to get a small block of land at a wholesale price, where you can share in a large development that will make you money without effort on your part. Address N A 199, Tribune.

BE AN INSIDER.

A company which has unusual opportunity for big profits needs a large tract of land in its business.

I control the only logical property available for this purpose and will require about $10,000 additional to clinch the option.

A syndicate furnishing this money in amounts of $1,000 or more will share the inside profits to be obtained in turning this land over to the company, and have the privilege of acquiring a substantial stock interest in the company without further investment.

Each member of the syndicate will be fully protected by individual title to an adequate portion of the tract, which on account of the company's development will increase largely in value. Address L X 159, Tribune.
